Suppose It Were Hostile.
What Lincoln Said.
Lowden on Hoover.
Samuel Insull's Farms.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

(Copyright, 1928.)

AN amphibian plane, catapulted from the French liner Ile de France, when 450 miles out, reached New York with mail 15 HOURS BEFORE THE SHIP GOT IN.

That's important as regards mail distribution.

IT'S ten million times more important from the point of view of national danger.

Suppose a foreign ship, or a fleet of foreign ships, 450 miles out, should catapult from their decks two or three hundred planes, carrying explosive bombs with poison gases, and send them to New York or to San Francisco or Los Angeles? What effect would they have on the country?

One single plane sent, like the one from the Isle de France, to Washington, D. C., could destroy the White House and the Capitol and fly back to the "mother ship." That ought to interest our statesmen."

WHEN bankers from New York told President Lincoln how much money they had at stake and demanded a warship in New York harbor to protect New York's treasure, President Lincoln said to them: "If I had as much money as you say you have, I'd build a battleship at my own expense."

Inasmuch as this government finds it impossible to wake up, it might pay bankers and property owners of New York and other big cities to think a little about air protection, at their own expense.

GOV. LOWDEN, a real farmer, "is much impressed by Hoover's speech" and "his frank recognition of the agricultural problem as the most urgent economical problem in our nation today." Gov. Lowden is a real farmer, on a big scale, and has devoted much of his life to studying the farm problem. His approval of Mr. Hoover's speech will mean much to farmers.

SAMUEL INSULL is two kinds of farmer. He raises queer yellow horses, that nobody will buy, north of Chicago. And on his real farm, the power business of the United States, he raises many millions of dollars, extending his farming from ocean to ocean.

He has done a useful thing in establishing a model "electric farm" to show farmers that they can save money, and reduce "help" by using electrical contraptions, pushing a button or throwing a lever, instead of "breaking" their backs.

Every farm should have electric power, at little cost, and would have it if the people had brains enough to control their own power supplies.

However, since they haven't brains enough, they should be thankful for men like Insull and others that supply brains for a consideration.

IMAGINE the feelings of the Rev. Dr. Straton, head of a great Baptist church in New York City. While he was busy attacking Gov. Smith on prohibition and other things, some snake in the grass discovers a "speakeasy" in a hotel at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., owned by the Rev. Dr. Straton himself.

Dr. Straton, who had just taken title to the hotel, was planning to make it a fine religious center for the Greenwood Lake Christian Assembly, summer music festival, Bible conference, school camp meetings, etc.

In came a reporter with a bottle of Scotch whisky bought from the hotel manager and late proprietor.

DR. STRATON sees a plot of the liquor interests planting that speakeasy on sacred ground. Speakeasies are planted without any plot, next door to police stations and churches. They even flourish inside prison walls.

The demon rum has no conscience, but this time he seems to have gone a little too far. He will hear from Dr. Straton.

THE death of Chang Tso-Lin, dynamited in his railway carriage, is attributed by a British writer, Lenox Simpson, to the Japanese "Black Dragon Society," which interests itself in patriotic Japanese affairs, and is said to have had a hand in the death of the Queen of Korea, in 1895.

In spite of the romantic name and the patriotism, the Japanese will probably dig out the facts.

They don't like any organization exercising powers outside of government, or controlling government, such as are tolerated, sometimes, in other countries.

In Elevator Prison

MRS. PETER COELET GERRY

Mrs. Peter Goelet Gerry, wife of the Rhode Island senator, today recovers from her shock of last night when she was for an hour imprisoned 20 stories above the ground in a New York City elevator after it had dropped suddenly more than two floors. A half dozen of Gov. Smith's campaign directors, including Senator Gerry and John J. Raskob, national chairman, were in the car.

Kearns' Wife Poisoned

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Mrs. Jack Kearns, pretty young wife of the well-known manager of fighters, was lying at death's door in a Long Beach hospital today, suffering from poisoning.

She was rushed to the hospital late last night, after she had been stricken at the summer cottage of her sister, Mrs. Charles Snyder. Specialists were attending her. Great secrecy has been thrown around the case, but it is understood Mrs. Kearns was poisoned, either by food or drink.

Jack Dempsey, who formerly was associated with her husband in the prize ring, but recently has been his bitter opponent in the courts, was notified of Mrs. Kearns' illness early today, and immediately rushed to her bedside. Kearns is reported en route to the West Coast.

Mrs. Snyder is reported to have telephoned Dempsey, knowing no one else to turn to, and asked him to get in touch with Mrs. Kearns' attorney, Jacob Klein. This Dempsey did and both he and the attorney left immediately for the hospital.

Mrs. Kearns was formerly Miss Legana Angel. Her marriage to Kearns was announced last April.

Fussell Opposes Vance

Fred Fussell and eight other Pirates will do their "durndest" this afternoon to measure one Arthur Dazzy Vance for a defeat.

Ol' Dazmarine is all set to heckle the home batters; in his last joust with the Buccos he showed them plenty, Daz achieving a shutout success on that occasion.

The Oaklanders, however, feel that Vance cannot be that good all the time and they will be out there today contesting every inch of the way.

There was not much change in the positions of the leaders yesterday. Both the Cardinals and Giants won, the leaders holding to their lead of two and one-half games over the runnersup.

BUTLER OIL WORKER DROWNED IN ARKANSAS

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 15.—Relatives here have been informed of the accidental drowning of Daniel E. McLaughlin, 45, in Smackover, Ark., where he had been employed by the Magnolia Petroleum Company

NEW DRY ORDER CRIMPS RUM BARREL "SWEATING"

Whisky barrels were banned today in the bootlegging trade.

Orders from Washington to all prohibition administrators strike at the practice of "sweating" old liquor barrels to extract the liquor—good liquor—from the staves.

The new order issued by Commissioner of Prohibition J. M. Doran and received here by Prohibition Administrator John D. Pennington, demands that distilleries, before selling old whisky barrels must rinse them thoroughly with water, preferably hot water, and then the barrels must be filled with water and let stand for seven days before sale. The water is to be dumped into a sewer or on the ground.

Bootleggers have been buying old barrels and whittling the staves into chips in an effort to extract the liquor with which they were soaked, it is said.

Mayor, Arrested For Parking, Fines Self

DOVER, O., Aug. 15.—Mayor P. J. Groh, arrested by his nephew, Garrison Groh, for overtime parking, fined himself $1.

ELEVATOR FALLS, TRAPS RASKOB

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, and a half a dozen others of Gov. Smith's campaign advisory cabinet, had a narrow escape last night when an elevator in which they were riding fell more than two floors and imprisoned its occupants 20 stories above the ground for almost an hour.

Those riding with Raskob included Advisory Committee Chairman Senator Peter Goelet Gerry, of Rhode Island, and Mrs. Gerry; Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana; Col. Herbert H. Lehman, campaign finance director; Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi; Congressman Parker Corning, of New York, and Dr. and Mrs. Henry Moskowitz.

The party were descending in an elevator in the Savoy Hotel. The car failed to stop at the twenty-third floor and fell until it was halted by mechanical safeguards between the twenty-first and twenty-second floors. Raskob and Senator Gerry were imprisoned in the car for half an hour and the other occupants were not released for almost an hour.

DOORS LOCK

Senator Gerry had invited the Smith advisors to his apartment on the twenty-third floor of the hotel. After a preliminary conference they took the elevator to the twenty-fifth floor for dinner. It was on their return from dinner that the elevator failed to stop at Senator Gerry's floor.

When it finally stopped the entrance was near the twenty-first floor with a small part protruding over the level of the twenty-second. The doors of the hotel elevators are so arranged that they will not open unless the cars are level with the floor. Members of the party sought to attract attention to their plight by pounding on the elevator door.

It was half an hour before hotel employes were able to open the shaft door on the twenty-second floor, affording about a two-foot opening into the car.

Straton Taunts Smith

International News Service.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The proposed debate on morality between Gov. Alfred E. Smith and Rev. John Straton probably will not be held, it appeared today, because the two principal speakers are unable to agree upon a meeting place.

Answering the ultimatum of the Democratic Presidential nominee that the debate be held in Dr. Straton's Calvary Baptist Church here or not at all, Dr. Straton reiterated today at his summer home at Greenwood Lake that this was impossible but declared that he would present his side of the case in some large hall whether or not the Governor appeared to defend himself.

The Rev. Straton informed reporters that Governor Smith's reply was "just childish."

"I am not going to allow Governor Smith to run away from a fight," he said. "I will hire the largest hall I can get and go ahead with the debate anyhow."

JEANNE EAGELS

Even though Ted Coy, former Yale gridder, and her recently divorced husband has married again, Jeanne Eagels, actress, isn't thinking of matrimony, she said when she arrived in this country from the Orient. Whitney Warren, Jr., University of California student, to whom she was engaged five years ago, met her at the pier and she smiled at him, reporters noticed, when she said it.

HOOVER IN LEAD FOR DAY

Hoover took the lead in The Sun-Telegraph's straw vote returns yesterday in the presidential preference, getting 93 ballots to Smith's 90. It was the rural and suburban vote that put Hoover in the day's lead.

The total vote, to date, between the two candidates, however, shows Smith nearly 300 votes ahead, mainly from the metropolitan district of Pittsburgh. This lead is gradually being reduced as suburban reports are coming in. Final figures are Smith 1,341, Hoover 1,063.

The women continue to roll up votes for Hoover, 552 feminine votes being credited to him against 511 male votes. As for Smith, the men lead the women, 729 to 614, in voting for him.

Four years ago there were only 141 Democratic votes among the straw voters in this campaign, but there were 427 LaFollette votes. Coolidge got the lion's share at the last presidential election, garnering 1,516 of the 2,404 votes cast by those polled in this year's straw vote.

Tomorrow's figures will be swelled by a larger suburban and rural vote, which will have some effect on the totals for the respective candidates.

With the completion of Allegheny County, the votes will begin to be returned from surrounding counties and more remote places of the state. As these votes are asked only of those eligible to vote and of actual registered voters, the straw vote, which is national in its scope, under the auspices of the Hearst newspapers throughout the country, is believed to be an honest expression of how the people will ballot in November.

AIRPORT REALTY JUMPS

Condemnation proceedings probably will have to be resorted to before the city and county are able to establish the proposed new municipal airport on Lebanon Church road, Mifflin township, the site suggested yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce.

Several members of the Chamber committee, which spent months studying sites, said today that plans to purchase options on the 400 acres involved were dropped when news leaked out that the site was being considered for an airport. Prices, it was said, rose immediately.

However, these same committeemen explained that investigation disclosed that the county would be legally able to condemn the ground if necessary and buy it at an assessed figure. It was pointed out that such procedure was necessary in the purchase of Rodgers Field, the present municipal airport, and that the proceedings were succesful.

Approval or rejection of the site for a municipal airport recommended by a special committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, will be made by the County Planning Commission to the County Commissioners within a short time.

At a meeting of the Commissioners today, Chairman Joseph G. Armstrong made a motion to forward the report of the Chamber to the Planning Commission for their approval, which was passed when Commissioner C. C. McGovern and E. V. Babcock voted for it.

Commissioner Armstrong in moving to refer the report, stipulated that the Mifflin township site be considered along with a number of other locations.

GOVERNOR IN DOUBT; VOTE SETS RECORD

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Stirred by wet and dry issues, Ohio voters cast a record number of 850,000 ballots in yesterday's primary election. Candidates supported by the Ohio Anti-Saloon League for state offices apparently were victorious in most instances on the Republican ticket, while the Democratic fight saw League-indorsed candidates defeated for the majority of the posts.

A possible defeat for the dry organization candidate was seen early today, however, in the neck-and-neck race between Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, and Congressman James T. Begg, Sandusky, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. Cooper, the League candidate, polled 221,827 votes in 7,833 out of 8,655 precincts in the state, while Beggs had 227,046.

TURNER POOR THIRD

Attorney General Edward C. Turner was a poor third in the six-cornered gubernatorial race.

Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, apparently was the lone Anti-Saloon League candidate to emerge victorious on the Democratic state ticket. He held an early plurality of 37,000 over Peter Witt, Cleveland, who campaigned as a wet.

The dry league's selections for the remainder of the Democratic state ticket were running far behind candidates who were not on its preferred list.

Congressman Theodore E. Burton, Cleveland, had a runaway race for the Republican short term nomination for United States Senator. Graham P. Hunt, Cincinnati, campaigning as a liberal, and Senator Cyrus Locher, Cleveland, were running a close race for the same nomination on the Democratic slate. Hunt led by 3,400 votes, but the outcome was in doubt.

Senator Locher, appointed by Gov. Donahey to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator Frank B. Willis, had declared he would "rather be defeated as a dry than elected as a wet." Hunt is an advocate of repeal of the Volstead act.

Charles V. Truax, state director of agriculture, was leading former Congressman George White, Marietta, his closest opponent for the nomination, by 11,000 votes. Senator Simeon D. Fess was unopposed for re-nomination for the same post on the Republican ticket.

Trap Store Thief

Coming upon two burglars in the drug store of W. W. Espy, California avenue and Division street, Avalon, early this morning, two borough patrolmen captured one robber, but the other got away by crashing through a plate glass panel in the front door. A number of shots were fired at the fleeing prowler, who is believed to have been wounded, either by a bullet or broken glass in the doorway.

Espy's liquor stock was the objective of the robbers, according to police. About 5 o'clock this morning residents above the drug store heard the rear door of the store being forced and called Patrolmen Louis Luckan and William Berg.

They found the back door open and entered. One man complied with an order to surrender, but the other dashed for the front of the store, hurling himself through the front door glass as Patrolman Lucken opened fire. Blood stains were found on the sidewalk.

The suspect captured gave his name as Ernest E. McFee, 30, of 1715 Broadway avenue, Beechview. According to police cash and cigar lighters taken from the store were found in his pockets.

While pursuing the fugitive the police picked up Jack Berstein, 28, of 241 Franklin avenue, Woodlawn, who is being held as a suspect. McFee gave the police the name of his alleged confederate and his arrest is expected.

2 Burned In Garage Blaze

Two young men were burned, one seriously, and a garage and 10 automobiles were destroyed early today by fire that for a time threatened nearby residences in Walnut street, near Coal street, Wilkinsburg. The loss is estimated at $20,000.

Harold Cramer, 20, of 2007 Delaware avenue, Swissvale, and Gaylord Snyder, of 317 Pitt street, Wilkinsburg, were burned. Cramer is in the Columbia Hospital in a serious condition.

The young men are believed to have lighted a match to examine the gasoline tank of their machine while it was in the garage, police say.

ELECTRIC TRAINS FOR PGH. AT LAST! FIRST ONE HERE

First steps toward the electrification of railroads in Pittsburgh have been taken by the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railways with the installation of a new type car which generates its own power on passenger runs in and out of the city.

For the time being, according to officials, experiments are being made with the car on intermediate passenger runs where travel is comparatively light, but if operation proves successful, the cars may be used entirely between the P. & W. Va. terminal here and Pittsburgh Junction, 60 miles west.

The car is equipped with gasoline motors which generate power for the electrical operation. The cars attain a maximum speed of 45 to 50 miles an hour and are smoother in operation, it is said, than ordinary electrically operated vehicles.

Containing baggage room, smoking compartment and regular passenger space, the cars are as fully equipped as the modern railroad coach and equally as comfortable, without the smoke and dirt resultant from steam locomotive operation.

G. O. Dambaugh, superintendent of the P. & W. Va., in announcing the new cars today, pointed out that it is a step forward in railroad transportation, making for a cleaner city and abatement of smoke and dirt.

"The new cars," he said, "will be in operation here for several weeks during the experimental stage, and it is a question that must be answered at a later time whether we shall keep them.

"We are using the new cars during the day when travel is at low ebb," he continued, "but if they prove advantageous, we can run them in trains, the cars being equipped to operate in multiple units."

SEES PEACE IN NEW PACTS

By GEORGE E. DURNO.
International News Service.

WAUSAU, Wis., Aug. 15.—A new hope for lasting peace was held up today by President Coolidge before the men who fought 10 years ago with that goal in view.

Addressing the Wisconsin American Legion, in convention here, the President pointed to the multilateral treaty outlawing war, recently indorsed by the United States and 14 other powers, as "one of the greatest blessings ever bestowed upon humanity."

"It is a fitting consummation for the first decade of peace," he told the crowd of 10,000 assembled on the race track of the fair grounds.

ISOLATION ENDED

The Executive also voiced a formal abandonment of the policy of international isolation to which America once held.

"It (the war) demonstrated so clearly the interdependence of all peoples that we are not likely to hear again in responsible quarters that what other nations do is no concern of ours," he said.

Met at the station this morning by State Legion Commander Frank Schneller and a small committee the President and Mrs. Coolidge and their son John were escorted through several miles of streets closely packed with applauding crowds to Marathon Park, where a special speaker's stand had been erected for the Executive's speech.

Legionnaires in colorful uniforms blended with the crowd assembled there to give the scene a holiday aspect.

Immediately following his address, the President returned to his special train and started back to Cedar Island Lodge.

THINK BODY IS DEAF MUTE'S

The body of a man aged about 50 and believed to be a deaf mute, was found today at the Allegheny Valley Railroad and Twenty-ninth street. An empty bottle was found beside the body and it is thought by the police that the man was a victim of alcoholism.

Warn Ga., Floods Rising

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Flood warnings were broadcast to inhabitants of a half dozen river valleys today as the tropical storm spent its force in torrential rains over Georgia and Alabama.

One person was known to have been killed, many communities were isolated, and rail, highway and telephone communications were disrupted through a wide area.

Charles Blackley, wealthy Rabun county Negro, was killed this morning when he attempted to remove from the path of his automobile a live wire blown down by the storm last night on the highway between Cornelia and Clayton in Northern Georgia.

With rainfall varying from one to five inches reported over most of Georgia, flood warnings were issued for the Chattahoochee, Flint, Ocmulgee, Oconee and Maller rivers, which were said to be swelling rapidly as teh torrent of rain coursed from their watersheds.

Little danger to life was expected from the floods, but low-land crops were in the direct path of the waters and many farm houses were located in the level river bottoms.

The weather bureau reported the center of the storm today between here and Montgomery, Ala., apparently near West Point, Ga., on the Alabama line, moving northward.

Two Police Bounced By Hotel

Becoming involved in an argument with the proprietor of the Shamrock Hotel, 604 Wylie avenue, early today, Patrolmen William R. Kent and George E. Sibbett, attached to Allegheny Police Station, were ejected from the hostelry, according to the police report.

The patrolmen, it is said, attempted to engage a room for the night. When refused, an argument started and they were ordered to leave. Police Superintendent Peter P. Walsh, on receiving a report of the affair, ordered the patrolmen's suspension. They will be arraigned before the police trial board next week, each charged with conduct unbecoming an officer.

ESCAPED BANDIT SHOT DEAD BY DETECTIVE

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Escaped from a police station by sawing through one of the bars of a window in his cell room, Hans Pate, 25, was shot and killed today when he tried to break free from a detective bureau squad that captured him. The shooting occurred in front of the house where Pate's wife has been living since his arrest on August 5. He was charged with 58 burglaries, all of which he is said to have confessed. Pate was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Immenhausen, who fixed bonds at $870,000.

Airport Choice Good Job, Say Pgh. Civic Leaders

Pittsburgh's interest in aviation has increased in the ratio of 15-to-1 in the last five years, it was declared today by Chamber of Commerce directors who recalled the struggle in 1923 for the acquisition of Rogers Field as a local airport.

They pointed out that it was necessary to go into court and prove the necessity of a 40-acre municipal landing field for planes while today the people acclaim the recommendation of the purchase of 600 acres for a modern field on the Lebanon Church road.

The people's interest in flying is measured in the ratio of the relative size of the two fields. The action of the Chamber of Commerce airport location committee was commended by men of affairs throughout the district.

Some of these expressions follow:

JAMES F. MALONE, President of City Council—"The decision has been reached after a very thorough study by a most capable committee of men who had no personal interest in the selection of any particular site, but whose only desire was to secure the most available and adequate location for a municipal airport. While I am sorry that a site of sufficient size could not be found inside the city limits, I am satisfied that the location is sufficiently close to the city and has all the necessary facilities, and that it will meet the approval of the public officials."

JAMES HAMMOND, President, Gimbel Brothers—"Although I have not sifficient knowledge of aviation to comment on the choice of the location for the airport, I am thoroughly in favor of securing adequate air facilities for Pittsburgh as soon as possible."

T. A. DUNN, Vice President, Chamber of Commerce—"A very capable committee has done a good job in recommending this site and furnishing the information which the public desires. The encouraging feature is that the people now are awake to the needs of a landing field. When we were trying to acquire the little 40-acre plot at Rodgers Field five years ago it was necessary to go into court and answer an action which had been brought to restrain the county from spending money for an airport. Don't forget that famous opinion handed down by Judge John A. Evans in which he stated that it was just as necessary to provide a suitable landing place for airplanes as in giving suitable landings for river craft in water navigation. When Judge Evans gave that decision and we won our case it was a great day in the aviation history of Pittsburgh."

NORMAN ALLDERDICE, Arch Machinery Company—"The committee has made a wise choice. The proposed field has altitude and is free from smoke and fog and other obstructions. Every Pittsburgher should be proud of the prospect of an airport with an A-1 rating."

A. H. BURCHFIELD, Vice President Joseph Horne Company—"We should be very careful to give due consideration to all factors in taking such an important step as selecting the site for an air port. I am not an expert, but I understand that nearness to the Triangle is an essential feature. Those selecting the site should give thought to the means of reaching the field, since I understand there is a suitable site near the point. If they have carefully weighed all the evidence and have found the site suggested is the nearest practical location then the choice is satisfactory, but we must first be sure that all of the expert advice has been secured."

F. W. M. M'CULLOCH, McCulloch Drug Company—"I am glad to see an airport any place adjacent to Pittsburgh because we are behind other progressive cities in the subject of aeronautics. My only regret is that Neville Island was not selected along with the Mifflin township site."

SECOND SISTER DISAPPEARS

Disappearing as mysteriously as did her older sister eight months ago, Jennie Ankowsky, 14, of 811 Glenwood avenue, Ambridge, is being sought by police. Mrs. Mary Ankowsky today came to Pittsburgh to report the girl's disappearance to the Missing Persons Bureau, the same as she did last December when her daughter, Alice, 17, dropped out of sight.

Mrs. Ankowsky believes the older girl is working in a local hotel. Yesterday Jennie left home and no trace of her was found during a search in Ambridge. She is a pupil in the First Ward School, Ambridge.

MILLIONS IN STEEL MERGER

CLEVELAND, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The Republic Iron and Steel Company, of Youngstown, has announced plans to absorb Steel and Tubes, Inc., of Cleveland, forming a company with assets exceeding $157,000,000.

R. T. McCleary, president of Republic, and Myron A. Wick, head of Steel and Tubes, said arrangements had been completed for acquisition of a majority of the stock of the Cleveland firm by the Republic, subject to ratification by stockholders of Steel and Tubes.

The Steel and Tubes stock will be acquired at the equivalent of $70 a share, the announcement said. Value of outstanding Steel and Tubes stock is placed around $17,000,000.

TERMS OF DEAL

Terms of the deal provide that for each share of common stock, Steel and Tubes stockholders will receive: Face amount of 6 per cent debenture of Steel and Tubes; eight-tenths of a share of Class B preferred, seven-twentieths of a share of Republic common stock, and eight-tenths of a share of Class A preferred Republic common.

Existing preferred stock and bonds of Steel and Tubes will be retired and class A and B preferred of Steel and Tubes will be convertible into common stock of Republic during a period of two years.

Mr. Wick will continue as manager of Steel and Tubes and will become a director and member of the executive committee of Republic.

McCleary said consolidation of the two companies will place the Republic in a position to furnish Steel and Tubes with strip steel, of which it is now using 5,000 tons a month.

Republic, which recently acquired the Trumbull Steel Company, operates rolling mills and factories in Youngstown, Warren, and Niles, O.; Moline, Ill.; Muncie, Ind.; and blast furnaces at Birmingham, Ala., besides owning iron, coal and limestone properties in Pennsylvania, Alabama, Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Steel and Tubes operates six plants, two in Elyria and one each in Cleveland, Brooklyn, Toledo and Guelph.

STUDY

Morris Knowles, engineer, studied other cities' airport plans as his work on the committee.

CO-OPERATION

James Francis Burke, attorney, has secured Department of Commerce co-operation for the airport.

INTEREST

William L. Monro's son may take up flying as the result of his father's awakened interest.

POISON TRACES IN LOEWENSTEIN'S BODY

SURVIVORS TO MEET AUGUST 23

Back in the 1860's these pictures were taken. They are photographs of men who fought for the Union in a regiment recruited largely from the Pittsburgh area—the One Hundred and Thirty-ninth, Pennsylvania Volunteers. Whom these pictures represent, nobody knows. Perhaps you, a descendant of a Civil War veteran, recognize one or more of them. If you do, Maj. A. B. Hay, who can be found in the district attorney's office, would be glad to give you the original. On Thursday, August 23, the twoscore survivors of this regiment will hold their sixty-fourth annual reunion in Memorial Hall.

POISON IN BANKER'S BODY

PARIS, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—An unofficial report that toxic matter had been found in the viscera of Capt. Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian financier, today added to the mystery which has surrounded his death.

Members of the Loewenstein family had requested that an exhaustive examination of Capt. Loewenstein's body be made after it was found on July 19 in the English Channel into which the Belgian had fallen from his private airplane on July 4. It was stated that their object was to make impossible the cropping up in the future sensational and fantastic stories about the banker's end.

The investigation was entrusted to Dr. Paul, chief chemical analyst for the Surete Generale, the French Scotland Yard, and a leading authority on medical jurisprudence. Le Matin says that the report is current at the court house in Boulogne that the expert's report, which will not be made public, reveals "the existence of traces of a very characteristic toxic matter."

The report is to be forwarded to the court in Brussels which conducted an inquiry into the disappearance and death of the financier. Should this lead to a reopening of the investigation it is likely to have diplomatic as well as judicial ramifications, since the body was recovered outside of the territorial waters of England and France.

Kills Self on Princeton Banner

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Spreading a large Princeton banner on the floor of his bathroom, Samuel Clarke Backus Peck, 23, a graduate of the university in the class of 1927, fired a bullet into his right temple and is expected to die.

He was found in his three-room apartment at 156 Waverly place shortly before midnight by his roommate, Samuel B. Payne. The latter told police Peck, who is employed as a statistician by the Guaranty Company of New York, had been suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Several notes and letters were found by the police. One letter, unaddressed, read:

"To Clara in death, good bye and good luck; you will do better without me."

ABERDEEN, Scotland, Aug. 15.—An eight-hour day for fishermen is the plank upon which candidates are seeking votes of the fishing population here. Returning trawlers are met by candidates at the docks.

3 TO 1 FOR HOOVER IN CALI.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 15.—San Bernardino county will go better than 3 to 1 for Hoover!

Such is the indication given today in the poll being conducted by the Examiner in Los Angeles and Southern California.

First returns from that county show:

Hoover	82
Smith	25

Of this number the vote was equally divided between the men and women voting for the Republican candidate, exactly 41 in each instance being recorded.

Postcards are still coming and there may be some changes in the next few days in the totals above recorded.

In the general results, compiled from Los Angeles and Bernardino and other sections, the figures are:

Hoover	2,070

COOLIDGE HAD 5 TO 1

The total Coolidge vote to date is 2,076 and that of Davis 381.

Hoover women to date aggregate 1,013 and that of the men voting for the Republican nominee 1,057.

The total number of Smith women is 280 and that of Smith men aggregates 493.

The number of men voting for Coolidge to date is 1,122 and that of the women for the incumbent of the White House is 354.

Women who favored Davis at the last election number 154 and the men 227. The number not voting is 386.

The report, first to be received outside of Los Angeles City, showing the trend of the vote outside of the Southland's largest city, is illuminative. It indicates that Hoover's strength will be greater than in the densely populated areas and, in all probability, will have a tendency to overcome any lead which Smith might obtain in the larger cities.

Hoover's lead in the general poll of Southern California is still holding at a little less than 3 to 1. His strength seems undiminished in the city proper as the days go on and if the outlying sections continue to be as strong as San Bernardino, his general lead will increase correspondingly.

N. Y. CITY VOTE GROWS

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Outside of growth, the New York City vote in the New York American's presidential straw poll shows but little change. Smith continues to keep almost a 2-to-1 lead over Hoover. The vote today stood:

Smith	5,033
Hoover	2,761

Smith's total is made up of 3,559 men and 1,474 women. Hoover received the votes of 1,840 men and 921 women. Of those who voted 2,409 men and 989 women supported Coolidge at the previous presidential election and 1,754 men and 732 women cast their ballots for Davis.

Postcard returns continue to come in from Orange, Sullivan and Putnam counties. As the poll now stands Hoover leads in these three counties by 2 to 1. The standing is as follows:

Hoover	459
Smith	231

The Hoover total consists of 245 men and 214 women. The Smith vote is made up of 126 men and 105 women. Of these county voters 247 men and 218 women voted for Coolidge in 1924, and 72 men and 45 women supported Davis.

Later Straw Vote Returns Increase Lead for Hoover

HUGE ZEPPELIN PLANS FLIGHT TO U. S. SEPT. 10

International News Service.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 15.—The world's newest and biggest Zeppelin, the "Count Zeppelin," will make its first trial flight on or about Monday, September 3, it was learned today.

If the trial flights are successful and weather conditions are favorable the giantess of the skies may leave Frederichshafen for Lakehurst, N. J., on September 10.

The tests have been delayed by unforseenn difficulties. Dr. Hugo Eckener, of the Zeppelin works and builder of the dirigible, has been ill and is going to Switzerland for a two weeks' holiday.

The chief obstacle in the way of early test flights has been the failure to obtain fuel.

Dr. Eckener is well satisfied with the ship and believes that it represents the last word in the construction of dirgibles. It contains many safety devices and innovations of which the inventor of that type of balloon — Count Zeppelin — never dreamed.

According to tentative plans the balloon will make two round trip flights over the Atlantic yearly.

21 MILES OF ROADS COMPLETED IN WEEK

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—More than 21 miles of new roads were completed during the last week by contractors for the State Highway Department, bringing the total completed construction program thus far this year to 175 miles, according to an announcement of the Highway Department. A total of 216 contracts were under way during the week with 8,962 men employed.

3 LOST IN NORTH DIE STARVED

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 15.—An 18-months' search of the barren lands north of Hudson Bay has been brought to a close with the finding of the bodies of John Hornby, British explorer, and two companions.

The men had died of starvation in a deserted trapper's camp.

The Hornby party had left Fort Reliance, in the Far North, two years ago, and had not been heard from since. Their destination was Chesterfield inlet, but they never reached there. For six months little fear for their safety was held, but at the end of that time, with no word coming from them, the Royal Canadian Mounted police began a search which was ended only with the finding of the bodies.

Mellon on His Way Back

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 15.—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon was aboard the Leviathan today, steaming toward America, "in excellent health and well prepared for the political battles of the next few months."

He gave out this statement when he boarded the ship here yesterday, but, aside from this remark, maintained a non-commital silence. He refused to comment in any way on the American presidential campaign.

It is doubtful if more than a score of people were aware that the famous financier was in England before he took the boat. British newspapers knew nothing of his presence, and repeated denials that he was stopping there were made at his hotel.

The American Embassy finally admitted he had called there, but would say nothing more.

Work and play, mostly play, is the lot of each of these boys from the Strip and Lawrenceville districts. The Boys Club of Pittsburgh just recently moved into its new Butler street building.

GIVE BLOOD FOR PAL

INJURED BOY'S FRIENDS RUSH TO SAVE HIM

John Gallagher, 17, of 337 Maxwell street, Springdale, will know who his true pals are—if he lives!

Today he is undergoing an operation for the amputation of his right leg, injured last Friday in the Springdale plant of the Standard Plate Glass Company. Albert Haskell, 16, of Murtland avenue, Springdale, is giving a pint of his blood to save his chum's life.

Haskell is the second pal in four days to submit to a blood transfusion that Gallagher might be strengthened for today's crisis. Fifteen friends of the injured youth have come forward and offered their blood for transfusion.

Gallagher was injured when he fell against a revolving glass table. His leg was cut almost to shreads, and the wound weakened him so that amputation might have been fatal at the time, physicians feared. Surgeons at the Citizens General Hospital, New Kensington, said only blood transfusions would save him and young Gallagher's comrades, true in a time of need, volunteered. Joseph Carlon, 16, 155 Colfax street, Springdale, was the first to give his blood, and Haskell was selected for today's transfusion.

PARNELL'S LEAD IN ARKANSAS VOTE GROWS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The lead which Gov. Harvey Parnell, candidate to succeed himself, assumed over his six opponents on first returns from yesterday's Democratic primary continued to increase today, unofficial returns from slightly more than one-third of the precincts in the state giving him a plurality over his nearest opponent of approximately 8,000.

Brooks Hays, 30-year-old attorney, was far in the lead for second place, with Tom J. Terral, former "no-pardon" governor, and J. Carroll Cone, state auditor, contesting for third place. The three other candidates were out of the running.

One congressman was running behind in his race for renomination and another had a small margin over his opponent.

D. D. Glover was leading James B. Reed, incumbent, in the sixth district by 1,000 votes, while Tilman B. Parks, of the seventh, was a few votes ahead of his opponent, Walter Brown. Only a small part of each district was reported, however.

NABBED TWICE IN RUM RAID

Trouble is piling up for Frank Leonelli, 38, of 920 Wylie avenue. Today he was arrested for a second time in three weeks, accused of violating the Snyder act, when police raided the house at 6680 Frankstown avenue and confiscated a 150-gallon still and a quantity of moonshine on the second floor. Frank DeAngelo, 52, occupant of the first floor, also was arrested and held for court on the same charge.

On July 19 Leonelli was arrested in the same house and held for court on the same charge.

Police say that Leonelli, who has been in this country less than five years, boosted his bank account skywards and then bethought himself of a girl in Italy. Fifteen thousand dollars, police say, Leonelli took from his bank and sent to the girl as a wedding present and then made arrangements to have a marriage by proxy performed.

Police report that the girl married another without returning the money, and since then Leonelli has been having all kinds of trouble.

DEATH ROLL

George W. Smith.

George W. Smith, 79, of 4008 Murray avenue, pioneer motion picture owner of the Hazelwood district, died Monday at Homestead Hospital after a brief illness. Mr. Smith was born in New York, but lived practically all his life in Pittsburgh. He was a member of St. Rosalia's Catholic Church. He leaves his widow, Mary Stanton Smith; two sons and four daughters.

Weather Conditions.

The second West Indian hurricane is now centered over Alabama; lowest barometer, 29.88 at Montgomery. It is causing light to moderate heavy rains over the Gulf states from Louisiana eastward, and northward over Tennessee, Western North Carolina, and over the mountains of Virginia and West Virginia.

The western disturbance lost considerably in intensity, but it produced light showers and thunderstorms over Colorado, the Dakotas, Minnesota, and along the border in the Canadian Provinces.

High pressure overlies the Atlantic Coast states, and extends westward over the Ohio Valley states thence southwestward over the southern plains states. The temperatures are normal or above over most of the country.

River Conditions.

The rivers are either stationary or falling. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.5 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.5; and Dam No. 6, 7.5 feet. The dams are up.

Note the Difference

See what a wonderful difference youthful slimness—clean, slender lithe lines—makes in one's appearance! Why permit heavy, unsightly lumps and chunks of fat to add years to your looks, to bar you from wearing the latest beautiful things, to make you less attractive in a bathing suit or dance frock? Let Viaderma end your fat worries.

Reduce
Where You Want to Reduce

Discovery of infiltrating oxygen reducing cream—quickly and safely banishes double chins, and slenderizes big hips, fat waists, legs and arms.

No Medicines—No Starvation Diet—No Dangerous Exercise

ANY woman or man who wants to take off fat on any part of the body can now do so quickly and safely. There is no question about this. It is a proved fact.

The discovery of oxygen reducing cream was purely accidental. A great New York doctor asked three of the ablest Colloidal Chemists in New York to try to find a remedy for chronic skin troubles. (Collodial chemistry is one of the latest developments in chemical science.) These Colloidal Chemists prepared an infiltrating cream which would liberate oxygen when absorbed through the skin. They discovered that whenever the part to be treated was fat, this excess weight quickly disappeared. Reducing tests were then made on fat people with amazing results. One woman reduced her neck one inch in a few treatments; another two inches. Still another took off twenty-nine pounds in six weeks. Equally successful results were had in reducing fat waists, arms, legs, and big hips. So safe is Viaderma, as it is called, that it has the approval of chemists and physicians who oppose all other methods of quick fat reduction.

Viaderma is a golden brown cream, which is rubbed rapidly on the skin. You see the cream disappear at once, leaving a clean white foam on the skin surface. The penetrating cream carries oxygen to the fatty tissues and in a few days' time, this oxygen gradually melts away the excess fat. You get definite results from a single jar which contains an 18 days supply.

Read What Doctor Sauer Says

Dr. Emil Sauer, practicing New England physician, and graduate of a prominent German university, says: "Viaderma will take off fat on any part of the body. This is brought about by the release of oxygen contained in the cream, which combines with fat, melting it down so that the resultant by-products are thrown off by the body through the natural organs of elimination. Most cases begin to respond to the treatment in four or five days. Stubborn cases show results in fifteen or sixteen days, with very rapid reduction thereafter.

"Viaderma" is safe and absolutely harmless. Its principal ingredient has a slight tonic effect and cannot possibly produce any harmful results."

GOODFELLOW FINED

LAW EASES UP ON BANK THEFT FIGURE

Eddie Goodfellow, whose front yard in Perrysville was a temporary grave for $287,000 of the $320,000 stolen from the Brotherhood Savings Bank, was fined $50 in Central Police Court today as the boss of a bookie shop at 431 Fourth avenue, which police raided yesterday.

Inspector James Hoey, the raider, helped to bring about the light fine by reminding Magistrate A. D. Brandon that Eddie, who subsequently served a six-months' sentence for receiving the stolen currency, had helped police to recover the money by pointing out just where it was buried.

The two visitors arrested in the raid forfeited $15 by failing to appear. Their names wre recorded as Frank Harrison, Vesta street, and Charles Bishop, Valera avenue, Carrick.

SHARON AUTOISTS SUED FOR PARKING ON GRASS

SHARON, Pa., Aug. 15.—"Keep off the grass" signs apply to automobiles in Buhl Park, Superintendent George Rettig announced in filing informations against drivers of automobiles who parked their machines in the city's breathing spot. Oil leaking from the machines kill the grass and damage clothing of persons who picnic in the park.

"WATCH THE FLOOR"

It's conjecture as to just what Mrs. Coolidge will say when Mr. Coolidge wears these shoes, if he does, across the hardwood floors of the White House, but what would you, Mrs. Pittsburgh, say if your husband wore them in the house? The shoes are a gift from the World's Championship Log Rolling Tournament Association to the President.

2 DIE, 2 HURT IN CRASH

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 15.—Two sisters were killed and three other members of the same family were injured, when their automobile turned over three times on a sharp curve at Parkstown Corners west of here last night.

Julia Simons, 17, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Farell, 27, of 2337 Valentine avenue, Toledo, O., died in the New Castle Hospital as a result of their injuries. Charles Simons, 22, and John Simons, 15, are in the same hospital, and the mother of the four victims, Mrs. Mary Simons, is in the Shenango Valley Hospital and is not expected to recover. All reside at the same address in Toledo, and were en route to New Castle to visit relatives.

Charles Simons was driving when the accident occurred.

DENISON HEADS CONNEAUT LAKE

CONNEAUT LAKE, Pa., Aug. 15.—Howard H. Denison, proprietor of the Hotel Elmwood and presinedt of the local board of trade, was elected president of the Conneaut Lake Company at a meeting of the board of directors. He succeeds C. L. Bearer, who resigned as president but remains on the directorate. No other changes in management are contemplated at this time, it was said, and the conduct of the park will be left exclusively in the hands of Denison and John Greer, general manager.

NO MORE CORRECT TIME FROM N. CASTLE POLICE

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Aug. 15.—The desk sergeant on duty at Central Police Station here has something else to do than give out correct time. For years it has been the custom for residents to call the station to get the correct time. Council heard reports that so many "time" calls were being made that the lines often were not available for police business and ordered the free time service discontinued.

CHECKER EXPERT DIES AT PUNXSUTAWNEY

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Aug. 15.—Funeral services for Will H. Tyson, 66, lumber dealer, mine operator, banker and ranking checker player, will be held at the family home at Big Run this afternoon. He was president of the American Checker Association and one of the best known experts in that game. He coached the winning American team in the international championships in 1927. He leaves his widow, one son and two daughters.

HUSBAND DISTRIBUTES BOOKLETS

Wife Tries Compound

Every year the Pinkham Medicine Company distributes about 30,000,000 booklets from house to house. Mr. Ted Hinzman does this work in Lodi, California. His wife writes: "It was in these little books that I read about so many women being helped by the medicine. I thought I would give it a trial and I can truly say that it has done me good. My neighbors and friends ask me what I am doing to make me look so much better. I tell them that I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Paul Cleary, Springfield, Pa., may be only 2 years old, but there are accomplishments about which his parents boast, viz., his practice of doing two things such as this simultaneously.

INDIANS FLEE "FLOOD," BUT TORRENT FAILS TO COME

LONDON, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Dispatches from Bombay and Lahore say that the firing of a chain of bonfires to warn of the bursting of a glacial dam in Kashmir, India, caused a great exodus from the valley of the Indus. Although the flood did not come, the exodus is continuing.

What happened or is happening at the glacial dam on the Shyok River is a mystery yet to be solved.

The first report that the dam had burst was officially confirmed. This, however, was followed by an equally official denial and everybody is awaiting an explanation.

The explanation may be a long time forthcoming as the dam is in a remote and almost inaccessible part of the Karakoram Mountains. It is many days' journey from any town possessing modern means of communication.

How the chain of bonfires which the government prepared long ago to warn the mountaineers of the flood's approach came to be ignited is not know. One theory is that a sudden accidental blazing of one of the watcher's camp fires was mistaken for the signal that the dam had burst. When news of the fires reached the lower levels and plains officials hastened to their posts of duty accompanied by photographers and reporters. They awaited in vain for the rush of waters which was expected.

The dispatches from Bombay and Lahore say that dwellers along the predicted course of the flood hurriedly made use of every means of transportation to reach places of safety. Military airplanes rose to watch the progress of the waters and warn the remote valleys. General alarm prevailed. This alarm has not ceased, although the warning was canceled, and villagers are continuing their exodus.

It is stated that the consumption of the fuel of the bonfires through the false alarm will not prevent another warning when the dam bursts, as a double chain of fires has been prepared and the watch is unrelaxed.

MOTOR "ARMY" TRAVELS FAST

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Covering more than a hundred miles in the first day of movement, the United States Army experimental mechanized force, which left Camp Leonard Wood, Maryland, south of Baltimore, at daybreak yesterday was bivouacked here last night.

The force, under the command of Col. O. S. Eskridge, is due at Tobyhanna, Pa., this afternoon. The force is composed of 340 men and 55 officers, and came to Pottstown by various routes, some circling around as far as Reading and Lancaster.

The trip from Tobyhanna to Camp Leonard Wood, Md., will be made in a single day, the force being expected to cover a minmum of 205 miles tomorrow.

VET FINDS WORLD WAR SHRAPNEL IN HIS ARM

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 15.—Ten years after he was wounded in action in the Meuse-Argonne battle, former First Sergeant Quinton J. McClelland, Co. F, One Hundred and Twelfth Infantry, now a postal employe, has discovered that he is still carrying shrapnel fragments in his body. Recently he was bothered by rheumatism and his right arm became almost useless. 'An X-ray examination revealed three pieces of shrapnel. He will undergo an operation to have the bits of steel removed.

GOULD ACADEMY SITE BOUGHT BY HEARST

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Benjamin Winter has announced the sale to William Randolph Hearst of the former Frank Jay Gould riding academy site at 217–19 West Fifty-seventh street running through to 216-24 West Fifty-eighth street. The sale was consummated Monday through Hubert & Hubert, brokers in all of Mr. Hearst's real estate transactions.

The property, which was held at $1,500,000, covers an area of approximately 16,000 square feet. It fronts 50 feet on Fifty-seventh street and 110 feet on Fifty-eighth street. It is just east of Broadway.

While no announcement was made of Mr. Hearst's plans in connection with the purchase, it is believed that he will utilize the property as part of the extensive development projects he has under way in this section to house his publishing enterprises.

The Hearst real estate holdings in Columbus Circle are heavy, dominating the entire locality. The most recent activity of the publisher in this section was the building completed at Eighth avenue and Fifty-seventh street, bringing all the Hearst magazines under one roof.

Mr. Winter purchased the property from the Gould interests in June, 1925. Showrooms of the American Car and Foundry Company occupy the majority of the space of the three-story building with a 50-foot frontage which runs through from Fifty-seventh to Fifty-eighth street and which was the original site of the famous Gould academy. Three brownstone houses make up the balance of the Fifty-eighth street frontage which Mr. Gould bought as a protection for his stables.

Morris E. Gossett represented Mr. Winter in the Gould sale and Konta, Kirchwey & Engel were attorneys for the Hearst interests.

VACANT HOUSE TAKES FIRE

Fire of undetermined origin caused 2,000 damage to an unoccupied house at 1312 Fullerton street and the adjoining house occupied by James Carrol and family at 4 o'clock this morning. The fire started in the vacant house.

. . . Horne's, Fourth Floor . . .

Peach Color Antelope Gloves

Just arrived from France . . . and extremely smart when worn with navy blue costumes. In the fashion-favored, slip-on style that wrinkles nonchalantly at the wrist. Washable . . . beautifully smooth . . . and perfect in fit. Sizes 5½ to 7½, priced $5.50.

. . . Horne's, Main Floor . . .

Black Satin Dresses

A Delightful Showing at

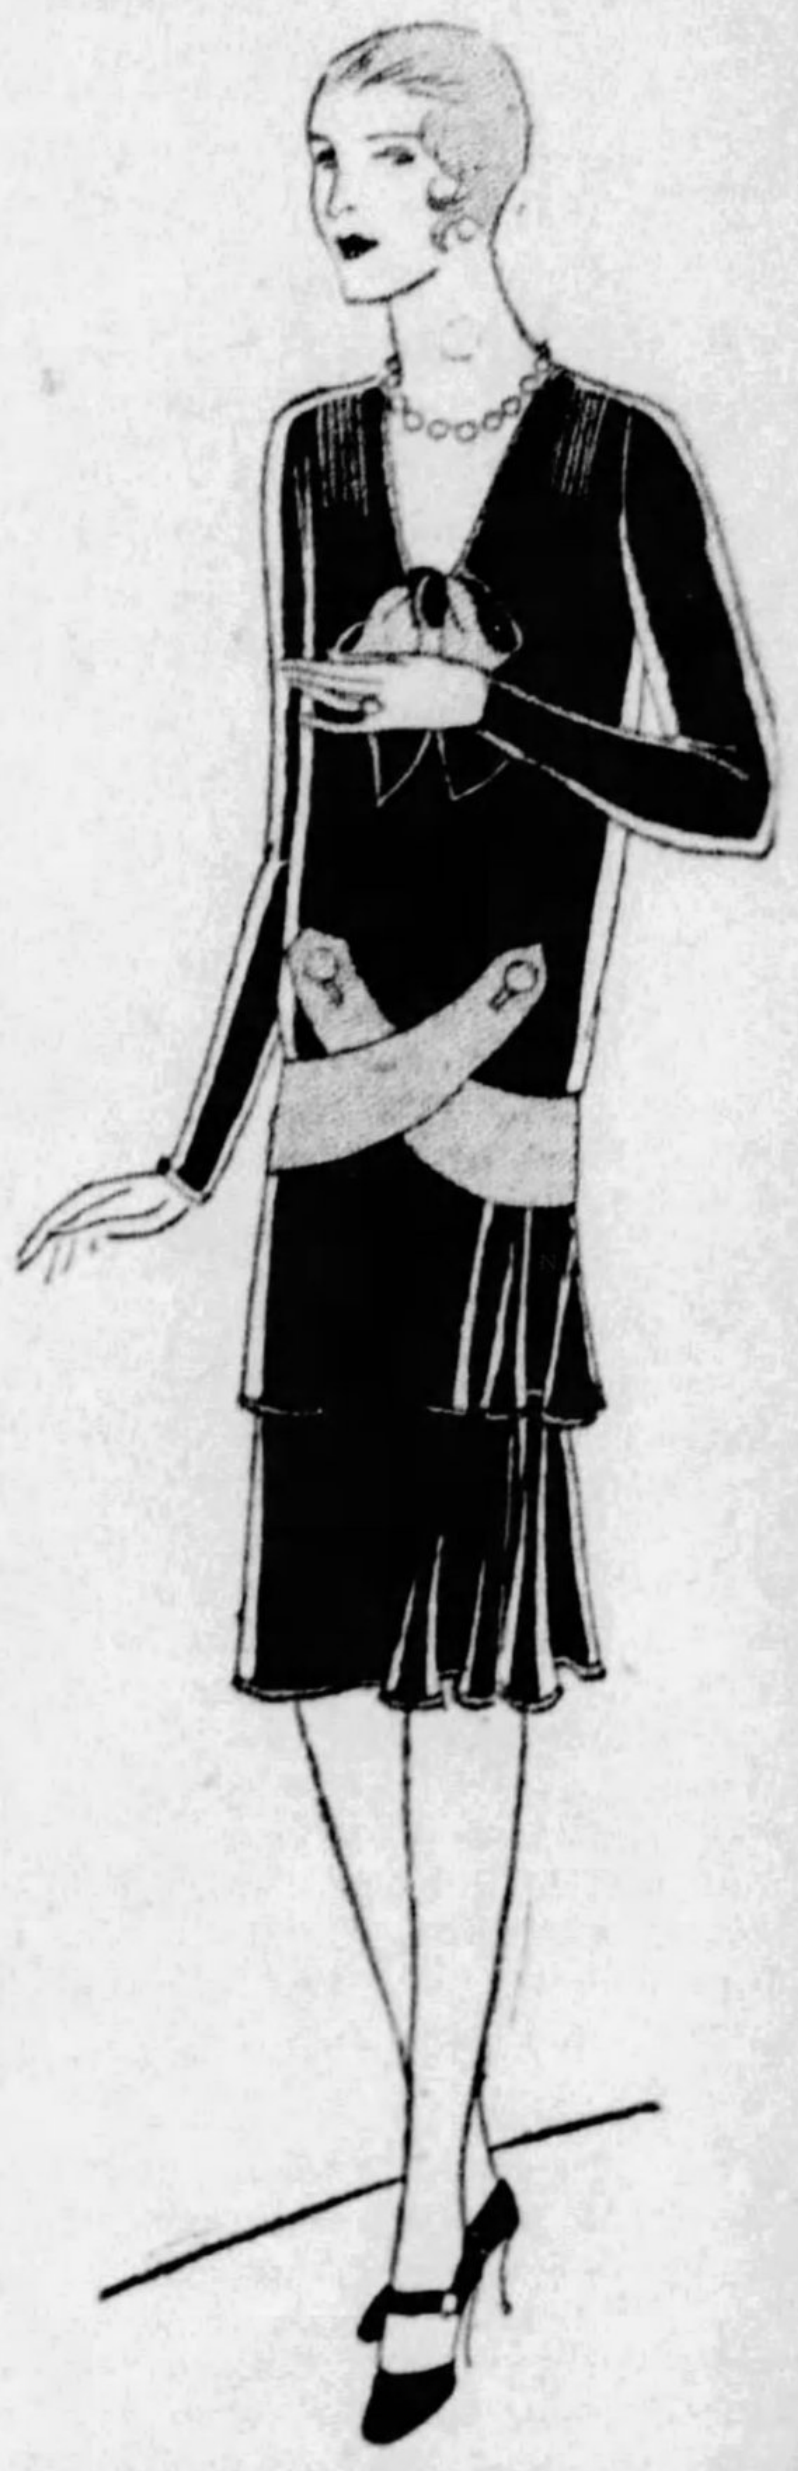
One of the most important things to consider in choosing a black satin dress, is a style which permits the fabric to look its most lustrous by giving play to its highlights, and these dresses are so designed.

The one pictured is very simple, with animation only in the side fullness of the skirt. Others have skirts with groups of spreading fan pleats; some with circular movement; and still others with a soft draping of the skirt toward the front. Some models are lace-trimmed, while one or two go to the other extreme and are almost tailored in finish.

They are women's dresses, in which there is a size range of 34 to 44.

. . . Horne's, Second Floor . . .



A Special Grouping of

Medium-Weight Coats for Women

$25

Women who wear regular sizes, and those who take special large and small sizes, all will find excellent values in this special group.

They are of just the right weight for cool days of late summer and for wear in early fall. Of dull-surfaced cloths of medium weight, in navy blue and black.

All have collars of dependable furs, those suited to the weight and texture of the fabrics—natural and dyed fitch, squirrel in different shades, American broadtail (sheared lamb), fox and kit fox.

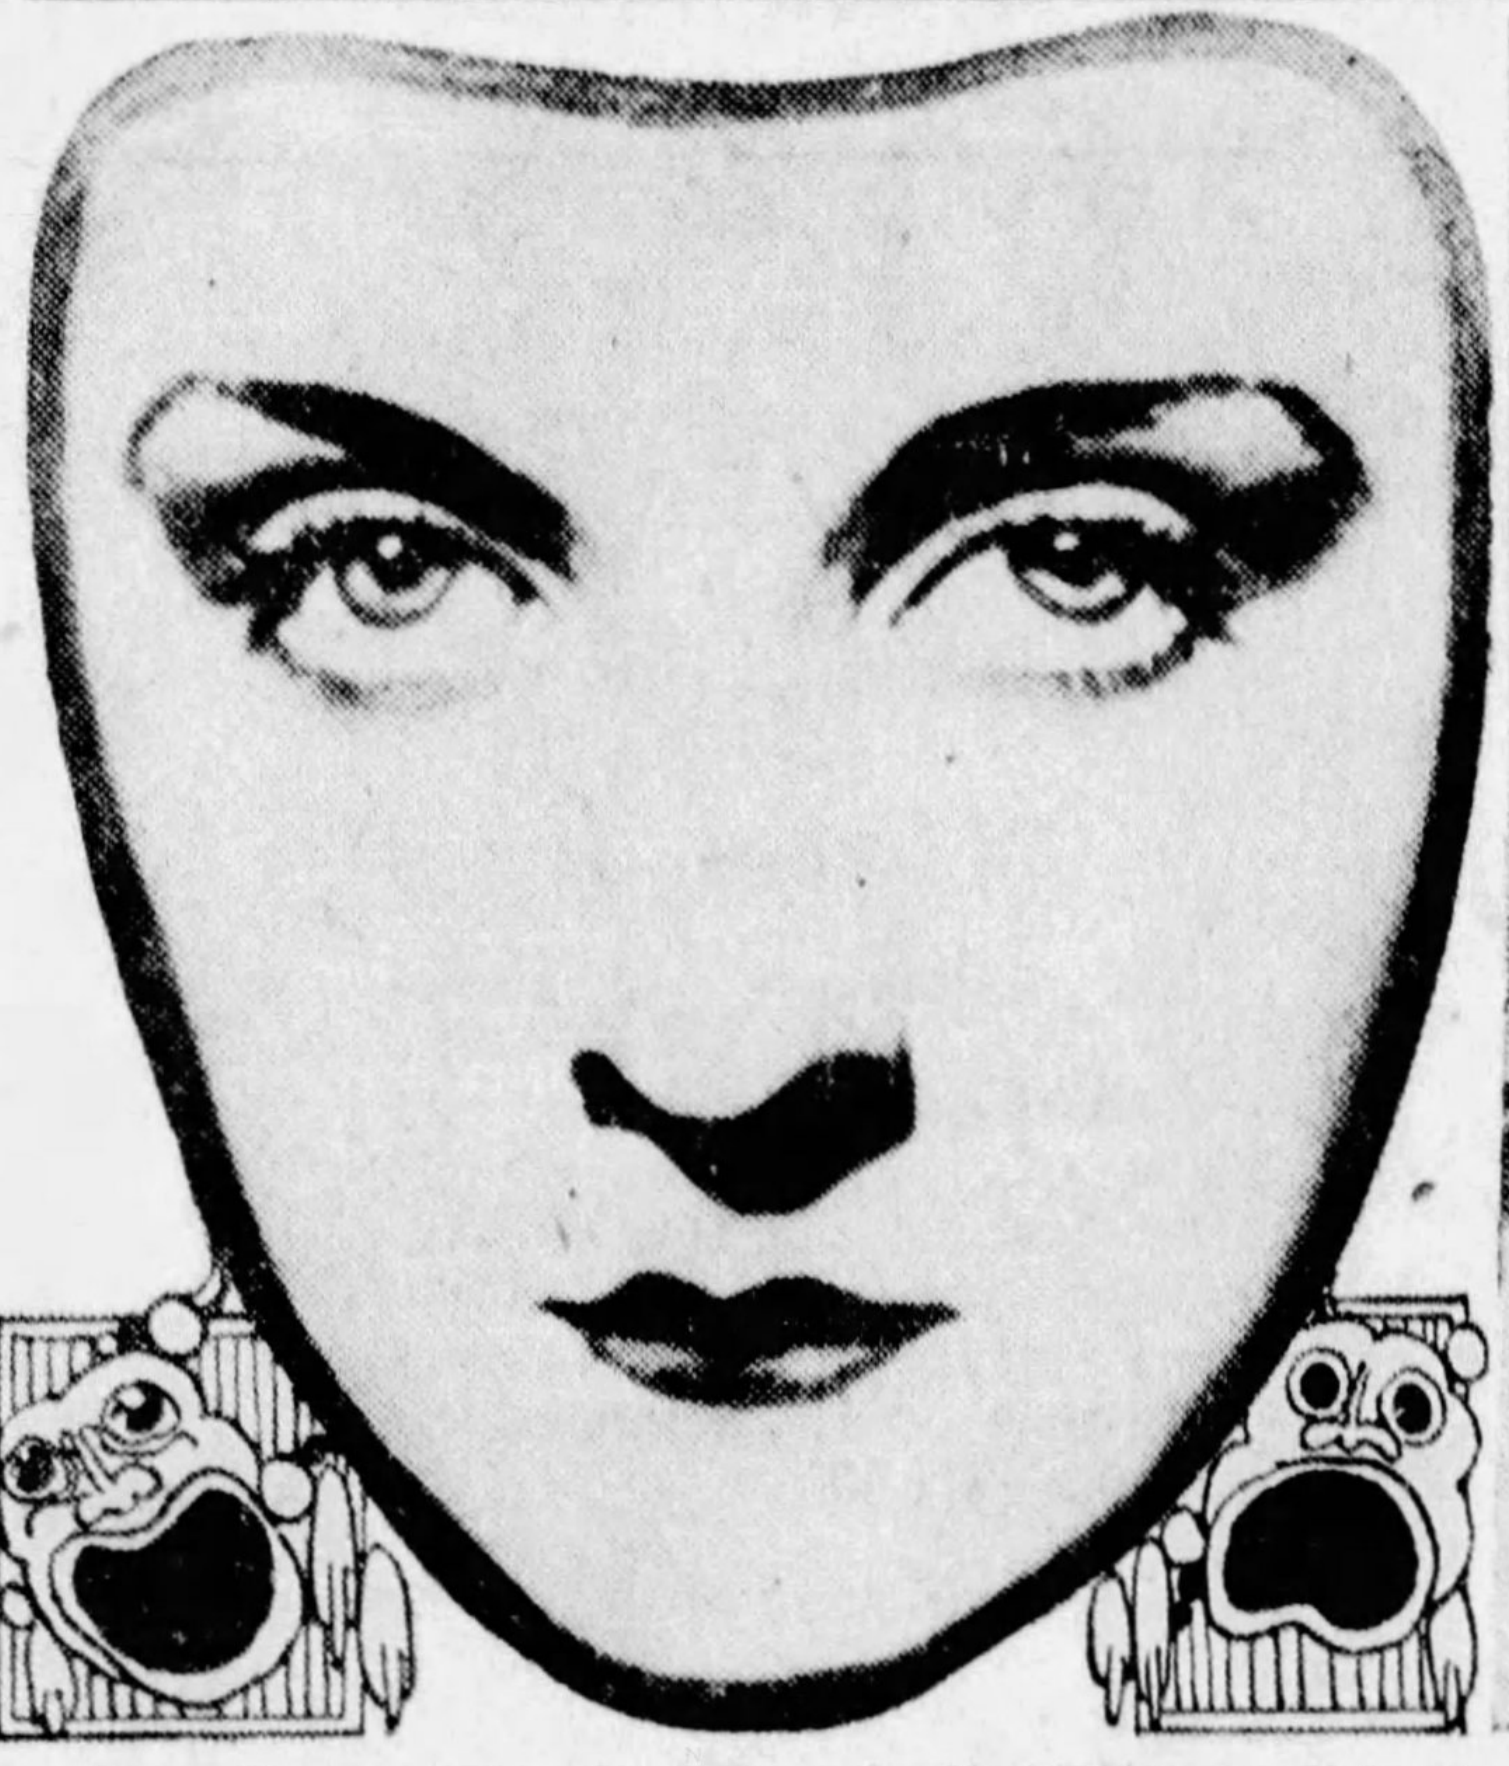
Announcements Concerning Local Amusements and Little Stories About What Film Stars Are Engaged In

MOSTLY ABOUT WOMAN -:- WHO ARE PROMINENT -:- IN WORLD OF FILMS



Alice Terry, wife of Rex Ingram, director, now making "The Three Passions," is the subject of this striking photographic mask.

Eleanor Boardman, King Vidor, Rex Ingram, Alice Terry and Ivan Petrovitch, the latter leading man for Miss Terry in Mr. Ingram's new picture. This photograph was taken in Nice, where the King Vidors visited the Ingram studio.

Lupe Velez, young Mexican actress, is to be featured all by herself in "La Paiva," for United Artists.

Clara Bow's "The Fleet's In" Gets Approval at Premiere; Title Writer Wins Applause

By REGINA CREWE

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15.

WELL, folks, "The Fleet's In." Clara Bow's new picture was shown at one of those "secret" previews the other evening, and all the census-taker had to do was to stand before the theater and count the customers. Everyone was there. And what a picture! It's far from being anything approaching high-brow. But it isn't slap-stick. Just a first-rate, rollicking, lyric of laughter in which Director Mal St. Clair, Red-headed Clara and Jimmy Hall split honors thirty-three-and-a-third each. And, oh yes, George Marion, Jr., the title writer.

If all the picture were eliminated and only the titles projected on the screen, the audience would still be provided with as enjoyable an evening as has entertained Hollywood in many a month. In your hat with this tip—put "The Fleet's In" on your "must" list. It's too good to miss. So save up your pennies against the day when it opens in your town. It won't be long now!

Rod La Rocque won't go to United Artists. Not yet awhile, any way. Rod is all set to appear opposite Dorothy Mackaill in the First National picture now called "Changelin." It is to be a sound picture. Rod's rather timely attack of appendicitis, together with a disinclination to leave his bride, Vilma Banky, altered his decision to return to the stage this fall. It is reported that Rod may yet follow his former chieftain, Cecil B. De Mille, to the Metro lot. But at present there is nothing definitely decided.

At the premiere of "White Shadows," a radio hook-up enabled an announcer to tell the "dear unseen audience" that didn't fork over its five bucks for an opening night admission all about the arrival of the multitude of stars who graced the theater. The man at the microphone read a wire signed by Lina Basquette and June Collyer, which said: "Sorry cannot be with you tonight. Lost wheel off roller skates and are afraid of walking home." Neither Lina nor June know anything about the wire. Just a Hollywood wise-cracker, but he gave the fans a laugh in which the victims joined.

Clara Bow's dad used to run an establishment here, which, I believe, was devoted to dry-cleaning, dyeing, etc. But Clara, apparently the best "business man" of the family, decided that there is more money in feeding the public than in cleaning them. So the dyeing store is closed and instead Clara has bought pop a well-patronized restaurant which flaunts the legend, "Clara Bow's Steak and Chop House."

Almost two years after the death of Rudolph Valentino, the Fox organization has signed Paul Vincente on a long-term contract for its stock company. Paul is the youngster with an unpronouncable name who made his first bow in America under the auspices of Mme. Fereno Molnar and First National. His claim to fame included a marked resemblance to Rudy. Under his present name he was signed by First National, and remained at the Burbank studios for some time without doing, or getting an opportunity to do, much of anything. It was in respect to Paul that Madame Molnar quarreled so bitterly with her countrywoman, Vilma Banky. Mme. Molnar seemed to think that Paul was entitled to a lift into pictures from influential Hungarian artists because he shared their nationality. Now that he has received his chance quite on his own merits, the boy will have an opportunity to prove his ability.

Fox Films declares that it will have five all-talking films ready for the public by the first of the year. The first is "Behind That Curtain," the second "Through Different Eyes." The third picture will be a feature-length comedy called "Badges," and the two others have not yet been definitely determined. It looks as though Fox will be the first to give Warner Brothers a run for its money in the new field of sound-films.

COMING PLAYS OF STAGE

"Smilin' Through" is the title of the play in which the Nixon Players will present Ann Harding in the Nixon Theater next week. It is described as a fantastic comedy in three acts. The story presents Miss Harding in modern costume and in the hoop-skirted frocks of 50 years ago.

George Sharp, manager of the George Sharp Players, will appear in a prominent role in "Upstairs and Down," in the Pitt next week. Mr. Sharp, during his long stage career, specialized in dialect parts, and the role in which he is cast for next week is the type he enjoys most.

"The Bohemians" will open the season of burlesque in the Academy with a midnight show next Sunday night. Art Mayer and Frankie Moore are among the principals.

How To Be Beautiful

by Maria Jeritza

Do Your Eyes Express You?

"HOW charming she is—what beautiful eyes!"

"I love to watch her eyes—they have the loveliest expression!"

No woman was ever displeased because of overhearing such comments as these about herself. They are the compliments, direct and indirect, continually made to a certain lady of my acquaintance.

MARIA JERITZA

This lady is not actually beautiful. Her features are a bit irregular, her figure a little stocky. But she has glorious eyes—clear, trustful, friendly, blue as summer skies—eyes that smile at you even when her lips are grave.

Her eyelashes are of the nondescript, light brown that often accompanies blond coloring and blue eyes. But they are so long and thick and curly that when she opens and closes her eyes rapidly, as she occasionally does in the course of conversation, the effect is startling and irresistible.

Eyes should express individuality. The blue eyes I have just described are infinitely loyal, humorous, lovely. Do your eyes express you?

If you wish to cultivate soul-windows that are sparkling, beguiling, smiling, begin by cultivating friendliness, serenity and wide-awake thinking. For eye-loveliness, like all beauty, is primarily mental.

Second only to beauty of spirit as a factor of charm of the eyes, comes good health. Billiousness changes the whites of the eyes to dingy yellow. Nervousness etches lines about even the most youthful eyes. Lack of sleep, over-indulgence in alcohol, over-eating, give them that blood-shot look. Eye-strain reddens the lids. Run-down health may cause the lashes to fall out or grow straggling. Intestinal or digestive troubles sometimes result in clam-shell hollows underneath the eyes.

Rub white vaseline very gently into your eyelashes at the roots, each night to encourage their growth, and brush them with a tiny eyebrow brush. If you persist long enough this regime will help the lashes.

When you motor, play tennis or walk in glaring sunlight, protect your eyes if you would avoid eye-strain and wrinkles. Slightly-tinted, smoked glasses, an eye-shade a la Helen Wills, a sun-shade or a broad-brimmed hat should solve this problem.

Do you feel inclined to rub your eyes when you are sleepy or when wind or over-application has wearied them? Resist the temptation! For rubbing only aggravates inflammation, and may grind in dust and grime. Instead, try to find an opportunity to bathe them with a solution of boracic acid in about the following proportions: Distilled water, 1 wine glass; boracic acid, 3 drops.

Nurse Gains 7 Lbs. in 2 Weeks
Build Up Weight Quickly and Easily With New YEAST and IRON —or pay nothing
Nobody Admires a "Skinny" Woman

©I.Y. Co.

"I am a nurse at the hospital and I am writing you to let you know I am glad to recommend your tonic IRONIZED YEAST.

It gave me a good appetite. I got strong and gained 7 pounds in 2 weeks. I could write all day about how much good IRONIZED YEAST did me. You would be surprised at the strength I gained in 3 or 4 days. I will send you some of my friends' names so you can write them about it."

Martha Burns

People are amazed at the wonderful benefits of IRONIZED YEAST. Many were doubtful before they started. But after taking it regularly for only 3 or 4 weeks they gained 5 to 15 pounds. Ugly hollows fill out. Skinny limbs become gracefully rounded. Blemished skin gets clear and beautiful.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective—for Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant tablets. Never cause gas or bloating. Safe for all—no harmful drugs.

Try It on "Money-Back" Offer
Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST. If after this generous trial you are not delighted, your money back instantly. If inconvenient to buy from druggist, send $1.00 to IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 310-BO.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion and a generally weakened condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to gaining weight.

Thousands of Pennsylvanians Write Letters Like These!

WHAT'S ON THE AIR

THREE light operas will be on the air tonight. During the Philco hour over KDKA at 9 o'clock the Victor Herbert comic opera, "Babette," will be presented. Over WJAS at 10 o'clock the Kolster hour will offer an abridged version of "Olivette." The presentation of the National Light Opera Company, over WCAE at 10:30 o'clock, will be Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers."

Songs in praise of Alma Mater, representing a number of American colleges and universities, will be sung by the Sylvania Foresters over KDKA at 8:30 o'clock. Among the selections to be offered by the quartet will be "Fair Harvard," "Far Above Cayuga's Waters," representing Cornell; "Hail Pennsylvania," the Yale "Boola" Song, "Lord Geoffrey Amherst," "Old Nassau," of Princeton; "Illinois Alma Mater" and "Chicago Alma Mater." Torre and Biviano, specialty duo, will present "Rain or Shine" and "Sweet Lorraine" as violin and accordion numbers.

Victor Herbert's "Whispering Willows" and two old English compositions by Smart will be broadcast by the National Mixed Quartet over WCAE at 8 o'clock. In addition to vocal numbers a string quintet will play "Anitra's Dance."

Olive Palmer, coloratura soprano, will sing "Norwegian Echo Song" and "Vous Dansez, Marquise" during the Palmolive hour over WCAE at 9:30 o'clock. She also will sing a duet with Paul Oliver tenor—"I Don't Want a Girlie."

The guest speaker of the Power period broadcast over KDKA at 10:30 will be Norman Allderdice, who is interested in the development of aviation in Pittsburgh. Mr. Allderdice recently returned from a trip visiting airplane fields and factories in the East. A quartet will provide the musical portion of the program.

NATION BUYS 2,951,503 MOTOR VEHICLES IN 1927

PENNA. STANDS SECOND IN VOLUME

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—A total of 2,951,503 new passenger cars and trucks were purchased by the motorists of the United States during the calendar year of 1927, according to revised figures of the American Motorists' Association. Comparing the number of new vehicles purchased with the number junked, the figures show that during the year, 1,125,922 more cars were bought than were junked. The total number junked aggregated 1,825,581 cars and trucks. Pennsylvania ranked second in the number of new cars purchased during the year.

Computed on a percentage basis, Connecticut motorists purchased the highest number of new automobiles, the total registration as of January 1, being 281,521 of which 47,426 or 18 per cent were purchased during 1927. On the same basis Alabama ranked second with 17 per cent; North Carolina, District of Columbia and Montana motorists tying for third place with a 16 percentage of new cars purchased during the year.

Figured on a basis of the total number of new automobiles purchased during the year, New York purchasing a total of 271,856 new passenger cars and trucks, ranked first, followed by Pennsylvania with 235,109; California, 186,468; Ohio, 171,427 and Illinois, 166,004.

JEWELER BUYS GOODRICH TIRES FOR LONG TRIP

Gus Bastheim, president of the Henry Wilkens Jewelry Company recently left the city for an extended tour of the Canadian Rockies. Before leaving he called on Jack Pugh, president of the Pugh Tire Company, and had his car equipped with Goodrich Silvertowns. Mr. Bastheim appreciates what quality tires on a car means far from home and thoughts of tire trouble are eliminated from consideration.

GENERAL MOTORS HAS BIG OUTPUT IN JULY

During the month of July, General Motors dealers delivered to consumers 177,728 cars, according to an announcement by Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president. This compares with 134,749 for the corresponding month last year or a gain of 31.9 per cent.

Sales by General Motors Divisions to dealers totaled 169,473 cars, an output of almost 7,400 per day as compared with 136,909 for July, 1927, a gain of 32,564 cars, or 23.8 per cent.

MANY AUTOISTS VISIT N. B.

FREDERICKTON, N. B., Aug. 15.—New Brunswick's tourist business for 1928 is away to a start considerably ahead of last year, according to reports reaching the New Brunswick bureau of information and tourist travel here from the collectors of customs at the 24 ports of entry in this province through which automobiles can enter New Brunswick from the United States.

Returns for the month of May as compared with the same period last year show an increase of approximately 25 per cent in the number of tourists' cars for which permits were granted for periods from one to 60 days, despite the backward and rainy season. The most marked increases are shown at Richmond Road (between Woodstock, N. B., and Houlton, Me.), Andover, Grand Falls and St. Leonard. The total number of 30-day permits for cars entering New Brunswick from the United States issued up to May 31, was 1,043, as compared with 834 up to the same date last season.

EUROPE LIKES PISTONS OF ALUMINUM ALLOY

CINCINNATI, Aug. 15.—In a letter just received from John Eckerle, president of Aluminum Industries, Inc., Cincinnati, O., he states that aluminum alloy pistons are as popular in the foreign countries as they are in America.

Mr. Eckerle says proctically all the car manufacturers in France, England and Italy are using Aluminum Alloy Pistons as standard equipment.

Mr. Eckerle's trip is to make an intensified survey of all the foreign car manufacturers and also introduce Permite Pistons. His trip is of a four months' duration and he will not return to the States until sometime in October.

ROAD HOSPITAL FAVORED FOR EMERGENCY

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—Because of the large number of motor accidents on the White Horse pike in New Jersey, and as a generally desirable proposition, definite proposals for "highway hospital" facilities at Oaklyn, N. J., have been made.

It is believed by the promoters and many others that special local dispensaries are necessary to care for accident cases by the roadside.

Possibly the number of such "highway hospitals" will be opened later, co-ordinated as auxiliaries of larger hospitals.

The present idea is to have a resident nurse, paid by the community, live at the hime of a physician who will equip his office so that 85 per cent of the accident patients sent to the nearby city of Camden can be treated at his house.

In addition to operating facilities, the physician would maintain four or five beds for patients.

SHORT PARKING PERIODS BENEFIT GARAGES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 15.—The Hughes garage, at Second and Walnut streets, Louisville, reports that new regulations preventing longtime parking in the central district has resulted in a big increase in grarge service, as persons now have to walk so far in reaching their cars that they are garaging them. It is now proposed to stop all parking of automobiles for a period of 60 to 90 days, for a trial period on Fourth avenue, which would further increase volume for the downtown garages.

SPANISH AUTO MARKET CAPTURED BY YANKEES

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Automobiles top the list of America manufactured goods exported to Spain, the origin of more than 50 per cent of the 120,000 motor vehicles registered in that country being traced to the United States, Trade Commissioner James C. Burke, who has just returned from Barcelona, today told Automobile Daily News.

Recent figures, furthermore, according to Mr. Burke, show that not only will the United States continue to maintain this proportion, but also will increase our lead, which is largely due to the successful employment of the methods of distribution and sales used extensively in this country.

"The predominance of American automobiles," Mr. Burke said, "also creates splendid opportunities for American manufacturers of the many accessories and tires which are part of the standard equipment."

Mr. Burke said that central government and municipal projects for building highways will greatly stimulate the sale of American cars and trucks in Spain.

"The increasing amount and value of our commodity exports to Spain," he continued, "is attributed to the high uniform quality that has been recognized and appreciated. While price competition at times has proved discouraging, patience, perseverance and intensive sales and merchandising may be successfully employed to almost as great advantage as in the United States."

NEW TYPE OF AUTO HAS ELECTRIC DRIVE

A new type of automobile has been developed which has no gear shift. One pedal feeds gas to the motor. Instead of being geared to the rear axle this motor drives an electric generator which supplies power to an electric motor to turn the rear wheels.

WILLYS TAKES SECOND PLACE

Reports for May registrations, which were available early in July and which showed Willys-Overland stepping into second place in the industry in total number of new cars delivered to owners to take on added significance through the fact that May was the record-breaking month in the history of the entire industry in total registrations in many sections of the country.

The position of second place in the industry and steadily advanced Willys-Overland in five months. In January registrations were fifth in the industry and steadyily advanced through February, March and April to the present position.

All previous Willys-Overland records for six months have been passed and total sales at the present time are close to those for the greatest year in the history of the company.

The dealer organization is the largest the company has ever known and a steady rate of increase is new dealer contracts is still being made, with the season well more than half over.

AUTO COSTING $1 A DAY NOT LUXURY

The automobile hardly can be regarded as a luxury when its average cost, including the cost of maintenance and operation, amounts only to $1 a day. Citing statistics compiled by the American Motorists' Association, H. H. Brooks, general sales director of the Marmon Motor Car company, points out that the automobile is, if a luxury at all, the least expensive ever indulged in by Americans.

"When you figure," said Mr. Brooks, "that the average motorist spent only $229 last year on the upkeep of his car; that the average retail price of a passenger car was $953, and that the life of a car is estimated at seven years, you begin to realize how little a car costs—only $1 a day.

"In order to get his money's worth, even in transportation, the owner of an automobile would have to drive his vehicle only 33 miles a day, or about 12,000 miles a year.

"Ownership of a car, however, means much more than transportation, it means suburban homes, week-end tours, summer cottages and increased earning power.

"The automobile, like the highroad, is one of the world's great socializing agencies, and in aiding commerce, it effects an interchange of ideas that is rapidly battering downs the walls of ignorance, superstition and intolerance."

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

GETTING MYRA MARRIED

By LILY WANDEL

DRUSILLA'S face above the blue chiffon and silver lace piled on her lap was lined with the anxiety she bravely kept out of her voice. "You're not going to the dance, Myra?" she asked incredulously of a lovely young girl, slim and straight, toying with the scissors, "just because you're stubborn, all on account of a silly quarrel with Bert?"

"He broke a date with me," answered Myra, her voice hard and unforgiving, "and nobody can treat me like that and get away with it. Besides, I haven't a thing to wear and cant' buy a handkerchief until my fur coat's paid for!" She laughed, half carelessly, half bitterly. "Somebody's going, I can see that," she touched the fairy dress in Drusilla's lap.

The dressmaker nodded. "She's your height, will you try it on, so I can get the length?" And as Myra accommodatingly peeled off her frock, "There! Just a little to the right, please," sticking a pin with deft fingers. "Myra, will you do something to please me?" almost shyly, a wave of pink mounting into her cheeks, "make up with Bert. I can't bear to see your romance go to pieces like this. Don't be too proud, too foolish when your happiness is at stake."

Resentment, like steel-cut beads, glittered in Myra's blue eyes. "Drusilla, your an old friend and neighbor, but that doesn't say you can poke your finger into my pie! You simply don't understand the situation."

"I know I'm of another generation, but foolishness is the same now as it was when I was a girl, so there!" Drusilla declared, "and I know you're dying to go to the dance and I guess you're expecting somebody else to take you."

"You know very well that all the boys think I'm going with Bert, who hasn't asked me. I've a swell chance of being asked when the boys are all dated up with other girls. But I don't care a snap about the dance or about Bert Speare!" She stepped out of the blue chiffon and wriggled into her own dress. "And let me tell you, if Bert Speare comes with any last-minute invitation he'll get left!" She pulled on the fur coat that was not paid for and flounced out of the room, banging the front door, but not before Drusilla had caught a glimpse of the blue eyes glazed with hot tears.

All her life Drusilla Cameron had followed the conservative advice, "If you don't know what to do, do nothing," and now filled with a tremendous desire she found herself helpless through inexperience.

She gazed out of her glistening clean window with troubled eyes and the sight of Sam Willis had a maddening effect upon her usually gentle spirit. The Cinderella Dance only four days off and Myra's whole happiness at stake! She rapped sharply on the pane with her thimbled finger and beckoned toward the back door.

Sam Willis entered Drusilla's spotless kitchen. "Did you want something, Drusilla?" he asked mildly.

"Sit down," ordered Drusilla, "and listen to me, you've got to help me!"

Sam looked at Drusilla in surprise, for he had never seen her excited before.

"Sam," she began when they were settled in chairs, "did it ever occur to you that you were awfully selfish? Just living your own life day in, day out, and not bothering about what happens at your neighbor's?"

Sam looked thoughtful and then he nodded. "I often wondered if you were comfortable, Drusilla, living this way alone and—"

Drusilla interrupted him almost sharply. "I'm speaking of little Myra Duffy. She quarreled with Bert Speare and now she hasn't an invitation to the Cinderilla dance—and it isn't just that. She's stubborn and proud and foolish like I was when I was a girl! Sam, I simply must talk to somebody or I'll eplode. I simply can't sit here and watch her lose her happiness like I did. She's not going to go through lonely, bitter years like I have, all on account of a little misunderstanding. I'm almost 40 and I guess I know. If somebody had helped me that time years ago I'd not be sewing my fingers off and hoping, every time a holiday comes around, that some family will be moved to pity and ask me to dinner. Myra's not going through that! You're going to march yourself over to Speare's and speak to that boy. I have the dress for Myra almost done!"

"But, Drusilla," objected Sam Willis, "I hardly know that Speare boy. Is he that boy with the funny little mustache? And what'll I say?"

"He shaved it off, Myra told me so. He's always at the soda counter in his father's drug store. As to what you'll say, I'll leave that to you. Just imagine Myra was your own daughter and then think of her living years of my life and you'll find the right words."

It was in the evening that Sam Willis, beaming with triumph, came back to report. "Guess you can send that dress around to Myra, Drusilla. I talked to the young man like a Dutch uncle and I must say he made a good impression on me. I ought to have a diplomat's medal or something. Led up to Myra being all ready for the dance, refusing any number of invitations because she was waiting for the young man who had been taking her out the last year and then Myra herself comes in, head high, haughty-like, but this Speare boy just calls out gaily, 'Why hello, Myra, are you an answer to a prayer?' and I left them together.

The next morning Drusilla took the fairy dress to Myra. At noon the young girl flew into Drusilla's and thanked the dressmaker effusively, hugging her and calling her the "best old darling." But she fluttered out before Drusilla could ask a question. "She might have told me that they made up," Drusilla thought a little hurt, "but such is youth."

The day of the dance Drusilla's thimbled finger threatened to break the window pane and Sam Willis stood in the kitchen in less than a minute.

"Sam," began the little woman excitedly, "I just met Bert Speare and he's growing a moustache again! You know Myra hates it."

"But he didn't have one that day I spoke to him—"

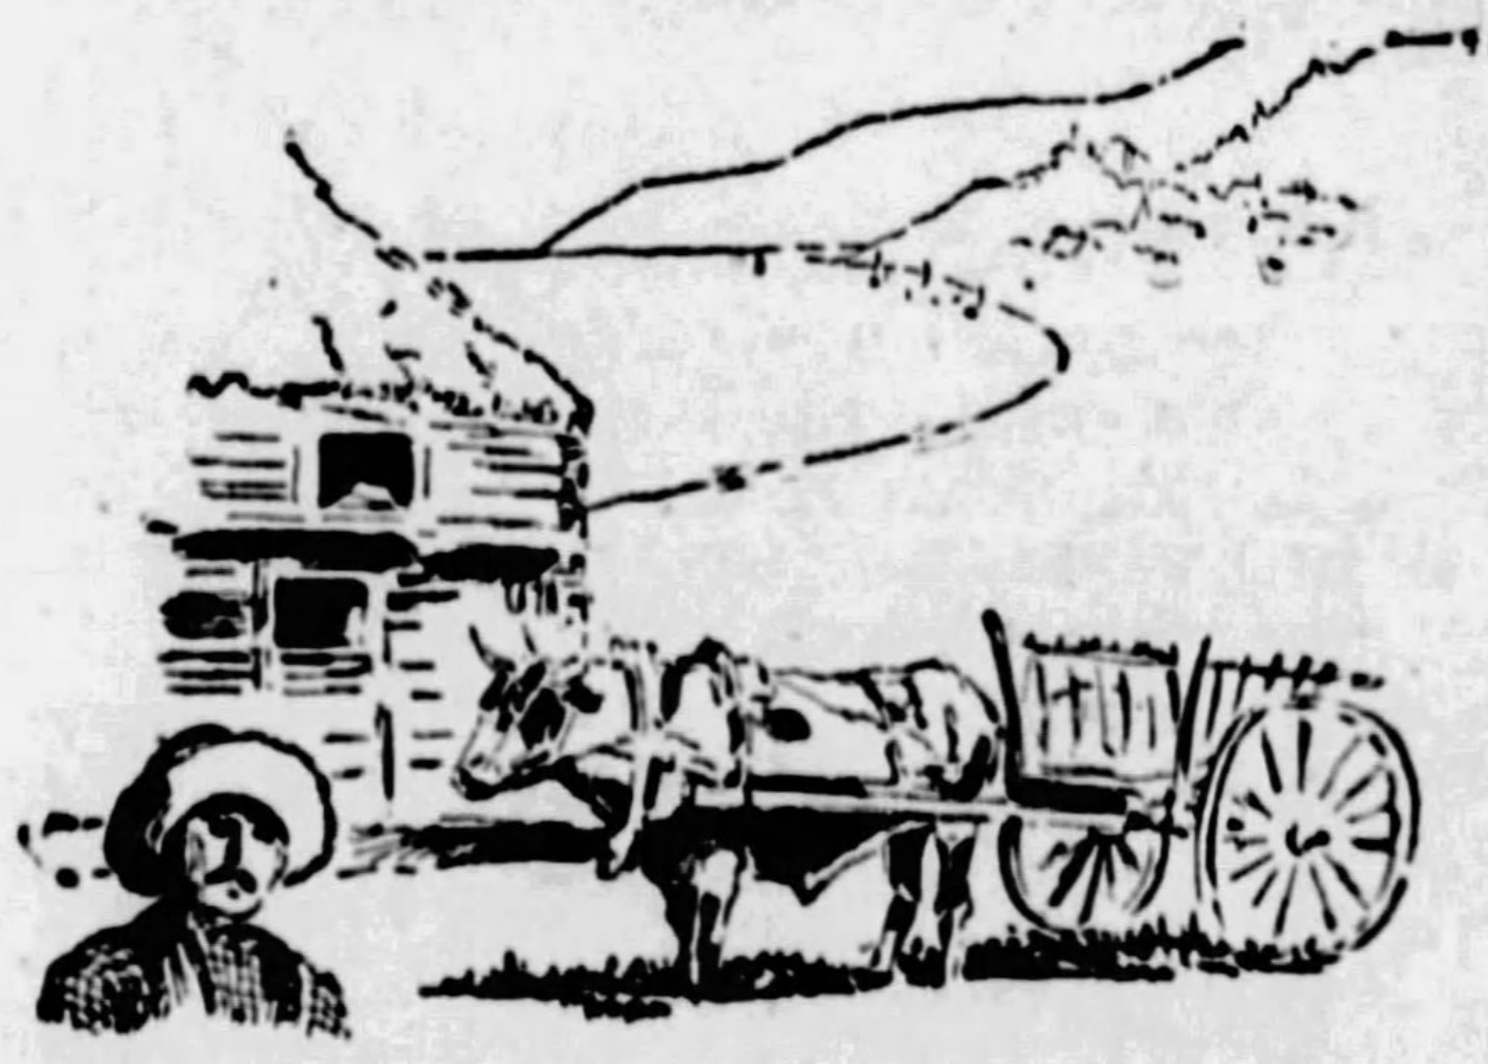
"That isn't the worst of it," Drusilla's voice was tragic, "I asked him if he were going to the dance and he said yes, he was going stag!"

For a moment they faced each other, stricken, then Drusilla began to cry softly. "Sam, what on earth can we do?" she begged piteously.

Sam considered. "I'll be back in less than an hour, Drusilla, and you be ready. There's an inn down the road that serves a good dinner and afterwards we'll go to a movie. Listen, now!" He took both hands. "I'm incapable of managing this younger generation's affairs, but I am competent enough to make you happy and myself in the bargain if—"

The front door opened noisily and they moved apart guiltily as Myra burst into the room. "Hello, just wanted to show you my slippers. You know I'm going to the dance with Bert's brother Jim, who was away studying pharmacy. The one you were talking to the other day, Mr. Willis, when I came into the store. I always was crazy about him but I thought he'd never give little me a second look!" She laughed with all the perfect happiness of ever changing youth. Her blue eyes were starry with promise.

When she had left Drusilla said softly: "Sam, don't say you were incapable. Just see the happiness you created for that girl," and as Sam Willis drew the dressmaker gently to him, she added, "and for me."



THIS is not the Bay of Naples, despite the azure blue of sky and water, but Murray Bay in old French Canada. That thatched barn hewn from whole trees a hundred years ago has turned the rich brown of a meerschaum pipe. Oxen or that vigorous breed "the habitant pony" pull lumbering carts. Women spin in wonderful colored wools, home dyed, rugs and bed spreads that you will want to take home.

Canada Steamship Lines' luxurious vessels ply the waters of the St. Lawrence River, from the Great Lakes to where it is joined by the distant Saguenay; nearly a thousand miles of surpassing beauty. Steamers may be boarded at Lewiston or Rochester in New York State, or Queenston, Toronto or Montreal in Canada. There are short trips and long, to fit every vacation purse.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Fall Gaiety Will Be Pleasant Change From Tiresome Social Inertia of Summer Months

DURING the earlier part of the summer, it was pleasant not to have any social duties to perform, and to be able to rest and entertain just a few friends in a refreshingly informal manner. But now, don't you think, this social inertia is becoming quite tiresome? For those who find life at summer resorts beginning to pall, and those who are becoming bored with bridge and golf at the country club, a little bit of gaiety will be a pleasant change. And just think, there are only two weeks more of August after this week is over, and then will come September with weddings and the first debuts and a hint of brilliant balls and teas.

That the winter season isn't so far off as it seemed a week or so ago I'm reassured every time I hear of a new debut date or autumnal wedding.

And it's so near fall folks are even making plans for that gayest of gay periods of the year—the holidays.

RHODA GAMBLE is coming out, I've just heard, during the Yuletide season. Rhoda, needless to remind you, is the daughter of the William K. Gambles, of Oakmont. Her parents will present their daughter at a tea dansant at the University Club on Saturday, December 22.

Rhoda was graduated in June from Miss Spence's School in New York. She also studied at La Cacita in Switzerland and at Villa Arrianne at Chailly, Switzerland.

MARIAN STONE, daughter of the Stephen Stones, of Forbes street, will come out, I believe, the latter part of October or early November. Her father was formerly Judge, you know.

Just how Marian, like almost all of the buds-to-be, is out of town. She is the house guest of Frances Eddy at West Falmouth, Cape Cod. Marian and Frances were roommates when they were at school at Dobbs Ferry.

EVEN though it's nearly fall, it's still summer, and summer news is interesting, even though autumn news is more exciting just now.

News has just reached us that the Robert Carsons have a cottage on Toylsome Lane, Southampton, and that they have as their guests now the Thomas A. Mellons. The Mellons will go to Mr. Mellon's camp at Lake Muskoka, Canada, I understand, for part of the week at least.

Robert Carson III is taking an active part, as you might expect, in the social life at Southampton. He will entertain at a house party for the younger set this week.

ANNOUNCEMENT is made of the marriage of Miss Sarah Margaret Carmen, daughter of Mrs. Harriet E. Carmen, of Ingram, and Charles Arthur Coltman, son of Mrs. Annie Coltman, of Haldane avenue, Crafton, which was solemnized Saturday morning in the Carmen home by the Rev. Dr. E. R. Davidson, pastor of the Ingram United Presbyterian Church. Miss Mary Carmen, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Ralph Read Coltman was his brother's best man. Dr. James Carmen gave his sister in marriage and Miss Katherine Morrison played the wedding music. A breakfast for the families followed the ceremony in the Fort Pitt Hotel. After a motor trip through the Adirondacks, Mr. and Mrs. Coltman will be at home in Ingram. Both Mr. and Mrs. Coltman attended Muskingum College.

MISS ROSE-MARIE GREEN, of the East End, whose marriage to John Edgar Huntington Allen, of Lexington, Ky., will be solemnized tomorrow, has been guest of honor at a number of parties lately. Miss Julia Wallace, of Mt. Lebanon, entertained at bridge Monday night and Mrs. Catherine Rudge, of Crafton, gave a tea Sunday. On Saturday, Miss Marjorie Kretz, of Center avenue, who is to be a bridesmaid, entertained with a bridge luncheon, and last Thursday night Mrs. G. E. Green, of Maple avenue, Edgewood, gave a bridge party and shower for her sister-in-law. That afternoon Miss Mary Bovard, Miss Doris Armstrong, Miss Helen Stuebner and Miss Ruth Bittner entertained at Gimbels' for Miss Green. Others who have entertained include Miss Dorothy Dailey, of the East End, Mrs. Hilda G. Collingwood, sister of Miss Green; Miss Catherine Coates and Mrs. Adelaid Fleischut.

U. S. FLAG PRESENTED TO CLUB FEDERATION

IN honor of Mrs. John F. Sippel, of Baltimore, new president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the executive board of the Maryland Federation has presented General Federation headquarters with a large American flag. Until the receipt of the gift, the Federation had no large flag suitable for outside display. A 22-inch Sheffield tray has been purchased by the presidents of state federations and presented to headquarters in honor of Mrs. Virginia White Speel, of Washington, first presiding officer of the Council of Presidents.

ALL poems submitted in the State Federation contest for the $10 prize offered by the Mothers' Club of Carrick are to be sent in triplicate, so that a copy may be given to each of the three judges. The poems may be in any form, but not longer than 30 lines. All entries are to be sent to Mrs. John M. Phillips, chairman of the American home department of the Federation, before September 1, the time having been extended from August 1.

MRS. JOSEPH SCHUTZMAN, president of the Women's International League for Peace, is asking for volunteers to "enlist in a most hopeful crusade."

"The time to stop the next war is 10 years before it starts; the time is ripe to abolish war, and the present generation can and must do it," says Mrs. Schutzman.

She asks Pittsburgh club women to write to President Coolidge petitioning him to take iniative in outlawing war between the United States and every like-minded nation. Also to ask him why United States Marines are in Nicaragua in "an unofficial war, a war that neither the Senate nor the people of the United States voted or passed on." Further the W. I. L. president urges the women to write their Senators and Congressmen asking them to support the Burton-Copper resolutions, which call for treaties with like-minded nations to renounce war and prohibiting the United States selling munitions, arms or implements of war to a country engaged in aggressive warfare. She suggests that program chairmen give place on next season's programs for discussion of international politics, speakers for which will be furnished by the International League.

SCION OF REVOLUTION, H. S. BRUNOT, 68, DIES

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Hilary S. Brunot, 68, onetime United States consul to St. Etienne, France, and for a brief period consul to Spain, died here yesterday at the home of his brother, John E. Brunot. Brunot was the son of Hilray B. Brunot, founder of the Greensburg Press, and his great-grandfather was Dr. Felix Brunot, a native of Morey Parish, France, and foster brother of Gen. Lafayette. Dr. Brunot came to America in 1777 with Lafayette and was a surgeon in the Continental Army. Brunot Island, in Pittsburgh, was named for Dr. Brunot, who settled there in 1797. The former consul leaves a second brother and three sisters, among them, Mrs. H. Brunot, of Pittsburgh.

UNIONTOWN GETS SPECIAL STAMP FOR AIRPORT FETE

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Officials of the Floyd Bennett air field here have received permission from the Postoffice Department at Washington to use a special cancellation stamp for all air mail out of Uniontown on the occasion of the dedication of the field, August 23.

The stamp will tell of the dedication of the field, named in honor of the American flyer who died of pneumonia following an attempt to carry aid to the stranded Bremen flyers at Greenley Island.

As there is no air mail service out of Uniontown, the mail will be carried by plane to Bettis Field, McKeesport, where it will be transferred to a regular mail plane.

It was announced some days ago that the dirigible Los Angeles would take part in the dedicatory exercises.

FAT-FEARING GIRLS TOLD CANDY WON'T SPOIL FIGURE

Girls who refrain from eating candy because they fear it will make them fat may enjoy their favorite sweetmeat without worry concerning weight, C. S. Clark, of Chicago, director of the National Confectioners Association, guaranteed last night in his address to Pittsburgh candy manufacturers and salesmen in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium.

Candy supplies the body only with fuel heat and does not build the tissues, Mr. Clark said.

The confectioners were meeting to discuss plans for the publicity campaign to be held here in connection with "Candy Week" and "Sweetest Day," to be observed in October.

Girls who eat a large quantity of candy do not smoke cigarets, and vice versa, Mr. Clark said he had noticed.

The speaker said Commander Richard E. Byrd intended to take a large quantity of candy with him on his Antarctic expedition for consumption by the crew.

DETROIT SEEKS POLICE MEET

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The Fraternal Order of Police, in convention here, has received from the Chamber of Commerce of Detroit an invitation to name the Michigan metropolis for the 1929 convention. Fort Wayne, Ind., also is expected to solicit the convention.

The delegates yesterday were taken through General Trexler's game preserve to see the elk and buffalo herds and afterward entertained at a country hotel dinner.

GUN THWARTS SECOND TRY OF GANG

County detectives and Turtle Creek police today are searching for three men believed to be members of the blackhand gang who yesterday made their second attempt in eight months to assassinate James Costa, 40, of Turtle Creek.

Several months ago Costa was wounded by alleged members of the gang. Yesterday three men in a touring car drove alongside of his automobile in Osborne street, Turtle Creek, and fired at him. He returned fire, police say, causing the gunmen to wreck and abandon their car.

Detectives are checking the license number of the car.

ALLEGED KILLER IS "PEEPER"

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—David Shanks, Negro bootblack held for Miss Jennie Constance's slaying, has been identified as the "Peeping Tom" who proved so annoying in Evanston last February. Shanks recently finished a six months' sentence following charges growing out of one of his "peeping" episodes.

Prosecuting attorneys expected to receive Shanks' plea in the Constance case today, as well as to set the date for his trial. Within a few hours yesterday he was indicted, pronounced sane, and received counsel to secure his legal rights. Before a crowd and under close guard, he re-enacted for officers, the slaying.

FORCED TO FLEE WITH MEN, WOMAN WRITES

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 15.—Leaving a note saying that four men were "after her," Mrs. Eph Buck, 26, wife of a Frenchman at Mt. Pleasant, disappeared from her home yesterday. The note was found on a shelf in a kitchen cabinet. "Four men are here after me. I only know one, and do not know his name. His face is familiar and he comes from Uniontown. If I don't go with them he threatens to kill me or my husband. Please take good care of the kiddies." The two children referred to are by a former marriage. Police have found no trace of her.

HUSBAND THREATENED TO USE AXE, WIFE SAYS

Mrs. Louise Lindheimer, McKnight road, Ross township, asks a divorce from Gustav Lindheimer, because he, she says, once threatened to chop her head off with an ax and another time threatened to shoot her. The Lindheimers were married in Germany in 1904. Later Mrs. Lindheimer says she followed her husband to another city and found he was posing as a single man. In 1921 they were living at the Five Mile House, where she says her husband attacked her so brutally the police were called.

Don't fool yourself:

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

End halitosis - it makes kissing a torture

Halitosis (unpleasant breath) has broken up many a love affair and friendship.

Don't fool yourself that you never have it. Because you simply cannot be sure of that. Halitosis never announces itself to the victim. But it does to others—and offends them.

Therefore, before meeting others, rinse the mouth with Listerine. If you have any evidence of halitosis, it destroys it. If you haven't (and you cannot tell) your mouth receives the benefit of a refreshing and invigorating treatment.

Halitosis yields to Listerine because it is a powerful deodorant. If you have any doubt of this, note how it removes the strong odor of onion and fish from the hands.

Keep a bottle of Listerine handy in home and office. Use it often. It pays.

HONOR AMONG THIEVES RECEIVES HARD BLOW

There is a hoary impression held by honest people that honor exists among thieves. It doesn't, if you care for the story of two confessed bandits reposing in our city jail.

Sylvester Mantz, 25, and John Otis, 23, told city detectives that banditry pays but, as the saying goes, it doesn't pay much. In the $17,000 payroll holdup of the Ward Baking Company and the $2,400 attack on the Pittsburgh Railways despatcher, Mantz and Otis, half of the holdup team, were supposed to cut half of the plunder. The remaining half was intended for William (Pug) Murphy, and George Schreiber, also behind the bars.

"But," mourned Otis, "we didn't get our split. Schreiber split the dough. And in the Ward job he told us the payroll was three grand and he slipped us half o' that. On the railways job Schreiber counted the do-re-mi and he said it reached $1,000. We got half of the thousand. When the papers printed the size of the purse Schreiber said they were wrong."

So instead of the $9,700 which they deserved, so to speak, the Messrs. Mantz and Otis, who are now at home at Short and Water streets, were limited to a paltry $2,000, by their own confession.

DRAGGED OFF WAGON, HUCKSTER IS ROBBED

Dragged off his wagon at Second avenue and Boehm street, by three highwaymen, one of them armed with a pistol, Abe Levine, 55, a huckster of Erin street, was robbed of $135 last night. Levine told Hazelwood police that the bandit trio had blocked his path with their automobile. They escaped in the machine. One of the thugs was a Negro, Levine said.

OHIO PLANE DEATHS LAID TO THRILL HUNT

Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15, 1928

In Flames

MRS. H. SZUTOWICZ

Mrs. Irene Szutowicz, 38, 1856 Main street, Sharpsburg, in St. Francis Hospital, died of burns received when her clothing ignited from gasoline which she was using in her home to clean a dress.

FIND BODY IN BOX

An aged man who is thought to have been living in a large box was found dead on a dump near the Banksville road, West End, late last night.

Police, who were called, found the body lying in the box on a bed of straw. A can of lard, spools of thread, needles and other necessities in the box, led to the belief that the man, aged about 75, had made his home there.

At the morgue it was stated that death probably was due to natural causes. Nothing was found in his effects to lead to his identity, morgue attaches said.

2 ROBBERS DROP RING WORTH $3,800

Two robbers who held up Louis and Isadore Americus as the brothers were putting their automobile in the garage of their home at 219 Roup street early today are $3,800 poorer because of carelessness.

They took $5,000 in jewelry and $28 cash and sped away in the Americus car, but when the auto was recovered at Bayard street and Morewood avenue at noon a diamond, worth $3,800, lay on the floor of the machine.

Before the robbers departed they insured their getaway by locking their victims in the garage.

NORTH OUT OF SENATE RACE

HARRISBURG, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Lee S. North, of Punxsutawney, today notified the State Bureau of Elections of his withdrawal as the Democratic and Prohibition nominee for the State Senate in the Thirty-second district. North was defeated for the Republican nomination by Harvey G. Bowers, also of Punxsutawney.

North lost the Republican nomination for the Senate four years ago, but was successful on the Prohibition ticket at the November election.

LABOR AT BROWNSVILLE ASKS FOOD FOR MINERS

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The United Trades Council of Brownsville issued an appeal to organized labor throughout the country for assistance in aiding idle miners in this area. The appeal said the council had maintained soup kitchens from February 19 to July 1, when the kitchens were closed because of lack of funds. It was said that about 1,500 persons had been fed each month.

BILLY DeBECK GREETS PITTSBURGH

Billy DeBeck, creator of Spark Plug and Barney Google, was one of the "home town boys" who made good in the city. He came to The Pittsburgh Gazette Times along about 1909 and remained here three years to do cartoons. Though now living in Paris, he has not forgotten old associations. The sketch reproduced was sent for the series, "Pittsburgh as Others See Us," from letters collected by Roy Jansen, of Pittsburgh, but the feature terminated last week. The coon was emblematic of The Pittsburgh Gazette Times, a figure originated by Charles Payne, creator of the old "S'Matter Pop" strip. The other figures are as well known as presidential candidates. TWO DIE AS SHIP HITS RIVER; 3 SAFE

TILTONVILLE, O., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—An attempt by the pilot of an airplane to give his passengers a thrill during a pleasure ride through the clouds was believed today responsible for the plunge of a large cabin plane into the Ohio River near here, last night, Two men, the pilot and a passenger, perished. Three other passengers escaped.

August P. Haucke, 35, pilot, of Rosedale, L. I., and George Giffin, 35, of Bridgeport, O., were those killed.

Haucke and Giffin, it was found when their bodies were removed from the submerged plane, were badly hurt when thrown against the instrument board. Whether their injuries or drawning caused death was undetermined.

ESCAPE, VIA WINDOWS

The other three men, in rear seats, broke windows and crawled from the cabin.

Two of them—Harry Duncan, 23, and William Machin, 26, both of Martins Ferry, O., swam to shore. Joseph Duncan, 47, father of Harry Duncan, injured his shoulder in shattering a window, and was aided to shore by a boatman.

Joseph Duncan, who described the flight as his first, said Haucke had made several abrupt dives, and that when the plane started another, he placed his hands over his eyes as he had done on the previous occasions. The next thing he knew he was trapped in the water filled cabin, Duncan said.

IMPACT LIGHT

The impact with the water was not hard, according to Duncan. All three men said they thought the pilot was merely giving them "the works" and that if something happened to the plane in mid-air, they were unaware of it.

When the plane was dragged to shore, its engine was missing and one wing had been broken off. Witnesses on shore said it had appeared to them as if the pilot had swept down in an effort to frighten the man in the boat.

And the wing struck the water and broke off as the machine turned as if to again take the air.

Haucke, whose widow and a young daughter reside at Rosedale, came to Wheeling, W. Va., about a month ago to enter the employ of the Haldeman Aircraft Company. His duties included the piloting of ships on sightseeing trips. His plane was kept atScott Field, near Yorkville, O.

White Guns Again on Smith

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—William Allen White, noted Kansas editor, retracted his retraction regarding his aspersions against Gov. Smith in a cablegram to former Gov. Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, director of publicity of the Hoover campaign yesterday.

On his arrival in Europe, where he had gone for a vacation, it was stated that White was surprised to find his amended indictment against Gov. Smith had been misunderstood by many friends in America. He therefore cabled Gov. Allen:

"In my case against Gov. Smith, I have made no retraction. On the prostitution issue I proved my case, got a conviction and suspended sentence. I only did this because I felt that a debate on the subject of harlotry was not worthy of a presidential campaign. But if Gov. Smith tries to wise-crack his way out of his record I shall come back at him with the proven evidence.

"The complete photostatic transcript of the Smith record is in New York, and I will order it produced if the Democratic candidate acts up."

SAYS HE'S EASY ON MOTORISTS

Burgess Walter P. Berner, of Sharpsburg, holds no secret hearings in traffic cases, he declared today, and denied a report that newspapermen and others are excluded.

He said that his officers enforce the borough traffic ordinance and the motor vehicle laws, but that he always is lenient with motorists from a distance who are not familiar with the rules. In the last six weeks, he said, fines had been imposed in only two cases.

URGES VOTERS TO REGISTER

Qualification for assessment and registration, a preliminary to voting in November's presidential election, is a matter of greatest importance to the voting population of Pennsylvania right now, in the opinion of Gen. Edward Martin, chairman of the Republican State Committee.

In a statement issued today Chairman Martin urged the electors of Pennsylvania to attend to this civic duty at the first opportunity.

He said that to be really effective "support to Hoover and Curtis and the whole Republican ticket must be translated into votes in the ballot box election day, November 6."

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

JOHN STALEY, magistrate in the Pittsburgh Traffic Court, has one of the most trying positions in the municipality. His calendar is filled with so many cases that at the end of a week Magistrate Staley sometimes wonders whether anyone ever goes out in an automobile and gets home without having trouble of one kind or another.

He hears modest motorists vowing that their cars cannot do 30 miles an hour, much less travel at the preposterous speed as alleged in the charge made against them. He learns that in minor collisions it nearly always was the other fellow's fault and he then is mystified to hear that the other fellow has a version entirely different.

• • •

THE hundreds of cases that come before him have made Magistrate Staley just a little skeptical of the honesty of mankind, which skepticism is reflected in certain ironies he indulges in as the witnesses march before him in a vast parade.

Any morning in the Frankstown Avenue Police Station you may hear Magistrate Staley trying to solve mysteries that would have thwarted even Sherlock Holmes.

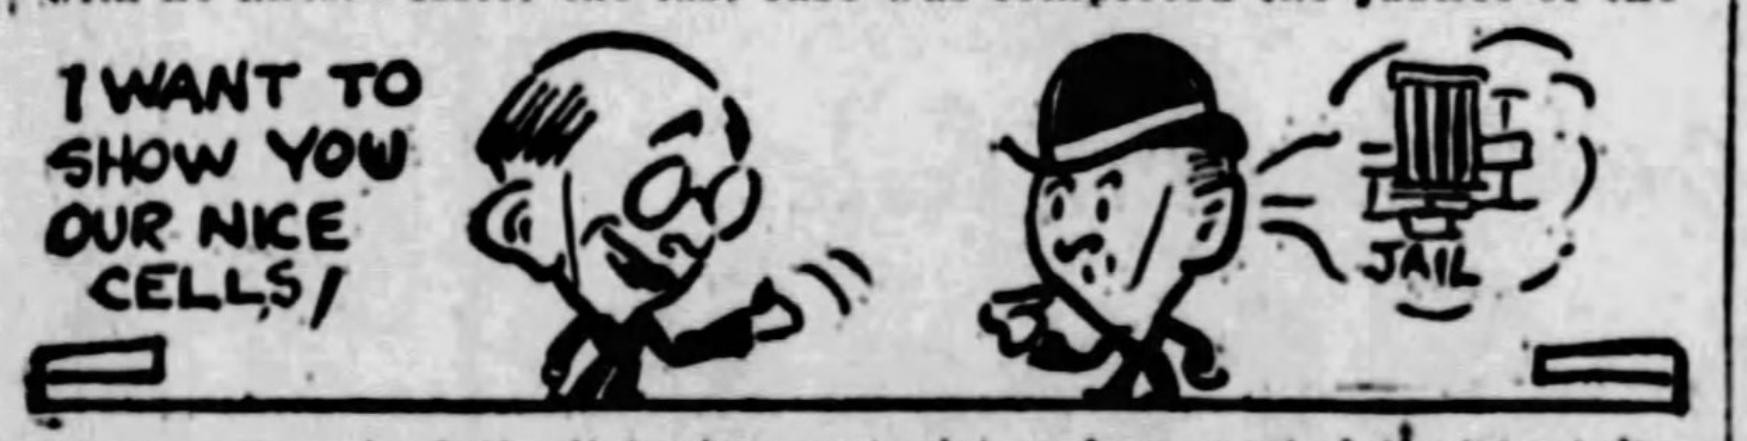
A motorist, the other evening, found his car not functioning properly and he called his garage to have a man sent to the disabled machine. Meanwhile, the motorist, noticing he was handy to a justice of the peace office, went in to listen to the cases. There were a number of automobile cases on the docket. The motorist in question listened attentively as case after case was called. Now and then he saw the justice of the peace eye him ever so casually.

• • •

THE listening motorist noted how many alleged offenders were getting off with no fines and very mild reprimands. Where negligence seemed apparent only the costs of the case were assessed with no fines. After the last case was completed the justice of the peace approached the listening motorist and suggested that he take a look at the cell rooms, quite handy. Somewhat mystified the motorist made a tour of inspection. The mystery cleared when after the tour was over the justice of the peace said:



I WANT TO SHOW YOU OUR NICE CELLS!
JAIL

"You're from the Motor Club aren't you?"

Such is the good effect of the recent campaign of the Pittsburgh Motor Club to protect unoffending motorists from harsh justices of the peace who have been nicknamed "fining squires."

TWO attorneys of Pittsburgh were driving through the Armstrong tubes the other day when they noted just in front of them a huckster wagon. Just to see what would happen the attorney who was driving the machine proposed to bump the huckster wagon ever so slightly. Accordingly, he moved up slowly behind the wagon and allowed his bumper to click against the rear wheels of the wagon. Followed such a turmoil that the attorneys could not hear themselves speak. "Damages, damages, damages," shouted the driver who danced and pranced around his wagon and around the automobile. He was so enthusiastic over his having been bumped that he could not be stilled. The little joke cost the two attorneys $1 as the driver would not settle for a cent less.

In Pittsburgh there are no less than 700 pesons who formerly lived in Reynoldsville, Pa They have formed a Pittsburgh club of Reynoldsville people Not only that, but they hold a picnic here every year and this year they will hold their picnic September 1 in Schenley Park. Mike Farrell sends in the news. Prominent former Reynoldsville boys are Jimmy De Hart and Carl Bohren, athletes who made Pitt history.

GENE AUSTIN LOST AT SEA

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(INS.)—Gene Austin, popular radio singer and balladist of millions of phonograph owners throughout the world, is believed to have been lost at sea off the coast of North Carolina during the recent tropical storm along the east coast. With Austin were his wife and three other persons, who also are feared lost.

Austin was cruising in his yacht Blue Heaven off the southern coast of the United States when he is believed to have been caught in the hurricane. This became known when Aycock Brown, of Atlantic Beach, N. C., a friend of Austin's, wired the latter's New York office asking if anything had been heard from Austin since the storm abated.

ITALIANS HOLD "FEAST" DAY

Italians of the Hill district are celebrating the "Feast of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary" today and there are parades, band concerts, fireworks and much sending up of bombs and other explosives.

Reverberating between the hills of the South Side and the North Side, the bombs echo and re-echo through the downtown district with staccato-like detonation. Services were held at various times during the day in St. Peter's Church, Fernando street.

LONG SEARCH ENDS; FORGER ARRESTED

A two and a half year search for a man who had forged a $10 government check stolen from a mail box is ended. W. A. Lanbvoight, head of the secret service in this territory, revealed today, with the arrest in Flint, Mich., of Guy L. Weaver, alias George Howard. He will be taken to Wheeling, W. Va., for trial Lanbvoight said.

GRANDDAUGHTER GETS $11,000 FROM ESTATE

Approximately half of her $22,000 estate was left to a granddaughter, Mary Reagan, by Elizabeth Wilson, of 103 Capitol avenue, whose will was filed for probate today. Three daughters received bequests—Sarah Jane Reagan, $5,000; Elizabeth Lanning, of Scotland, $2,000 and Maria Fee, of Ireland, $1,000.

WOUNDED CANADIAN VET ENDS LIFE BY HANGING

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Scott McClure, 53, ended his life here yesterday by hanging at the home of his sister, Mrs. Frank Delgrosse. McClure served in the Canadian Army during the World War, losing the sight of one eye and suffering from the effects of gas. He had been in poor health.

FINED $10 FOR DRIVING HORSE SANS TAIL LIGHT

BUTLER, Pa., Aug. 15.—Harry James of East Brady was fined $10 by Alderman George R. Kearns for driving a horse and buggy without displaying lights on the vehicle. A previous appearance on a similar charge had drawn a reprimand from the alderman.

WEST VIEW WIDOWER LEAVES $8,800 ESTATE

Alois Kriberny, a widower, of 57 Oakwood avenue, West View, divided his $8,800 estate among his five children, in his will which was filed for probate today.

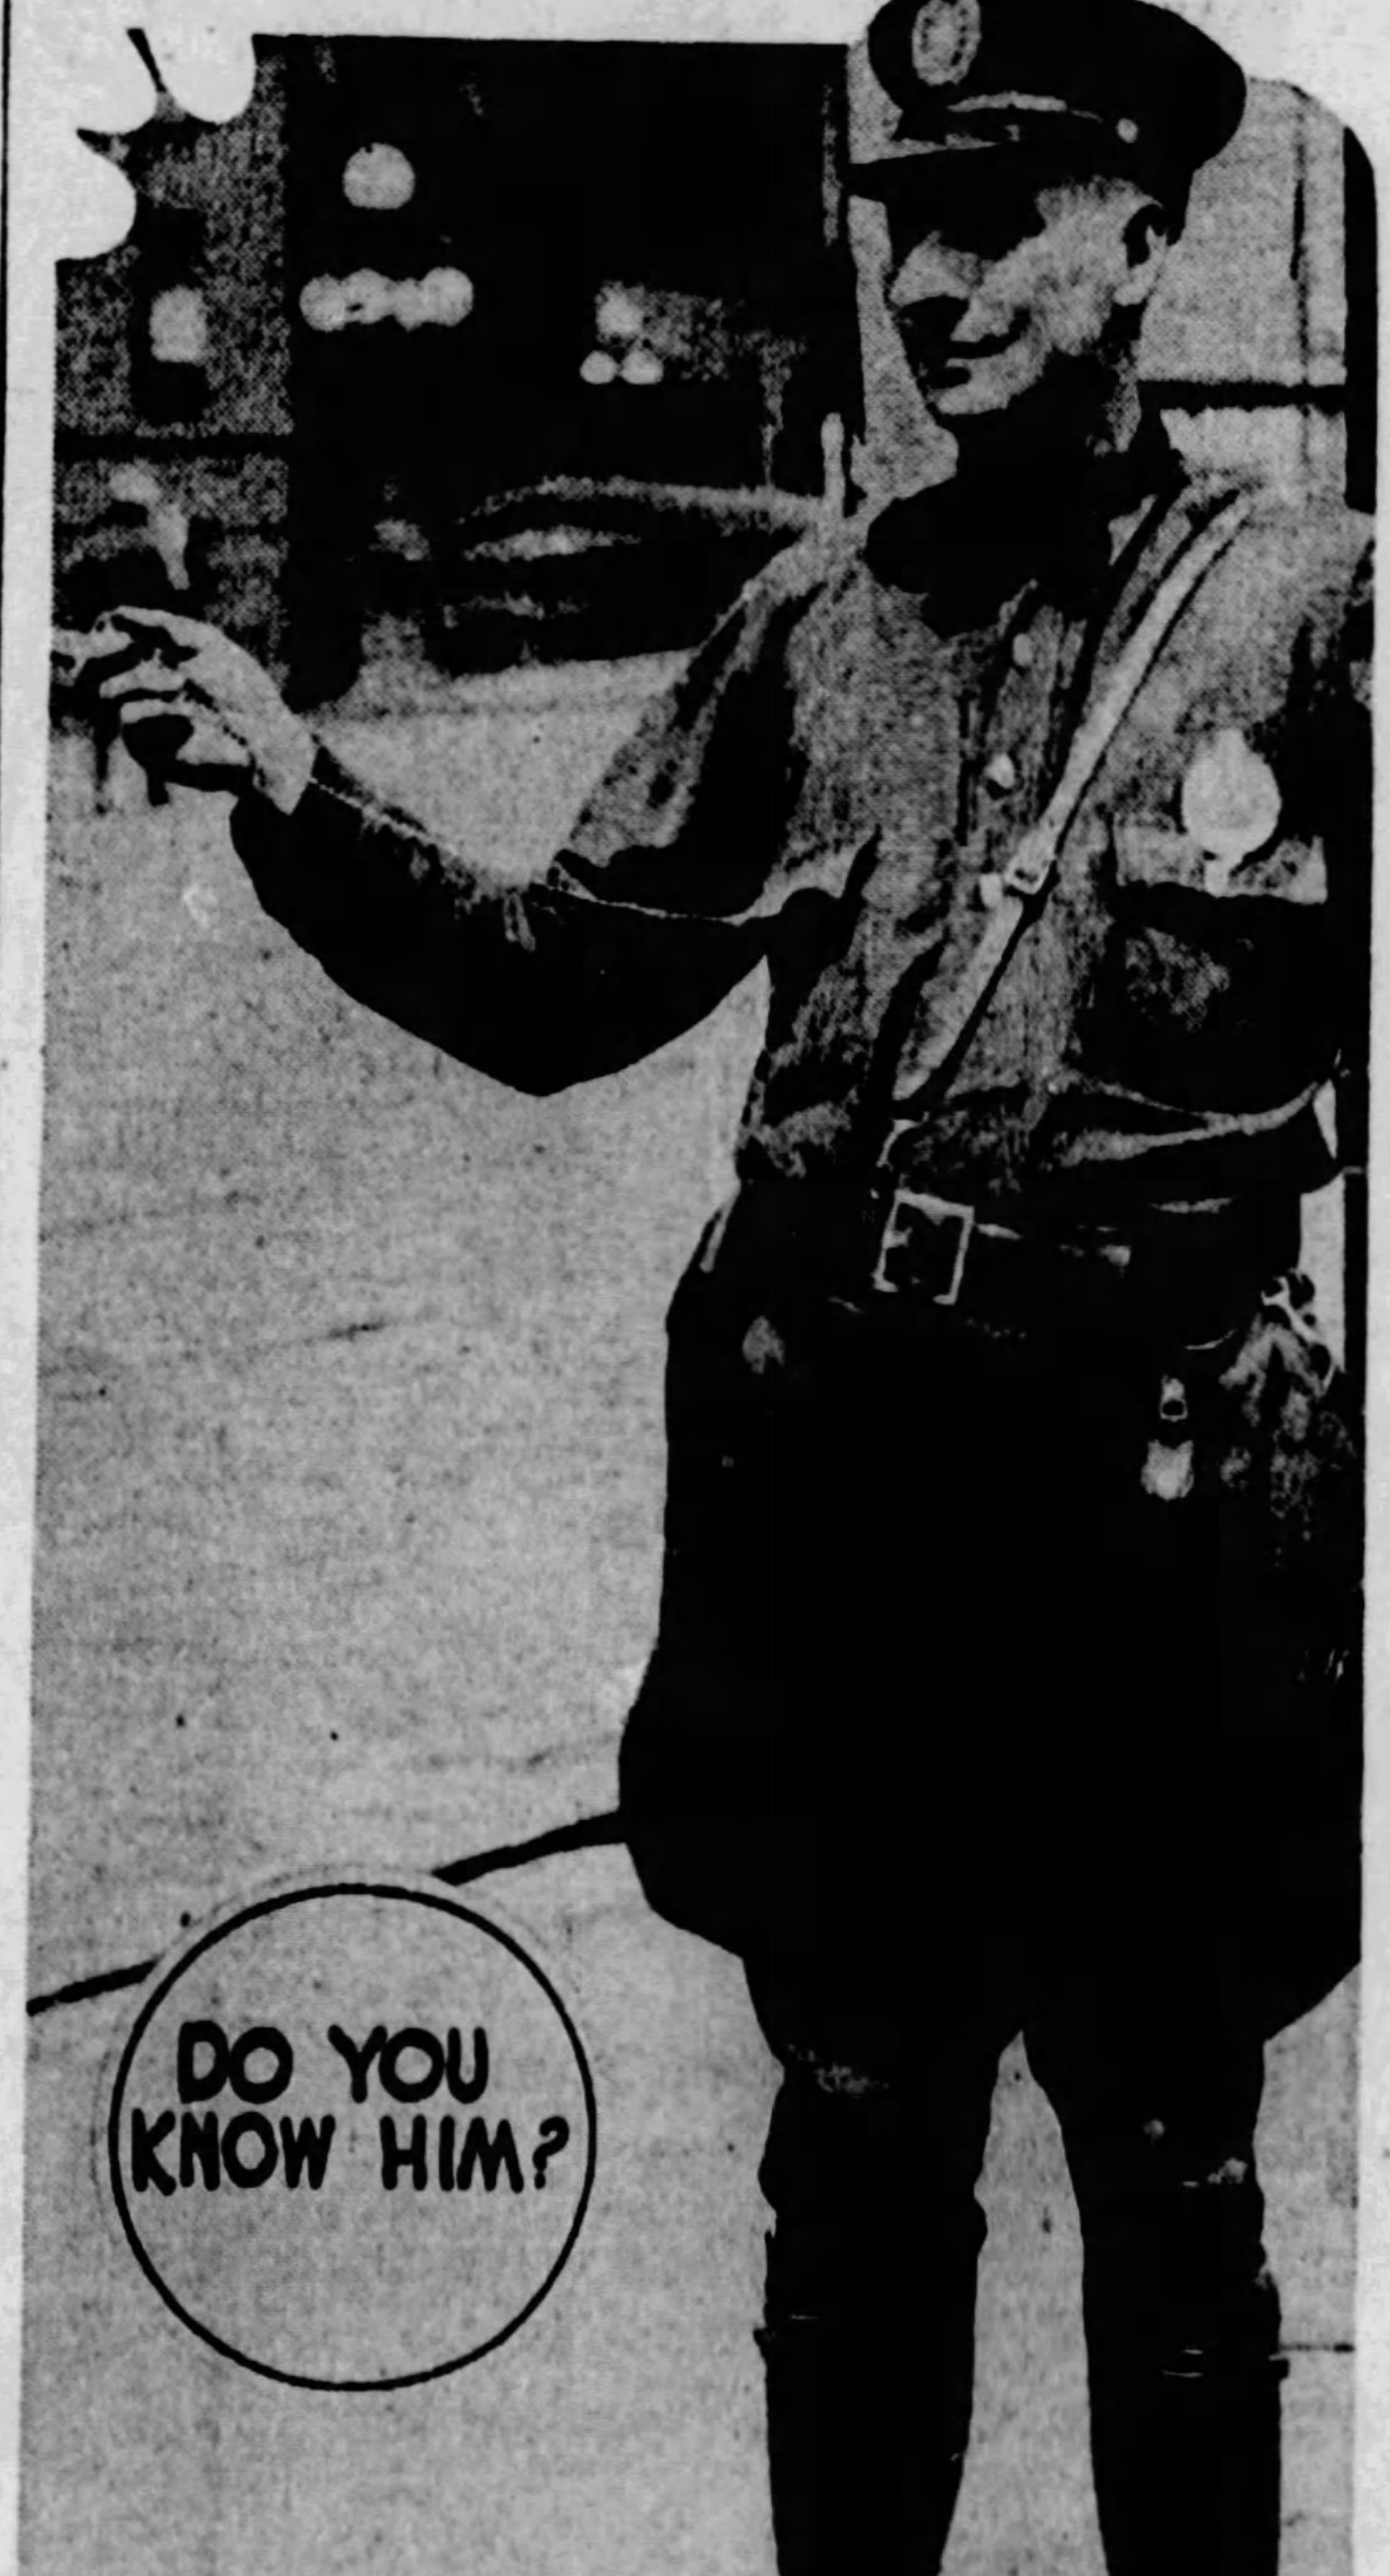
PANAMA CANAL SWIMMER MENACED BY ALLIGATORS

PANAMA, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Richard Halliburton, American author, has started an attempt to swim through the Panama Canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific, slightly more than 50 statute miles. He will swim during the day and rest at night.

The undertaking is attended by grave dangers, especially in Gatun Lake, which is infested by alligators. Halliburton will therefore be accompanied by a boat carrying a sharpshooter.

Halliburton started yesterday from Cristobal Bay and after swimming four hours ended his day's journey a short distance from Gatun locks. He will be locked through the three steps of the locks to Gatun Lake today and begin his dangerous swim across that body of water.

DO YOU KNOW YOUR OWN "TRAFFIC COP?"



DO YOU KNOW HIM?

FRIEND OF YOURS?

How many of Pittsburgh's "traffic cops" do you know? Can you call by name the chap nearest your home? The fellow you pass halfway to your office in the morning? The men who wave you through downtown streets? The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is introducing them to Pittsburgh. Here is one for today. His name tomorrow!

YESTERDAY'S "TRAFFIC COP" WAS F. F. MEYERS, 30, MARRIED, 1706 RUTHERFORD STREET, BEECHVIEW, WHO WORKS AT SIXTH AND FIFTH AVENUES. HE HAS SEEN FOUR YEARS OF POLICE SERVICE AS A TRAFFIC PATROLMAN.

ODOR LEADS TO BREWERY RAID

Detecting an odor of beer issuing from a two-story brick building at 912-14 West Diamond street, late yesterday, Federal prohibition agents discovered a "wildcat" brewery in operation, they reported Twelve barrels of high test beer were seized and 2,500 gallons of beer mash stored in eight vats, and other equipment was destroyed.

Seizing an automobile containing a bottle partly filled with moonshine, at East Ohio and Chestnut streets, late yesterday, the agents commanded two occupants of the car to drive to headquarters. On their way one of them is alleged to have tipped the bottle in the machine, but the raiders managed to obtain enough for evidence.

Entering a saloon at 733 Fifth avenue, McKeesport, yesterday noon to serve a temporary padlock injunction, agents said they observed a glass of whisky on the bar. They seized 36 pints of home brew and several bottles of whisky and arrested Joseph Silan, 33, their report stated.

Five still were confiscated in raids on seven places in McKees Rocks.

3 HURT IN CRASH IN AIKEN AVENUE

Driving his automobile against a tree at Aiken avenue and Pembroke place, late yesterday, to avoid striking another machine, Frank Fusca, of 564 Corry avenue, Braddock, caused injuries to himself and two passengers. Anna Tallant, 24, and Vincent Degran, 45, of the Braddock address, the passengers, were treated at the Homeopathic Hospital. They were cut and bruised. The automobile was badly damaged.

'COME AND GET IT' SLOGAN FOR REUNION OF WARRIORS

Thousands of doughnuts, barerls of coffee and plenty of other good things to eat are being ordered for the Grand Tenth Reunion of American soldier veterans at Kennywood Park a week from next Saturday.

It's going to be the grandest veterans' reunion ever held, for they're all invited—those who served in the Civil War and on down to the latest Marine invalided home from Nicaragua. It's to celebrate the passing of 10 years since American soldiers were fighting so fiercely in France.

Every veteran is invited. All they'll have to do is to identify themselves at the booth inside the Kennywood gate and get a string of tickets good for all amusements.

The Civil War veterans, and the disabled World War veterans now in Pittsburgh hospitals will be very special guests of The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. They'll be provided with transportation from town and the hospitals and back again and there'll be a very special dinner in the dining room at Kennywood for them.

The American Red Cross will have four safety-first tents and the Salvation Army lassies will pass out coffee and doughnuts. It'll all be very much like it was 10 years ago except—this year they'll merely sit out in the cool grass and tell the kiddies about it.

It's really going to be a Grand Reunion. And all the veterans are invited. Just come to the gate and identify yourself.

'IT'S MY WIFE' NO ALIBI FOR ONE-ARM DRIVERS

NORTH BERGEN, N. J., Aug. 15.—Even if she is your wife, it is "one-arm driving" in Jersey and prohibited, Recorder Miles ruled in imposing a fine upon a motorist who drove with an arm around his spouse.

Will Rogers Says

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., Aug. 15.

In the old days some politician had to attack the trusts to get in the papers. Then in these late years he either had to rob the government or be killed by his wife.

But the new way is to bolt your party and jump to the opposing candidate.

They always announce that they will take their supporters with them. Their support generally consists of a wife who didn't register, and two children too young to vote.

Then if he makes speeches for his new party candidate that will more than offset his own vote, so I know either party hates to see a bolter coming his way.

Yours, WILL.

BUGS BAER Says

REMARKABLE thing about food is that liver is now accepted in society at its face value.

ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Doctors have discovered that there is health and vitality in ordinary calf's liver. The result is that liver now costs 90 cents a pound, win or lost.

Yet, it wasn't so long ago that liver was so cheap that nobody could eat it and be respected by his neighbors.

If you had liver for supper you used to pull down your window shades and keep it a secret.

Now you throw open the front doors and broadcast it. Twenty years ago, the butcher would slice off a pound of sirloin and then toss in a chunk of liver for the cat.

The cats were smart. They ate the liver and never told anybody that it was good. If the butchers ever realized that liver was good to eat, they would have got that liver back if they had to run the cat through a sausage machine.

Having found that liver is expensive, everybody wants to eat it. They would eat a mule's ears for the same reason.

But we can not understand the sudden rise of liver in the social scale. No matter how you fry it, in cracker crumbs, gasoline or perfume, it is still liver.

There is such a craze for liver that it may result in a panic. You had better buy your liver now and avoid the rush.

Notice to Mary! Try Donora Police

DONORA, Pa., Aug. 15.—The morale of Donora's police force is shattered, the prisoners are complaining and Acting Chief Titus is in a quandary—all because of a lamb.

The lamb, a stray, was picked up in an alley. It's being kept in a cell in the otherwise empty women's department. The police are tired of playing servant to it, the prisoners say it disturbs their slumbers, and the chief can't find anybody who'll take it.

LOANS $10 TO GET $1 JOB; LOSES BOTH

Adam Stock, 13, of 7141 Hermitage street, had a $10 bill when he started out to pay the electric bill this morning. Enroute he met a man who offered him $1 for delivering some packages. As he walked along the man remembered he needed $1 to make payment on the packages and induced Stock to lend him the money which was to have been used to pay the electric bill. The stranger excused himself, promising to return. When Stock tired of waiting he notified the police.

HALF WIVES by Winifred Van Duzer

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Ione Farr, just out of high school, gets a position with Max Weimar's music publishing house in New York. Her chum, Marie Karey, is engaged to Palmer Elliott, a young lawyer, and plans to marry him on a 50-50 basis. She is always holding up as a model Ione's sister, Jenepher, who is married, has a small son and also holds a fine position in a smart New York shop. Benz, Weimar's office manager, takes Ione to Tin Pan Alley where she meets the famous song writer, Wolfie Speed. Ione feels that her sister's little boy is suffering through Jenepher's trying to be a wife and a wage earner at the same time. Alan Blake, an accompanist for the Weimar concern, shows his admiration for her and Benz takes her motoring and tells her he is crazy about her, but Ione realizes that she is in love with Blake. Marie is married and during her honeymoon her place at the office is taken by Fluff Hartwick, a confirmed flirt. Her salary is raised and Weimar plans to give her a big chance. She asks Blake if they can't be married at once but he scorns the idea of living on a woman's money. Marie tells Ione to watch out for Fluff Hartwick.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"I WON'T be jealous," she told herself angrily. "Degrade our love in such a sordid way! Better love should be torn out of my heart than such a thing should come to it."

And she would not let the image of Fluff enter her mind; she set herself against that. But she could not free herself from weariness.

Her work was absorbing; it seemed more interesting as days went on. She flung herself into it with abandon, delighting in a slow, sure development of her ability. But she found herself sinking into monotony after a few weeks.

No lights, no music, no bright laughter. Alan took her to the table d'hote sometimes to lunch and occasionally to a movie. He was filling his evening with work as a rule and hers were spent over a book or playing with Timmy. It was not very thrilling for a girl of 18.

She began to wonder if Alan would give up everything if their positions were reversed. Of course he hadn't wished her to; he had urged her to go out with Benz; to see the shows and have the amusements he, himself, could not give her.

Her isolation was self-imposed. Yet she felt he was pleased that she wished it that way.

But sometimes she looked longingly at the gray and nickel roadster parked at the curb and she refused Benz' invitations automatically, with none of the high glow she had felt at first.

One evening when Alan was busy and she was gloomily starting home alone, she walked down to the street with Benz. He saw her wistful glance go toward the car.

"Be good to an old fellow for once my dear! Hop in, won't you? Drive you up country in a jiffy!" Smiling down at her he was, pushing her along.

Her feet went forward of themselves it seemed. She sank on the cushions with a sigh. It told him worlds, but he pretended not to see, bending over the gear lever.

The sharp fresh rush of winter wind streaked crimson in her cheeks and whipped out her hair in little, jetty curls under the small hat; she sang softly.

When they were speeding on the country road he leaned down, looked into her face. "Happy, Ione? And you've denied me so long!"

She laughed, slipping her hand through his arm. "I'll do better from now on. Well, I've been getting sort of poky, maybe."

Lanny's face came before her suddenly. Lanny's eyes with all the hazel flecks running together, smiling as they had smiled that afternoon on the mountain. They seemed to change; to hold the look of pain she caught before they were turned away the night he saw her getting into the car with Benz.

She had a wild impulse to get out—find the nearest station—take a train home. It was over in a second; protest was beating madly through her mind.

"Give up this—give up the rushing wind, the night all stars—give up everything? Oh, yes, give it up! Sit at home waiting, always waiting, and you too proud to take love! I'm young, I want to live!"

She twisted her hands and her thought cried. "Too proud—too proud!"

CHAPTER XXI.

BENZ sent the roadster skimming straight through Englewood, took the corner all in a rush and headed north on the west road.

"O. K. Ione? Spare one evening out of all your life; that's not too much, is it? One short evening for a lonesome fellow?"

"You're going to Sunset Inn? Oh!" She felt a tingle of excitement, a half defiant gaiety. Skimming the wide freedom of the night, swinging jauntily as if the road were winding on the engine out ahead.

She felt, too, a surging gratitude to Eddie Benz. Kind of him to bother so, to take her out when he could choose from so many.

She said, "Why do you say 'lonesome,' kind sir? The last thing I'd call you, indeed, were it for none other than your little friend the Vine."

He laughed at that and hunched a shoulder. "She's the original vine. So you've been watching her tricks? She's got them all. She knows the first one Eve pulled for Adam's befuddlement and all the others invented since. She's the best possible example of the species vampire!"

"But—why, you don't mean that? I didn't think—this maybe sounds mean? But I didn't think her so bright. And not wonderful——"

"Of course not." He chuckled, mightily amused. "The true vampire isn't what you'd call bright. She's just specialized. Knows her stuff and sticks to it. It doesn't need ability but a certain type of feminine mind. You wouldn't undestand it, Ione. Not in a million years. You're too honest."

"Certainly she isn't wonderful. It's only in the movies that vampires are that. They're not dark, slinky creatures with cryptic eyes that you see coming to grief in the last reel.

"More likely to be frilly blondes, my dear. Bunches of curls over their ears and a way of clasping their hands."

"Oh——" She choked with laughter, "Fluff does that."

"What did I tell you? Always ingenue and older than Eve!"

Sunset Inn was lighted softly, with candles; they scattered pools of yellow light on the tables and sent deep shadows scurrying here and there. Benz pulled their table up to the grate, where a log fire burned; the waiter brought them goblets of spiced, fragrant wine, steaming hot.

"Glad you came, fair one? Better than going up on the train?" He asked that with eyes, lips and smile all flashing.

She felt as if she were sinking in the gentle light, in the pungent sweetness of the wine. "You're a darling, Eddie!"

He said, abruptly, tense: "You'll mean that some time. I'm not saying much. Not now. You did not think I'd forget? I love you—little bright darling"—— Eyes possessing hers, voice husky.

Her thought went back to Fluff.

"I thought a real vamp bewitched folks, Eddie? How do you get off so well?"

"You're immune after one experience. Mine was long ago. Besides I didn't get clear entirely. She talked me into giving her your old job with a hard-luck story. She's probably the world's worst stenographer."

Ione sometimes watched Fluff Hartwick curiously after that. Vapid little creature who fulfilled the name they called her by. Aimless she seemed as a bit of thistledown floating on the wind, with her silly jargon and her pose and her flimsy finery.

Alan came in one day when she had the office to herself; swinging along in his ardent youth, light head high.

"Ah, the sweet one! How about it? Quick!"

"Yes, Lanny, always. You?"

"Best in the world! Just saw Weimar—want to hear what he said? Barns is thinking of leaving. When he goes I'm to have his place."

"Oh—then"— Her heart rushed. Barns was assistant to the head of the studios. It would be an advance for Alan; in time he might become manager.

"Glad? In a little while, Io! You don't mind waiting now? Not so much? Darling——"

He went down the long office, walking buoyantly. Out near the entrance he glanced back. It was then that Fluff sprang up and ran after him. She locked her hand on his arm and began tripping along at his side, chattering up excitedly.

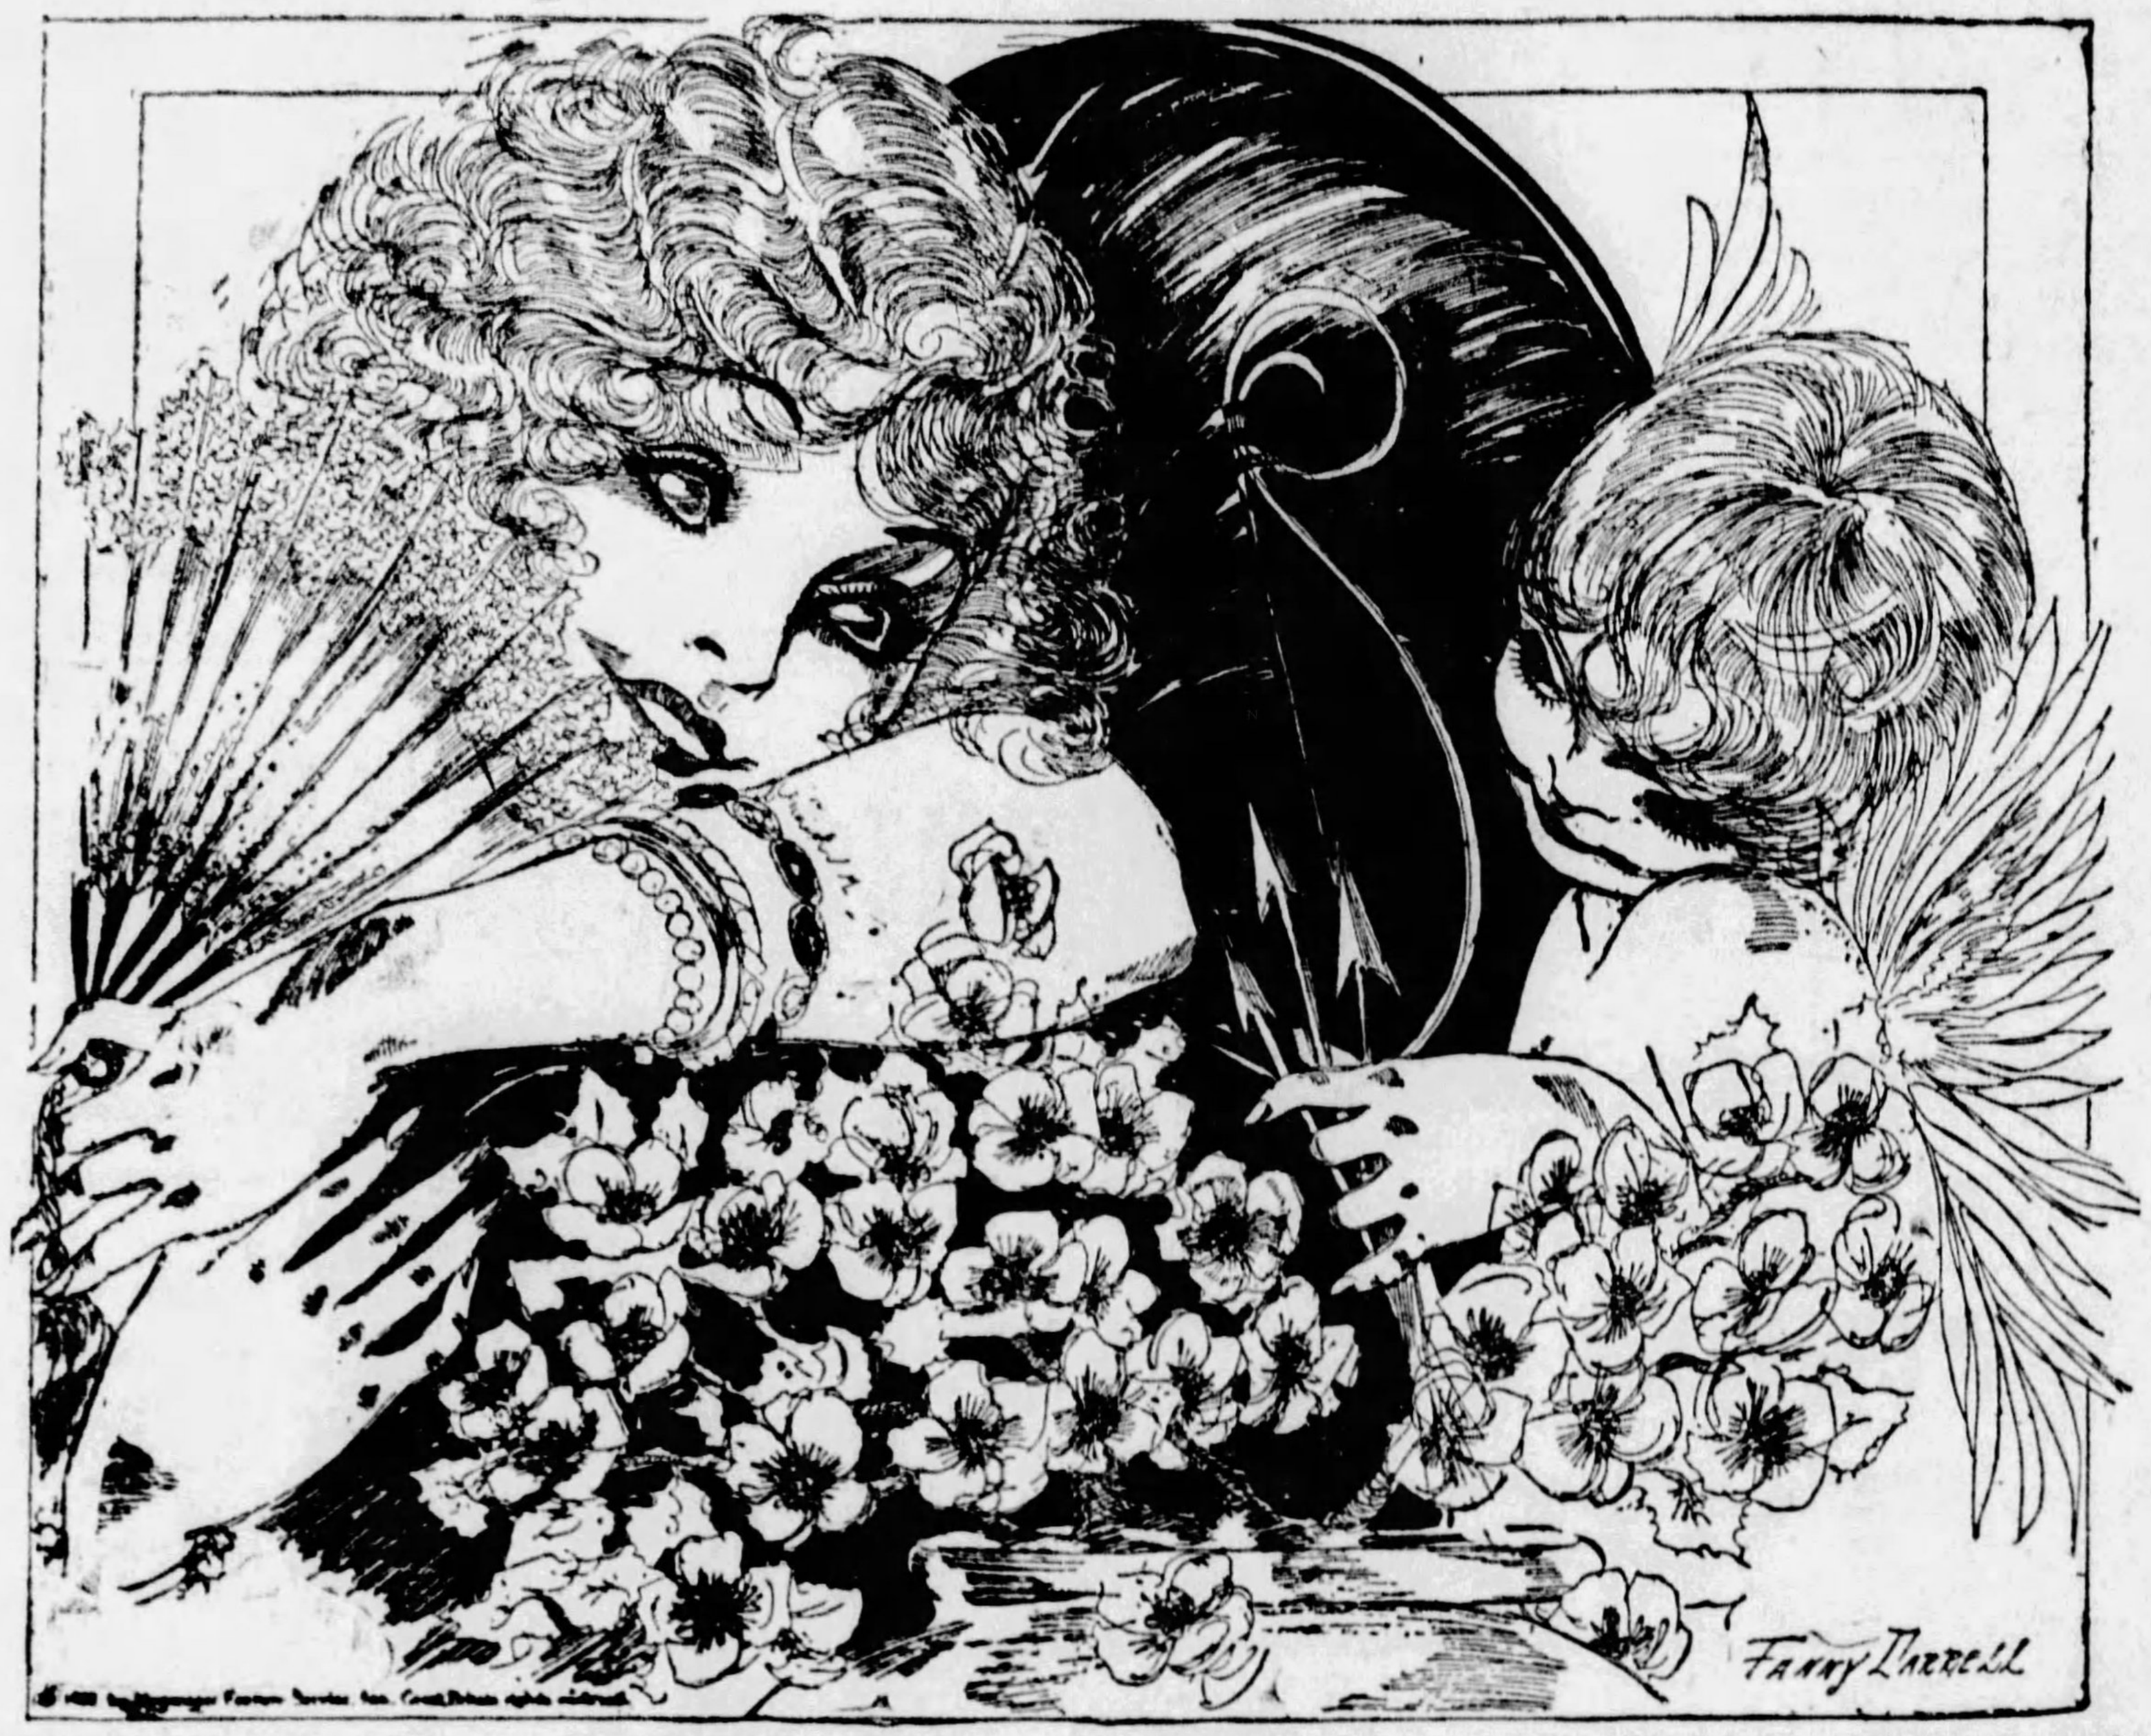
Love's Weapons -:- -:- By Fanny Darrell



DO YOU wonder just which particular weapon I am telling you about now? For Love employs so many different ones that it's hard sometimes to know just which is which. Now, it's not the pointed love-darts that I mean, but the bright gleam of a pair of eyes. These are in very truth Love's most deadly weapons. For who can resist their lure?

Whether they're brown or blue or hazel or all the other colors in between, they are first and foremost Love's weapons. Two of them in every lovely face! And what chance has a poor man when he receives the full battery of a pair of the loveliest eyes he has even seen? None at all—and here's the secret! He's glad, for it's by her eyes he KNOWS what her lips are too shy or too teasing to say.

Love's Embers

Absorbing Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

The Producer Is Bored With the Picnic Proceedings

"I'M afraid I'm getting old," I said, carefully following Lillian's lead. "You youngsters were certainly too swift for me," I added, turning to Mary, Marion and Junior huddled together near Mother Graham. "I followed you for a little while, then I lost you and I've been hunting you ever since. Where did you go?"

"Oh, we ran down the beach and then we climbed a dune and ran up there," Marion answered promptly. "And we beat Mary both times. We beat her back to the camp fire, too."

"And a fine time I had hunting you, too," Mary put in. "Auntie Madge, I wish I'd known you were out there, too. It was positively spooky, all by myself."

From under my eyelashes I shot a glance at Philip Veritzen, and was much relieved to see that to all appearances he was paying but little attention to the chatter about the race on the sand dunes. He was listening to it, apparently, but he was looking at me, and when Mary stopped talking, he addressed me directly.

"When do these festivities of yours close?" he asked.

There was something irritating to me in both words and intonation, something subtly suggesting ennui upon the part of my employer. It was a question hard to answer when I considered that Mr. Veritzen was himself the host of the affair. Thankful indeed was I to Lillian, who forestalled my hesitant answer by an impudent challenging sally.

"Where do you get that stuff, Phil?" she demanded. "These are not Madge's festivities, any more than they are Juniors. Your memory is failing you, old timer. Better take a course before you get more forgetful with advancing age. But I'll refresh your memory and remind you that when I complained of the deadly dullness down here you offered to throw me a party, asked for suggestions, enthusiastically accepted Madge's proposal of a beach picnic and a pirate steak, and turned all the details over to Katie. You are the host, so if you want to ask any more questions, say 'my' or 'our,' not 'your.'"

The great theatrical producer is a trained actor, and his laugh in answer to Lillian's tirade was apparently hearty and spontaneous. But I surmised that he was anything but pleased at her reference to his age.

"I am properly blue-pencilled," he said. "When, then, do 'our' festivities close?"

He looked at me, but again Lillian saved me the embarrassment of an answer.

"When the moon is setting, half the party asleep and the last canine expiating his sins at the end of a rope," she told him. "And of course, as host, you would not think of deserting us beforehand. Come, old scout, be game and face the music—literally, for we're going to tune up right a way. Start 'em up, Noel. Take Junior's favorites first, for—reasons."

"Huh!" Junior exclaimed. "I know what the 'reasons' are, Aunt Lillian. You mean I'll be asleep before you finish singing. But I'm going to fool everybody tonight. I'm going to stay awake till we go home."

But the keen edge of pleasure with which I always join in this last feature of our beach picnics had been dulled for me by my conviction that my employer's attitude toward our festivities was critical and patronizing, and that in Mary's expressive parlance, he was "bored to death" at the whole affair.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

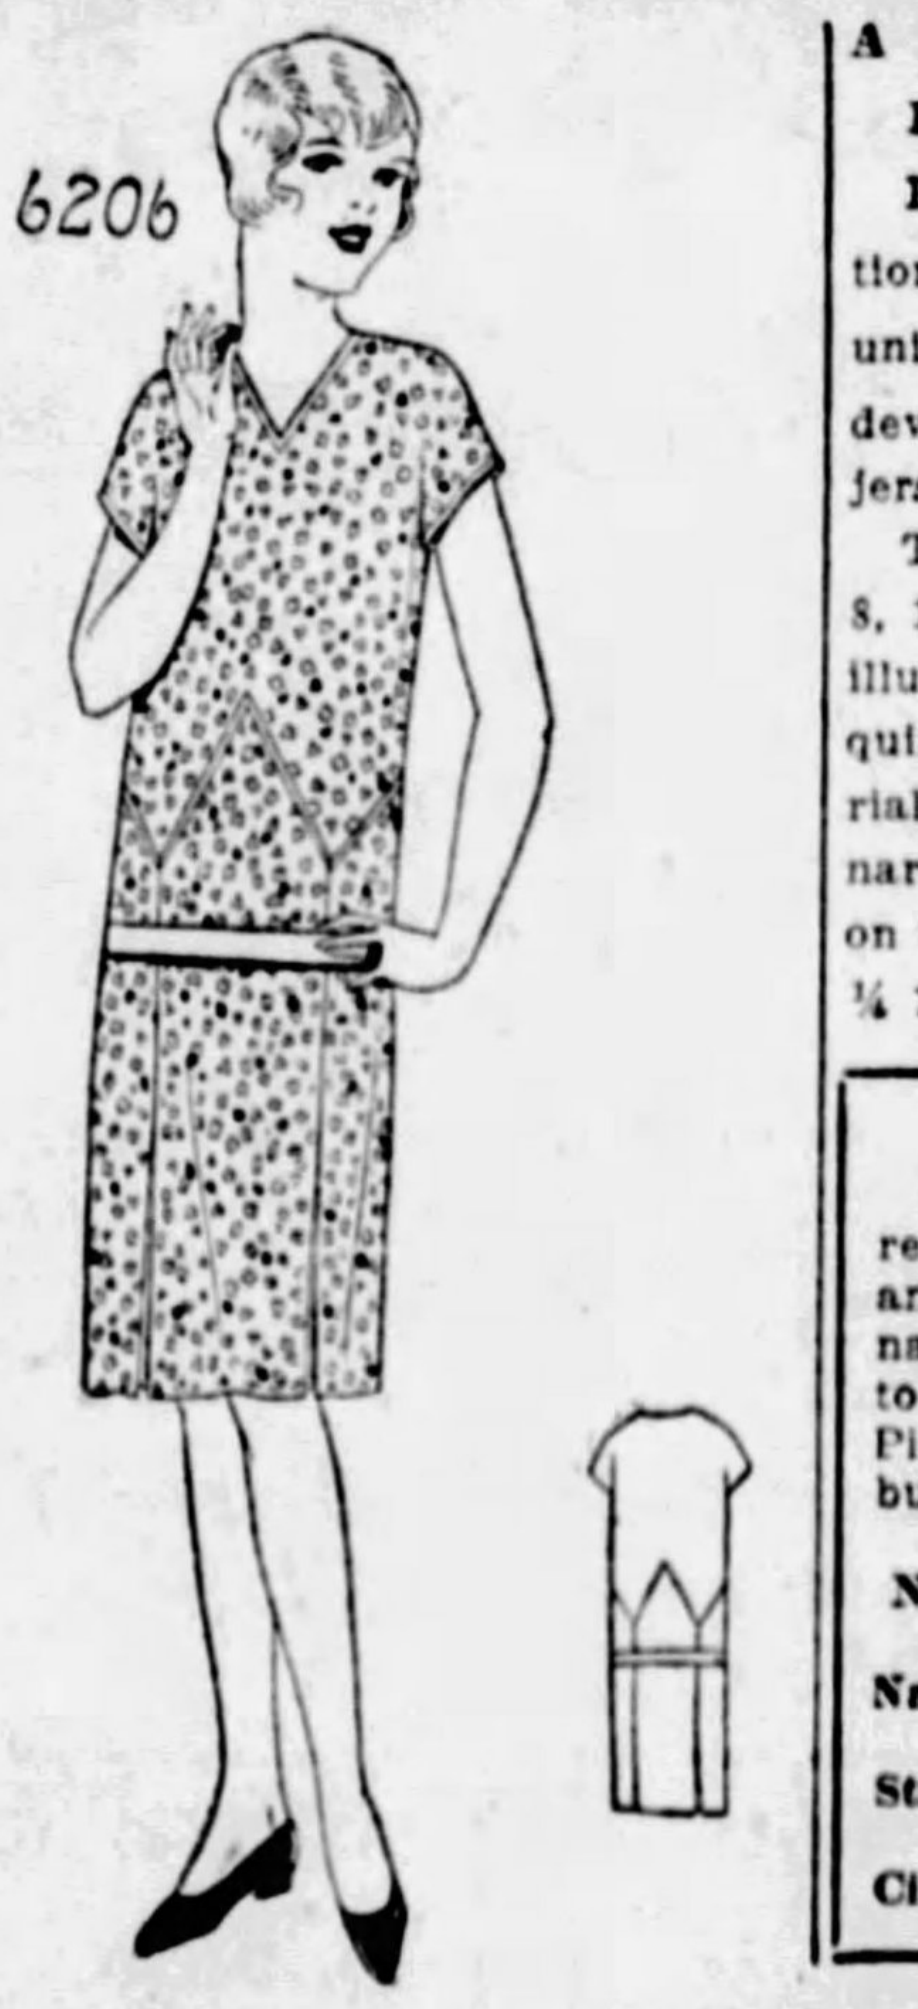
Thursday, August 16

AN intriguing as well as a day of many unusual developments in personal and also business affiliations is the presage read from very interesting and singular angles of the important planets. Although much success and expansion of affairs is foreseen both by lunar and mutual configuration, these should not be nullified by rash and tumultuous activities nor by sinister or subtle involvements. There are signs of intricacies, private as well as business.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a momentous year in personal as well as business connections. There is promise of success and prosperity, if the tendency to rash and impulsive conduct and also to sinister entanglements be held in subjection.

A child born on this day may have many excellent qualities for success and popularity and should attain fine position, but it may require excellent training in self-control and straightforwardness.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern



A VERY ATTRACTIVE FROCK FOR THE GROWING GIRL.

Printed silk in a small conventional design was chosen for this unique frock. This design will also develop attractively in shantung, jersey or crepe georgette.

The pattern is cut in four sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. If made as illustrated, a 14-year size will require 3¾ yards of 36-inch material, together with 3⅛ yards of narrow bias binding. For a facing on the belt of contrasting material, ¼ yard 27 inches wide is required.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

MEDITATIONS of a MARRIED WOMAN

"LITTLE LOVES"—AND HEARTICULTURE

HOW many women can a man love? asks the Philosopher.

"How many women ARE there? retorts the Cynic.

One hundred men and one hundred women have confessed to 1,358 loves among them, according to "cold statistics on warm emotions" recently acquired through a questionnaire.

* * *

That gives them almost seven loves apiece. Lucky lovers! Miracle workers! Prize self-deceivers.

HELEN ROWLAND

One real love in a lifetime is all that you or I or the average man and women can honestly claim. And we are highly fortunate if we can manage to hold onto that! We are seldom able to bank all our hopes on a second romance. We can't scrape together enough illusions!

Of course, there are lots of little throbs and thrills and false alarms in everybody's life that LOOK like love and would pass for "something just as good!" But one summer usually takes all the color out of these and wears off all their luster.

Every man remembers his puppy infatuation——that sweet, shy, inarticulate, glamorous thrill he felt for some little girl with extra long curls or a twinkling smile. His first unselfish emotion!

* * *

And there is his idealistic love, usually for a woman twice his age, which is one-quarter vivid admiration for her worldly wisdom and three-quarters his yearning to be mothered.

And later there comes what he fancies in his Grande Passion—his tempertuous dalliance for a chorus girl or a dazzling divorcee or a professional vamp—ANY woman, so it's the "wrong woman!"—the dizzy infatuation that makes his head whirl, and leaves him with a painful emotional hangover.

* * *

And there is his placid platonic affair with some good little pal; ALMOST love—except for the lack of passion and tenderness.

And there is his Indian summer romance! And all his other little loves; summer loves, near-loves, passing fancies. ALL loves are beautiful, while they last, and so long as you THINK they are love!

* * *

And a man's little loves are part of his emotional education, provided he does not mix them or cheapen them. The heart as well as the mind and body needs exercise or it is apt to grow flabby and sluggish. It takes a little hearticulture, now and then, to keep up the glow of life!

* * *

But when you find the One Real Love, you know at once that all the others were just little curtain raisers. And four out of five were false alarms!

* * *

Seven loves in a lifetime? Not even Don Juan could boast that many!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

by Royal S. Copeland M.D., U.S. Senator from New York

Get Out in the Open and Try Your Legs

I HEARD this the other day: "The longer man lives the less he uses his legs in walking."

DR. COPELAND

Every grown person old enough to remember the world as it was before the automobile invaded it, will recall how much more the legs were used for walking. I have in mind a town in the Middle West where all the business and professional men used to walk to the stores and offices.

Today, in that town, it is a rare thing for a man to walk to business. He warms up the flivver or calls his chauffeur. Legs are not used for walking.

It is a pity the times have changed. I do not mean it is a pity the automobile was invented. On the contrary, I rejoice in its invention. It has killed the isolation which made life so gloomy for the country folks, especially the country women. It has added to the convenience and happiness of the human family.

But it's a pity that with the new conditions walking has become so much less common. We are overlooking a health-giving practice. There is no better exercise for anybody than briskly walking. To get out in the open means fresh air, deep breathing, firm muscles, red blood and good appetite.

There are plenty of apparently healthy persons who never walk if they can help it. But where physical indolence of this sort and apparent good health are associated, it is not difficult to find a reasonable explanation for the exception.

The purpose of all exercise is to make the breathing deeper and the heart's action more rapid. These stimulated functions cleanse the blood and send it in powerful streams to every part of the body.

Once in a while you meet a person who is so full of enthusiasm and so pleasantly excited all the time over his work that the heart is pounding fast all the time. This overflowing soul needs no special exercise to keep fit. The emotions do for these rare individuals what exercise is required to do for the rest of us.

No matter what the season is, outdoor walking should be practised every day of the year. In the Winter when the snow is on the ground, in the Spring when the buds are swelling, in the cool mornings of the Summer, and in the glorious colors of Autumn, walking should be a real joy.

Most of the men and women of your acquaintance who have reached an unusual age, will be found to be walkers. They have kept fit by daily exercise of this sort. You can do no better than to follow their sensible example.

By FAY KING

RESPONSIBILITY is a firm foundation. The finest incentive in life is looking forward to something you want!

The young married man with a little family to support is spurred on to success.

The young couple who start a small inexpensive home always have the pleasure of planning and working toward something nicer.

Some young couples make themselves unhappy with debts by too pretentious a beginning.

They buy things they cannot afford because "they will last a lifetime."

One is apt to tire of the most expensive things!

Better to begin within their means. Learn to save. Each nicer thing they can afford will be a happy milestone in their progress instead of a miserable millstone of debt.

SPORT COMMENT

Elmer Jacobs and Son Pitching in Same League Do Not Set Precedent—Bartell Again Shows Value as Substitute—Bucs Nearing First Division—Risko Looks Like Winner Over Roberti.

NEW evidence that time flies is brought to the attention of baseball fans in this district by the news from the Pacific slope that a 17-year-old son of Elmer Jacobs, former Pirate flinger now starring for San Francisco in the coast league, has broken in as a hurler for Los Angeles in the same circuit in which his father is pitching sensational ball.

Tommy Leach

As the boy is only in the try-out stage, it is unlikely that coast fans will witness at any early date the unprecedented spectacle of father and son pitching against each other in a real league game, but at that it comes as a surprise to followers of the game hereabouts that Elmer Jacobs, while still a star in the minors, is the father of a son old enough to earn a trial as a slabman in the same circuit.

THE passing of Elmer from the big show does not date back very far, and to many it will appear that no great length of time has elapsed since he was doing mound work for the Pirates.

Yet 10 years have drifted by since Jacobs wore a Pirate uniform. He was obtained by the Bucs from the Phillies by waivers for the season of 1916, and on June 19, 1918, he was traded back to the Quakers for Pitcher Erskine Mayer.

THE appearance of father and son as active players in the same league is not a record. In fact, another former Pirate and his offspring have beaten it, as Tommy Leach and his son, Nelson, played not only in the same league but on the same club, as they were members of the same team in the Florida State League five years ago.

Tommy is out of baseball now, following the collapse of the Florida League this year, while Nelson is playing for the Macon (Ga.) club in the South Atlantic League.

OLD Jim O'Rourke and his son, Frank, also played in the same lineup at Hartford, Conn. The senior probably remained active in baseball longer than any other player on record, not excepting Joe McGinnity. The Whitesox present another father-and-son rarity, with Ed Walsh, Jr., pitching for the same club of which his father, a hurling star of other days, is now a coach.

IN VIEW of the old baseball wheeze that a team is no stronger than its substitutes, the Pittsburgh club has every reason for shaking hands with itself on the possession of Dick Bartell.

Dick Bartell.

There isn't a reserve player in either league who has anything on this peppery first-year youngster. He can field, throw and hit, is fast enough to meet all requirements, and on top of all those qualities he is full of fight and hustle and keeps the infield on its toes by his constant chatter.

BARTELL showed his value again yesterday, when he was a huge factor in the Pirates' 4-to-2 victory over the Robins. Many a recruit would have been rather subdued after being caught off base as Bartell was, but it only made Dick fight all the harder.

His triple that scored one run, and his success in crossing the plate himself later, gave the Bucs what eventually proved to be the winning margin, and besides he contributed some brilliant fielding that aided Carmen Hill not a little in holding the foe in check.

YESTERDAY'S triumph was the tenth in the last 12 games for the Bushmen. Not even the speeding Giants have been playing better ball than the locals during the last two weeks. The Tuesday conquest, while the Reds and Cubs were bowing to the Giants and Phils, respectively, enabled the Bellefield brigade to advance another stride toward the first division, with the result that they are now only a game and a half behind Cincinnati and fourth place, and only two games behind Chicago and the third hole. They are still six and a half box scores behind the Giants and nine behind the league leaders, but many things may happen between now and the finish.

HEAVYWEIGHT elimination series No. 26, Series Q, will be on its merry way tonight, when Johnny Risko, the Cleveland baker boy, and Roberto Roberti, the Italian dreadnaught, come together at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn.

Johnny Risko

Roberti has a fine chance to jump right into the king row by beating Risko, but his chances of doing so look decidedly slim. Both belong to the slugging school, but Risko has experience and one or two other items in his favor and ought to win decisively.

THE August drive of the Athletics, which has made the American League pennant race take on some semblance of a real fight instead of letting it continue to the finish as a one-sided farce, has been attributed to the changes made in the lineup by Manager Connie Mack, to the individual work of Foxx, Orwoll and others, and to several other factors.

FROM this distance, however, it appears that the major portion of the credit belongs to Pitcher Bob Grove. The fire-ball left-hander has been turning in some of the greatest hurling seen in either of the major loops this year, and to what he has done individually must be added the help he has given to the team by filling his mates with new fighting spirit and confidence.

WHEN Grove beat the Tigers in Philadelphia on Monday it marked his ninth victory in succession. He has not lost a game in almost seven weeks, or since June 27, when the Yankees forced him to retire and beat him, 7 to 4.

Since that date, Bob has defeated Detroit three times, Chicago and St. Louis twice each, and Washington and Boston

16 TEAMS IN QUEST OF CHAMPIONSHIP

OVER well-conditioned courses at South Hills, Fox Chapel, Westmoreland and the Pittsburgh Field Club, 16 golf teams, representing 16 different clubs in the tri-state sector, began play in the Western Pennsylvania Golf Association team competition. Four teams will be in action over each course, with 18 holes of match play, individual, scheduled for the morning and 18-hole foursome duelling in the afternoon.

The teams enrolled in the tourney, which will be concluded at a date to be announced later with the winning four teams today playing for the championship, are:

Pittsburgh Field Club, Highland, Castle Shannon, Valley Heights, Hannastown, Westmoreland, Edgewood, Allegheny, Greensburg, South Hills, Shannopin, Fox Chapel, St. Clair, Oakmont, Alcoma and Stanton Heights.

One point will be awarded for a win, with split points for ties. Oakmont and Stanton Heights ruled as favorites as the play got under way this morning. Both teams were among the four to tee off at Fox Chapel.

Today's schedule, with the sites and personnel of the teams who have turned in lineups prior to teeing off time follow:

FOX CHAPEL

St. Clair—S. B. Ralston, Tom Canon, F. R. Walker, H. G. Farmer, J. S. Haller, W. B. Parker, Dr. J. H. Young, H. F. Brubaker, J. G. McNeely, B. H. Canon.

JACK BRITTON VICTOR IN COMEBACK BATTLE

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Jack Britton, veteran of many ring wars, showed that he still is an able battler by decisively outpointing Tony Vaccarelli, of New York, in a 10-round bout here last night. The former welterweight champion handed the Harlem Italian a neat drubbing in almost every round.

Jack Jacobs, son of Elmer Jacobs, former Pirate and Cub righthander, is receiving a trial with the Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League. His dad, who at one time hurled for the Angels, is now a member of the San Francisco staff. The youngster is said to have much of his father's cunning and mound craft and almost as good a curve.

"MY PERFECT FIGHT"

GENE TUNNEY

TOM HEENEY

GENE TUNNEY'S OWN STORY OF HIS FAREWELL RING APPEARANCE AGAINST TOM HEENEY.

by Gene Tunney
RETIRED HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION.

CHAPTER XI.—Conclusion.

MY MATCH with Tom Heeney, the last ring battle in which I shall ever be engaged, was the greatest I have ever fought. Looking back over it, I have only the regret that I was not furnished on that night with more strenuous opposition. I feel that if I had been I would have risen to heights such as I never before attained.

Under the circumstances, there was nothing that I could have done to better the performance. As it was, I believe that the match I fought was technically and actually perfect. When it was over I felt as if I could have done better had the necessity been there.

Not once in the entire engagement was I in the slightest danger. Never did I draw a full breath. It seemed to me as the rounds wore on that I was back in training on the shores of Lake Pleasant, preparing for a great effort that was to come later. It did not seem as if Heeney were the man threatening to lift the heavyweight crown from my head.

ALWAYS IN COMMAND

Mentally I was at ease every moment of the engagement, unperturbed and calm. I was able to think, as I went along, of everything that should be done next. I could tell just what Heeney planned to do. Each time I anticipated his moves he did just as I expected. Always the thing I had planned for just such a move worked to perfection.

In the back of my mind as the match wore on and Heeney weakened steadily instead of gaining in strength and power to menace the championship was a feeling of dissatisfaction with the chance that brought me into the ring in perfect condition mentally and physically yet with no way of utilizing all the reserve I had at my command.

I feel that I am leaving the ring without having fought my greatest battle. If I had remained, to wait a year and possibly more for a contender to develop who could bring out that latent power, perhaps the ability would have deteriorated. Just now I am at the peak of my physical prowess.

At my age, 30, there is no reason why I should not be at the peak. I believe that the age of greatest physical development lies between 28 and 32. That would leave me two more years at the height of my game. I have had enough, however, of the rigors that come of boxing. It is a strenuous game, well worth the complete attention I have given it in the past 10 years. It has given me wealth, health and some measure of fame. I can step aside now with all these, leaving the same

Local Net Stars Win In Maryland

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph Staff Correspondent.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 15.—Five Pittsburghers and two residents of the district about the Steel City have forged into the round of eight in the Western Maryland men's singles titular event here. John O'Loughlin, West Penn champion; S. Jarvis Adams, Jr., G. A. Swain, Jack Lauler and Paul Sullivan are the sons of Pa Pitt to enter the quarter finals, while John Brown, dashing Connellsville and Latrobe luminary, and Bill McCabe, Coraopolis and former Penn State star, likewise crashed the bracket.

Gwynn King defending premier here was the lone outsider to ease into the last octet. King hails from Washington, D. C., and holds two legs on the Western Maryland challenge cup.

No quartet finalist was forced to extra sets yesterday to attain the frame. O'Loughlin carried too much for young Maurice Saperstein of Bridgeville, and copped 6-2, 6-1. Adams had a tough encounter with Millard Lewis, Washington youth, winning, 6-3, 7-5.

McCabe passed to round two by means of a default and added another notch at the expense of R. E. Weber, local entry 6-0, 6-4. Lauler a step ahead of the field yesterday moved on without effort when Hecker of Geneva College, failed to

GERRY WINS MARATHON

Frank Gerry, representing the Westinghouse Club, won the annual Bloomfield Board of Trade Marathon race from Bloomfield to West View park this afternoon, covering the 11½-mile stretch in one hour and 46 minutes. He finished one minute ahead of Alvin Graleski, also a member of the Westinghouse Club, who won second honors. John Nase made it a runaway for Westinghouse by finishing third in one hour and 49 minutes.

William von Keanel, representing the Twenty-first Board of Trade, led virtually from the start, but collapsed at the entrance to the park and was unable to finish. The runners completed the long grind by making two laps around the park.

CHILLY SAUCE
By CHILLY DOYLE

AMONG the many crack semi-pro clubs of the Pittsburgh district are the Jimmy Smiths and the Homewood-Brushton clubs which tangled last night in Greenfield, the young fellows headed by Greenfield Jimmy winning a fine contest, 5 to 3. Pie Traynor, captain of the Pirates, was an interested spectator and Pie was charmed by the thousands who witnessed the fine clash from all points of vantage near the new and much-needed playgrounds.

The morale of the kids who go into a huddle with Jimmy is quite remarkable. Each youngster appears to be a high-minded boy and they love the diamond pastime. Regis Leheny, the Oakland youth of so much promise who was a member of the Pirate sharpshooting division in Paso Robles, is the star firstsacker for Jimmy's club. A new baby has just arrived at the Smith home, making three in all, but the 15 boys making up the ball club all seem to be a part of the family.

THE Pirates yesterday made a step to strengthen their curtained backstopping department by purchasing Catcher John O'Connell of the Canton club of the Central League. Under the terms of the transaction the youngster will report today or tomorrow. O'Connell has caught fine ball for the Ohio team, and batting .295. The recruit is almost 6 feet tall and weighs 170 pounds. He is a right-hand batsman.

It will be quite interesting to watch the progress of the Pirates against Dazzy Vance. The last time Our Boys tackled Dazzy they didn't have much chance to dethrone him, so great was his repertoire. Dazzy's fast ball was like a blue streak and his curve was something terrible to gaze upon, especially by a batter who looked for a "swifter."

THE Waner boys are in their worst batting slump of the season. Sprout's was made more pronounced yesterday through the spectacular fielding of Statz and Bancroft who robbed him of a couple of hits. Paul may come out of his bad streak at any time, and when he does a flock of pitchers are due to get a fine shellacking.

Up to yesterday the Giants had won only one of eight fights with the Cubs in Wrigley Field. Yesterday's was an important contest for the ambitious Polo Grounders and they met the test well. The Cardinals also won, but a victory over the Braves was quite anticipated. If the Giants can prevent a loss of ground while in the West they will stand an excellent show of overtaking the Redbirds later, but the trick of holding their ground is no easy matter, inasmuch as they must meet all four of the Western clubs, who have been tough on the home soil for the Giants.

LOCAL PRINTERS VICTORS IN BOSTON TOURNEY

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 15.—Pittsburgh came from behind in the seventh inning at Russell Field, winning the game with Cleveland in the Typo championship, 6 to 4. With two men out in the seventh, Pittsburgh pushed across four runs. Three singles, a sacrifice and two Cleveland errors helped the Pittsburgh cause.

Britton, the Pittsburgh hurler, who beat Boston Sunday, was in rare form, holding the Clevelanders to six hits.

It was anybody's ball game all the way. Cleveland scored in the second and had a three-run lead in the fifth inning. In their fifth, the Typo Pirates got two back and their four runs in the seventh clinched the victory.

UNCLE ROBBIE will take the blanket off Ol' Dazmarine this afternoon in an effort to put a stop to the shenanigans of the Pirates, who have tripped up the Dodgers no less than six times in a row.

Donie Bush and the Buccos will rely on Fred Fussell to get a decision over the speed-ball king, who also has the best curve-ball in the National League—perhaps in baseball.

If Fussell is as clever as he has been in his last two starts, the Dodgers cannot hope for more than one tally. Fred has pitched as skillfully and impressively as any man in baseball in his recent exploits, but he has been frowned upon by Lady Luck.

BUCS CONFIDENT

Well, anyhow, the third game of the current series will bring together the Dazzler and the Wichita Falls southpaw. The presence of Vance upon Fogarty Knoll, however, is not going to scare the Buccos, who feel they have a pretty fair chance to "take" Vance.

Carmen Hill pitched cleverly yesterday as the Pirates made it two in a row over the Robins. Doug McWeeny attempted to go the route with Carmen of Corry, but Doug was taken out in favor of Lefty Clark. Clark checked the Pittsburgh offensive.

Hill let the Dodgers down with six hits. The enemy jumped to the front at the outset of the battle by scoring a brace of tallies on top of Pie Traynor's wide throw. The Oaklanders came back in their half with a run, Capt. Pie partly making up for his misplay by hitting in Adams with a single after two were out.

BARTELL BRILLIANT

Little Dick Bartell, subbing for the injured Glenn Wright, contributed largely to the Pittsburgh cause in the fourth when he walloped a three-bagger to right in the hit scoring Brickell with the tying tally and putting Dick at the three-quarter post with the winning marker. Hargreaves sent Dick home with the run on a fly to Bressler.

The Buccos picked up a safety run in the sixth on singles by Brickell, Hill and Adams. The home boys collected ten hits all told and had to fight all the way to make the victory secure.

SANDLOT BASEBALL

by TOM BIRKS

THE Class A title series elimination draw yesterday means that the sandlotters of the district are going to see two real games on Saturday at Graham Field, Wilkinsburg, and Braddock Field.

Both are real venues and the officers of the Greater Pittsburgh Commission did not make any mistake when they were selected.

PITTSBURGH sandlotters are naturally interested in the W. L. Reineckers from the Hill district. Jock Collette has been piloting teams around the lots for many years and this is the first time that Jock ever got into the money end of the racket. Needless to say all the Hill following will land in the Holy City on Saturday to root for Myers' and Collette's nine.

THE Reineckers have been playing sensational baseball all season in the independent ranks. The Hill nine will have to be good to beat the Dan Heeps. The Wilkinsburgers must have played wonderful baseball to eliminate the Monongahela outfit one week ago.

JACK COLLETTE intimated that Gettings probably will work the game with either Myers or McCoy behind the bat. The Heeps have quite a number of good pitchers so it is hard to say just who will work. But Graham Field is going to see the largest crowd attending a sandlot game in the Holy City this season.

THE other game at Edgar Thomson Park will bring together the W. O. W. team from McKees Rocks and the North Braddock Firemen. The Braddock boys are going to face La Boon, according to Manager Jedinak of the Rox outfit.

La Boon will have to be in form to stop that slugging outfit from the Tri-Borough League. All pitching seems to look alike to that outfit and they hit hard. W. O. W. has been going good. The club has been beating everything that came to the Rox, including the Duquesne Steelers, and Jedinak thinks Gus Otey and the boys will be in the final.

THE winning team will make the trip to Cincinnati for the final eliminations. The teams will meet one week from Saturday in the final round of the tourney. Four good clubs are left in. A team has to be good to reach the semi-finals of a tourney these days, and Saturday will see some real battles. This column is going to take a peak at the Graham Field session.

Josephson Is Beaten

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

MISS JESSIE GOULD, picked as the "dark horse" in the fight for the women's city golf championship, being played over the Schenley Park course, reached the semi-finals of the tournament this morning when she defeated Mrs. Bedell, 3 and 1.

Miss E. Lucille Bejach, the medalist in the qualifying round and the favorite to succeed Mrs. L. G. Riley as champion, had no trouble winning her match, defeating Mrs. Josephson, 7 and 6.

In the remaining two matches of the first division, Mrs. Blair defeated Miss Kelleher, 5 and 3, while Mrs. Evans triumphed over Mrs. Brown, 2 and 1.

The semi-finals will be played over the Schenley Park course tomorrow morning, with the 36-hole final match on Friday. Today's summary follows:

FIRST DIVISION

Miss Gould defeated Mrs. Bedell, 3 and 1.

Mrs. Evans defeated Mrs. Brown, 2 and 1.

Mrs. Blair defeated Miss Kelleher, 5 and 3.

Miss Bejach defeated Mrs. Josephson, 7 and 6.

SECOND DIVISION

Mrs. Stearns defeated Miss LaBarth, 3 and 1.

Mrs. Mandell defeated Miss Patton, 6 and 4.

Mrs. Caplan defeated Miss Hardesty, 7 and 5.

Mrs. Irwin defeated Miss Mace, 5 and 4.

MATCH PLAY BEGINS

BEDFORD SPRINGS, Pa., Aug. 15.—(INS.)—The first round of match play in the local amateur golf tourney started today with the 16 qualifiers in yesterday's 36-hole medal round participating. Larry Seamans, of Uniontown, was the medalist, with a snappy 78. Jack Reese, of Sunne Hanna, and H. L. Zeve, of Youngstown, O., with 78, were tied for second. Karl Kellerman followed them with 81 strokes. W. S. Welch, of Cumberland, was seventh with a score of 88. Martin Tanney, of Cumberland, was eleventh among the qualifiers, with 89.

once each, featuring the string with one two-hit game and another in which he gave up only three safeties.

FOR two seasons after Grove was bought from Baltimore for a reported price of $105,000, he failed to win more games than he lost for the Athletics. Last year he found himself and scored 20 victories against 13 defeats, and in the present campaign he probably will surpass that showing by a goodly margin, as he has won 17 engagements up to date and lost only six. If he had been as effective against the Yankees as against other clubs the Mackmen would now be pretty close to holding the pennant leadership.

Bob Grove.

FIVE of Grove's six defeats were suffered at the hands of the world champions. He has beaten them only once. His other reverse was administered by St. Louis.

Grove has won one and lost five against New York, won four and lost none against Detroit, won four and lost none against Chicago, won three and lost none against Boston, won two and lost none against Cleveland, won one and lost none against Washington, and won two and lost one against St. Louis.

MRS. PRESSLER ADVANCES

INDIAN HILL CLUB, CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Mrs. Harry Pressler, of Los Angeles, today continued an aggressive defense of her women's western golf championship by scoring par in the second round to defeat Ann Webster, of Fort Leavenworth, Kan., 4 and 2.

CADDIES TO PLAY

A number of donations are being made for the caddie championship of the Schenley Park municipal links, which is to be held under the direction of Andy Petrolia, next Monday. Useful articles of clothes, golf clubs and other prizes are to be given the victors of the various flights. Mrs. F. G. Headlee is chairman of the women's committee in charge of arrangements.

POOCH TO UMPIRE

McDONALD, Pa., Aug. 15.—Clyde (Pooch) Barnhart, Pirate outfielder, will serve as umpire at the American Legion-West Penn Power game here tonight. The game is being played for the benefit of local playgrounds and a record crowd is expected to attend.

RISKO, ROBERTI BOX TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The great man-hunt—for the man who is to fill Gene Tunney's shoes as heavyweight champion of the world—gets under way tonight. In the first of the elimination bouts that are expected to produce a new champion, Roberto Roberti of Italy meets Johnny Risko, of Cleveland, at Ebbets Field. The battle is scheduled to go 10 rounds, starting at 10 o'clock.

Although Tex Rickard is supposed to stage the elimination series for the title, his metropolitan rival, Humbert J. Fugazy, has stolen a march on the master of Madison Square Garden by taking the first battle away from him.

Risko, the pudgy ex-baker who came to the fore in the last elimination series, but only after Tom Heeney had been chosen to oppose Tunney in his last battle, apparently has every advantage over Roberti except in size.

MAYS RELEASED

CINCINNATI, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Pitcher Carl Mays has been given his unconditional release by the Cincinnati Reds. Mays came to Cincinati in 1924 from the New York Yankees, during which year he won 20 games.

THE VARSITY COLUMN

by JESS M. CARVER

RUTH WALDMAR and Dorothy Zerber, who have been ruling as girl sprint champions of the P. R. R. and practically of the entire tri-state district for quite some time, have a real rival in Elizabeth Ersik of the Pittsburgh Division of the P. R. R. Though Miss Ersik may be accounted a contender for the championships held by Ruth and Dorothy, she has yet to win a major race and does not hold either the 50 or 100-yard championships of her own division.

Elizabeth Ersik.

The reason for Miss Ersik's apparent lack of sprinting crowns may be laid to the fact that she has been running all wrong in the two years she has been in competition. Not only has she been running wrong, but she has been running in the wrong race.

Strong, powerfully though not heavily built, with real speed once she gets under way, Miss Ersik has been attempting to win honors in the 50-yard race and has yet to essay a start in the century. In her 50-yard dashes, she has been beaten by girls who could not finish within 10 yards of her at the longer

NEW SERIES MARMON

New Series 68 Five-Passenger Sedan

New Series 78 Five-Passenger Sedan

The New Series 68 and 78 are now on display in our salesroom. . . . . Straight-eight performance at six cylinder prices

AFTER you look at these two new Marmon straight-eights you, too, will think, "What more could there possibly be at this amount of money?"

Those who look for beauty will find it in these new Marmons to a greater degree, we believe, than has ever been offered in these price fields. New lines. New colors. New, more luxurious interiors. Double chromium plating of all exposed metal parts—radiator, lamps, etc., so that they retain their fine lustre without necessity of polishing.

Those who look for performance will surely discover it in abundant measure. Both of these new Marmons are straight-eights, now with even greater smoothness and flexibility. Top speed, 65 to 75 miles per hour in the "68;" 75 to 80 in the "78."

Those who look for easy riding will find this famous Marmon quality even further developed.

Those who look for small refinements and fitments will find that Marmon has them all. New instrument panel, with larger numerals, visible from the rear seat. New coincidental lock (located on instrument board) which locks both ignition and transmission in a simple turn of the key. Interiors, lamps, hardware, bumpers and all accessories in the height of good taste.

Prices—New Series 68, $1465. New Series 78, $1965. All prices f. o. b. factory. Wire wheel equipment at moderate additional cost.

Consult us regarding convenient time-payment plan. Your old car accepted as cash.

TENNIS PARLEY CALLED AS HUNTER QUITS

Headline: Babe Hits Three Triples As Crowds Jeer

BOUT OFF

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—The bout between Young Stribling, light heavyweight, and Ad Warren, former football player, set for Sept. 3, has been postponed.

May Lift Tilden Ban

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(INS.)—Following the withdrawal of Francis T. Hunter from the annual East-West tennis matches to be played at Forest Hills next Saturday, a conference of officials was to be held today to consider the advisability of issuing an invitation to William T. Tilden to enter the intersectional tournament.

Hunter, second only to Tilden in the national ranking, withdrew as a gesture of loyalty to Big Bill when the latter was not invited to participate.

Hunter said he had been informed that Schuyler Van Bloem, who is in charge of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association's affairs at present; Walter L. Pate and another official would attend the conference today. Van Bloem, however, is understood to oppose the issuance of an invitation to Tilden.

Hunter declared that Tilden was eligible to play in the matches and that he (Hunter) would not participate unless the Eastern team included the Philadelphian.

Public Links Champs To Get Trophies

By VERNON A. SWARTSFAGER.

THE first official City of Pittsburgh Trophy, a perpetual award, will be presented the local national public links team during the course of the testimonial banquet to Carl F. Kauffmann, who has been national public links champion for two successive years, and the other members of the Warren G. Harding Cup team at the Schenley Park Golf Club tomorrow night.

The trophy will be presented the team and be kept in the clubhouse on display for one year—or until another strong team comes along to deserve that honor again.

Champion Kauffmann will be presented a special trophy for permanent possession, as will Police Lieut. Samuel Graham, who brought the medal honors in the national event to Pittsburgh for the first time in its history. All of the members of the Pittsburgh team will have medals conferred upon them for their fine work.

Mayor Charles H. Kline, President of City Council James F. Malone and virtually every one of the councilmen, County Commissioners E. V. Babcock and Joseph Armstrong, Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang and a number of other distinguished public officials are expected to attend. It will mark the first time, by the way, that the city has officially recognized the local municipal golfers for their exceptionally fine play in a national tournament.

During the course of the evening's program, John Jay Burke, executive committeeman of the public links section, W. S. G. A., and city office manager for the new Allegheny county parks, will present Kauffmann with the Frederic Byers cup for permanent possession. The Byers cup is emblematic of the city championship, another honor Carl boasts, and must be won three times for permanent possession—Carl scored that victory last year, and the time is opportune for the presentation.

It is expected that more than 500 persons will attend the testimonial.

appear. Sullivan defeated Murphy of Baltimore, 6-1, 6-3, and then pushed through Fred Wagner another Baltimorean, 6-0, 6-2.

Ed Nickeson of Bridgeville, was Brown's 6-1, 6-2 victim in a free hitting third round contest. Swain had plain sailing with Nusbaum of Baltimore, Chesley of Forest Hills, and Lynn of Cumberland.

Two seeded terms the Swain-Lewis and Lauler-Sullivan combines opened the men's doubles with victories, the former downing Green and Jolliffe, 6-1, 6-1, and the latter getting more difficulty in bumping John Brown and Don Snyder, 6-3, 6-2.

In the second round of women's singles Betty Wattles driving P. A. A. girl lost a heart-breaking decision to Mrs. W. V. Winchester, of Baltimore, 6-0, 2-6, 6-4. Miriam Sullivan also a Winged Head youngster slid into the quarter finals by accounting for Harriet Noyes of Fairmont, 6-4, 6-3. Rose Straub of Johnstown outsteadied Mrs. Henry Pritchard of Washington in an interesting first round tussle, 6-2, 6-3.

BYRON BAUR ADVANCES IN W. VA. NET PLAY

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Byron Baur, defending champion, has advanced to the quarter finals of the Northwestern Pennsylvania singles tennis tournament here by defeating Abe Cohen and Charles McDonald, of Jamestown and Slippery Rock, respectively.

Baur is the only man to reach such an advanced stage. Few upsets occurred. Greenberg, Rennacker, Joe Smith, McCaskey, Dan Smith, Eschner and Bowditch surviving the day. Harold Whiting, Cleveland, moved into the second round by nosing out Karl Kern, Erie.

SCHENLEY MATINEE CLUB RACES TODAY

The Schenley Matinee Club will provide entertainment for harness racing fans at its tenth matinee meeting of the season at the Oval this afternoon. Five events are on the program and officials predict close finishes. A band concert will be given before the start of the meet. The first race is to get under way at 2 p. m.

GREENSBURG PLAYER LEAVES TO JOIN REDS

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 15.—James Ripple, hard-hitting outfielder of the Greensburg Generals, who was signed by the Cincinnati National League Club when the Reds were in Pittsburgh last week, left last night to report to Manager Jack Hendricks. Ripple's home is in Delmont, near here.

JOHNNY DUNN IN DRAW

Through a misunderstanding Dick O'Leary was given the decision over Johnny Dunn in the 10-round bout at New Castle Monday night. The official decision was a draw.

WOMEN AT ALCOMA

A one-day tournament of the Women's Western Pennsylvania Golf Association is being held at the Alcoma Country club today.

FIGHT RESULTS

At Indianapolis—Steve McDonald won on a foul over Jack Kane, 6 rounds; Jackie Reynolds and Frankie Larrabee drew, 10 rounds.

At Newark, N. J.—Vince Dundee defeated Irish Fagan, 10 rounds.

At Janesville, Wis.—Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion of the world, won on a technical knockout over Johnny O'Donnell, 8 rounds.

At Chicago—Eddie Shea defeated Kid Carter, 10 rounds; Tony Saunders defeated Al Conway, 6 rounds.

At Boston—Jimmy Maloney won by a technical knockout over Tony Fuente, 6 rounds; Jake Warren defeated Big Bill Hartwell, 10 rounds.

At New York—Jack Britton defeated Tony Vaccarelli, 10 rounds; Joey Kaufman defeated Nat Kuwler, 10 rounds.

At Portland, Me.—Laddie Lee won on technical knockout over Jack Mulvaney, 4 rounds.

At Los Angeles—Bushy Graham defeated Charley Pinto, 10 rounds; Frankie Graham defeated Red Humphries, 8 rounds; Charley Greenburg defeated Johnny Blair, 6 rounds.

JOIE RAY WINS AT DUBLIN

DUBLIN, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Joie Ray, of the United States, won the Tallteann games marathon run from Movon to Dublin today.

Ray won easily from the South African, Steytler, with Adams of Scotland third and the native Irishmen, O'Reilly, Doyle and McKeon, filling the next three places.

Joie was up with the leaders all the way and took the lead a couple of miles from the finish. His time was 2 hours 31 minutes 24 2-5 seconds, which is more than a minute faster than that made by the Algerian, El Ouafi, in winning the Olympic Marathon for France on August 5. Ray was fifth in that event.

The little American runner is almost as well known and popular in Ireland as in the United States and his victory, which opened the athletic festival here, was very popular.

Ray's time also clipped over a minute and 10 seconds from the Olympic record set at 2:32:35 4-5 by Hannes Kolehmainen, of Finland, in 1920, and was the fastest of the four competitive marathons that have made up the former mile champion's competitive long distance career.

The cocky little American with the even, tireless stride furnished the Irish with one of the strangest comparisons in athletic history. At the last Tailteann games held here in August of 1924, Joie ran second in the 1,500-meter event to Ray Buker, of the American Olympic team. Today, in his next appearance at the games, he ran over 25 times that distance.

Harold M. Osborn, of the Illinois A. C., won the standing broad jump with a leap of 10 feet 6½ inches.

SHOOT TOMORROW

The August shoot of the West Penn Trapshooters' League will be held tomorrow at the Snodgrass Farm, near Canonsburg. All amateur gunners are invited to attend. Shooting will begin at 9 a. m. distance, if the form she has exhibited in her defeats can be taken as an indication of her ability to do the 100. She finishes a 50-yard race scarcely warmed up—with too much to spare.

I WATCHED Miss Ersik particularly in the 50-yard dash heats and final after seeing her lose in the first heat by a scant foot. She was beaten by a teammate, Vera Milcic, who is remarkably fast in getting away and has nice speed. When they finished, Miss Ersik seemed to be barely warmed up.

In the finals, it was the same. Miss Vera started fast enough and had enough strength to just outlast the onrushing Elizabeth, who did not call on her speed until she was 30 yards from the start. It is too much to loaf 20 yards out of 50 and then hope to catch up.

Both the Ersik and Milcik girls will get a chance at Ruth Waldmer in the P. R. R. regional championships at Pitcairn August 25. As they qualified for the 50, they will likely have to enter that race, though it might be much better if Miss Ersik were to run in the century and let Miss Milcic carry the burden of scoring for the Pittsburgh division in the 50.

GENE'S STORY

things for others to attain.

Certainly no cleaner match ever was staged than the last title affair. At all times there was the feeling of complete mental ease and knowledge that I need not be on the watch for sly violations of the rules. There was nothing underhanded about Tom Heeney.

The New Zealander has left on the American ring a stamp of sportsmanship and an example of courage and grit that has been good for the sport. Heeney will continue to menace the heavyweight throne for some time to come. The men who bar his way to the championship I have vacated will know that they have been in the most strenuous engagemennts before they rise higher than he. Heeney was the best of the challengers. He stands out today, despite his defeat, as the best man left in the ranks.

I will not be back in the ring to challenge the right of Heeney or any other man for the crown. It has given me all that it had to bestow, its highest honor and awards. In turn, I hope that I have added something to the greatest of sports. For the game and the men connected with it I have nothing but the kindliest feeling. May it continue along its present high plane and reach even higher standards as champions come and go!

In view of the Double Eagle being built without thought as to cost, Goodyear expected that it would have a limited sale. Contrary to all expectations, the nation has literally gone wild over these handsome big super-tires. The tremendous demand is taxing the factory's capacity at present, and no foolin' either. Come in and see the "lone" Double Eagle we've kept for display. Let us tell you the Double Eagle story, and you, too, may weaken. Other strong men have!

I warn you that Double Eagles will in all probability last as long as you keep your car.

That "Soaring Sensation"

We put Double Eagles on Mr. Fees' car one evening. Going home, over the cobblestones on West Liberty avenue, he had to get out and look under to convince himself that it was Double Eagles we had put on, not shock absorbers.

Forbes

A Few Tips on Getting On Here Offered by Forbes

By B. C. FORBES

HERE are a few home-made success hints which may not come amiss in this hot weather. Early manageability leads later to manage-ability.

THE going is best when you are on the level.

CONCENTRATE on delivering; collecting will take care of itself.

"STEP on the gas"—Only when you can see straight ahead.

LOOK to tomorrow and plan for tomorrow—But don't forget to work today.

TO REACH the heart of others, speak and act from your own.

FACE facts or you'll slip backwards.

THE man who stands still will by and by be asked to move —out.

TO rise, be on the level.

MOST people seem to be in the mood you happen to be in.

KEEP your mind bright and you won't get blue.

YOUR principles must come ahead of your interests.

THE sincere man feels at home wherever he goes.

CONSTANTLY looking back doesn't help you forward.

INDUSTRIOUSNESS leads on to fortune.

MASTERING a tough job makes the going easy later.

INTELLIGENT effort, like dropping water, will wear away the hardest obstacle.

AFTER all, you can't be happy unless you are helpful.

COUNT only on luck and you'll be counted out.

TO go over the top, aim high.

IF you don't love your work, you are likely to get the cold shoulder.

ONLY those who learn to stand on their own feet can advance.

PATTING yourself on the back is a profitless occupation.

THERE'S no virtue in being a go-getter if you are going after the wrong thing.

NOT to reflect is a reflection.

FIRST study, then study opportunities.

LET your dissatisfaction be dissatisfaction with yourself.

HOW much heart you put into your work governs how much money you will put into your pocket.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The cotton market opened very steady today at an advance of 12 to 19 points in response to higher Liverpool cables and reports of further rains in Georgia.

December contracts sold up to 18.93c on the initial demand which included trade buying and covering, but at the advance of about 40 points from the low level of Monday, extensive realizing was encountered. This checked the upturn and after the initial buyers had been supplied, prices reacted 10 to 15 points, with the market rather unsettled at the end of the first hour.

Private cables reported covering and trade calling with continental buying in the Liverpool market and larger sales of cotton cloths to India with an improved demand for yarns.

Selling became more active after the publication of the weekly weather report, which evidently made a more favorable showing than expected, and prices eased off to 18.54c for December, or 13 to 19 points net lower. There was enough buying to steady the market at this figure, however, and prices showed rallies of 10 or 15 points at midday, when the tone was steady.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

Bears Run for Cover.

Several factors combined to frighten bears into covering their short commitments in today's trading. Carloadings were favorable and the money market eased noticeably after call loans had opened at 7 per cent as against yesterday's renewal rate of 7½. Placing of Kennecott Copper on a $6 annual dividend basis, while generally expected, was, nevertheless, a bullish item and strengthened the entire copper group. Trade reports on the steel industry disclosed better conditions than many had supposed to exist and the marking up of California crude oil prices was highly encouraging to the trading element favoring the petroleum shares. Prices of Pacific Coast crudes were advanced an average of 15 cents a barrel, the first change in these grades since the turn in the industry first became noticeable many weeks ago. American Can led the industrials in the general rally and was closely followed by Steel common and General Motors. A big short interest had been built up in Motors over the past 10 days and observers were expecting a demonstration against the bears in that issue. Atlantic Refining was the favorite in the oil division while Commercial Solvents rushed up at the head of the chemical group.

Kennecott Raises Dividend.

Kennecott Copper directors today raised the dividend to $1.50 quarterly as against the previous rate of $1.25, thereby confirming rumors heard in market circles for many weeks. Kennecott's action follows that of other major copper companies in advancing dividend rates this year. Cerro de Pasco and Anaconda raised their disbursements $1 a year each, Cerro de Pasco to $5 and Anaconda to $4. General betterment in the industry and an average price level more than a full cent above last year have changed the outlook for holders of the copper shares and there is talk in the Street that still higher rates will be paid by the big companies unless some unforseen incident disrupts the industry again. The statistical position of copper is better than it has been for years and the ruinous production policy has given way to a better understanding among the big producers in the matter of keeping output somewhere near the line of indicated consumption. In addition, the formation of the Copper Export Association has smoothed out many of the difficulties formerly encountered in handling foreign business and has been the main factor in stabilizing the price abroad.

Politics and Gold.

The experience of recent months raised some interesting questions about the money market. Contrary to narrow banking expectations, gold continued to flow from the country even after the New York rediscount rate had been successively raised to 4, 4½ and 5 per cent. Ordinarily a rate in New York as high or higher than the London rate would attract gold to this center. The explanation of the failure of this expectation to be realized lies in the fact that Europe has been taking gold for political reasons irrespective of ordinary commercial influences. Since special political factors, such as the French desire to mobilize substantial gold hoards in the Bank of France, have been dominant, it seems that the Federal Reserve authorities may have been unduly solicitous of foreign considerations last summer in reducing the American rediscount rate from 4 to 3½ per cent. It took the step primarily to facilitate financial stabilization abroad and to encourage export buying of American farm products. To the extent that gold movements temporarily were ignoring strictly commercial and banking influences, and were responding to political factors, the concession last summer, which contributed to the outburst of domestic speculation, which the Reserve authorities have been seeking to curb since the beginning of this year, may have been unnecessary. Foreign nations and banks are able to ignore strictly commercial factors only with the tolerance of American bankers and investors. If it were not for the factor of new loans the net balance of payments would still be vastly in favor of the United States, which would have gained rather than lost gold in the last year.

Oil Generals in Scotland.

With three of the chief figures in the petroleum industry sojourning in Achnacarry Castle, Invernesshire, Scotland, reports of an impending consolidation have become current and oil shares are the present "bright spot" on the London Stock Exchange. The London Daily Express says that Walter C. Teagle, head of the new corporation formed to develop oil fields in the Near East, and chairman of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, arrived at the castle a few days ago to "shoot, fish and forget about oil." He was joined by Sir Henri W. Deterding, director-general of the Royal Dutch Petroleum Company, who said he had come to the castle for the same purpose as Mr. Teagle. The third arrival was Sir John Cadman, chairman of the Anglo-Persian Oil Company and a director of the Suez Canal Company. The Daily Express says that a complete secretariat and a number of other oil company officials also have arrived at the castle or in its neighborhood. The newspaper adds that all attempts to get information as to the purpose back of the meeting have met with rebuffs. Secretary Mellon slipped over to England for two days prior to his embarking for New York on the Leviathan yesterday, while J. P. Morgan has been shooting on his Scottish preserves for several weeks.

Deficit for Cont. Paper.

The report of International Paper Company and subsidiary companies for the first half of 1928 shows a deficit of $1,741,717 after preferred and common dividends of the parent company, against net revenue of $176,119 in the first half of 1927. Net revenue available for dividends was $3,073,009 an increase of $665,756. The total revenue was $11,703,281, more than the $7,071,553 reported a year ago. Dividends paid on the preferred stock of the Canadian Hydro-Electric Corporation, Ltd., were $375,000 larger, and $2,208,592 more on the preferred and common stocks of the parent company than in the first half of 1927. Surplus on June 30 was $21,153,130, a decrease of $1,310,818 compared with a year ago. A. R. Graustein, president, reported that the low earnings reflected a somewhat greater curtailment of operations than was anticipated, and do not include the undistributed portion of the earnings accruing on the common shares of New England Power Association, held by International Paper Company.

Heinz Men Optimistic.

More than 50 managers of H. J. Heinz Company sales branches are in Pittsburgh attending a convention this week and all bring optimistic reports from the sections of the country they represent. Although a presidential campaign is under way, they report that politics is having less than the usual effect on trade. While there is great interest in the campaign, business men do not see issues which have a disturbing effect. Crops in general are reported in a favorable condition and the major industries are operating at rates satisfactory at this season.

A. P. I. Oil Figures.

The daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 14,950 barrels for the week ended August 11, totaling 2,389,200 barrels, says the weekly summary of the American Petroleum Institute today. The daily average production east of California was 1,752,500 barrels, a decrease of 9,650 barrels. Daily average imports of petroleum at principal ports for the week ended August 11 totaled 171,572 barrels, compared with 299,000 barrels for the previous week, and 245,714 for the four weeks ended August 11. Daily average receipts of California oil at Atlantic and Gulf coast ports for the week ended August 11 totaled 104,714 barrels, compared with 87,286 for the previous week and 83,393 for the four weeks ended August 11.

Seminole Output Growing.

The Seminole area for 24 hours to 7 a. m., August 14, produced 297,576 barrels crude oil, against 287,011 barrels Monday. The day's gain over last Saturday's output was 68,250 barrels. Temporarily, all restrictive measures in the Little River pool of the Seminole area have been removed and as a result it is expected the daily output of this field will increase some 60,000 barrels more during the present week.

Col. Ayers on Business.

Col. Leonard P. Ayers, noted statistician and vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company, believes business during the remaining months of 1928 will probably be better than it was during the corresponding months of 1927, but that there is little reason to suppose that. The downward revisions of stock prices and brokers' loans have been completed and much evidence to indicate that there remains a glood deal more of corrective shrinkage to come. He believes also that "annual influence which tends to stiffen money rates in the fall is now well under way, and may be expected to be of increasing importance until the middle of October. After that, some easing off will probably appear, but the demands of the autumn and holiday trade are likely to prevent any important softening in interest rates until after the end of the year."

Carloadings Increase.

Loading of revenue freight for the week ending August 4 totaled 1,048,622 cars, an increase of 14,646 cars over the preceding week and also an increase of 24,584 cars over the corresponding week in 1927. Plan Educational Campaign.

Believing that the public would be interested in, and benefited by a more complete understanding of the stock fire insurance industry, the National Board of Fire Underwriters, through its committee on public relations, is planning an educational program in daily newspapers. The advertising for the first year will be confined to Ohio, Missouri, Pennsylvania and Virginia, in every daily paper in those states. Gale and Peitsch, New York and Chicago, were selected as advertising agents.

STOCKS GO UP WITH BUYING SELECTIVE

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(AP.)—Easier credit conditions and favorable trade news provided the background for a sharp advance in prices in today's stock market. Buying was rather selective in character but embraced many of the popular industrials, the rise in which was accelerated by active short covering.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent as against 7½ yesterday, and then dropped to 6½ and 6 per cent. There was no change in time money and commercial paper rates, but persistent reports were in circulation that Federal Reserve authorities were buying bills in the open market to temporarily relieve the tight money situation, which not only has restricted trading in securities but threatened the fall expansion in business.

Bullish sentiment was created by the increase in freight car loadings the optimistic tenor of the weekly steel trade reviews and the increase from $5 to $6 in the annual dividend on Kennecott Copper.

General Motors, which has been sluggish for the past fortnight, suddenly advanced nearly 6 points to 182½. Radio, which had been selling 15 to 20 points below General Motors for the greater part of the last month, crossed General Motors in price today by soaring 10 points to 182½. American Can was another active feature, climbing more than 6 points to 98½, the highest price since the 1926 stock split-up. Wright Aeronautical, Midland Steel Products preferred, Montgomery Ward, National Tea, Jewel Tea, Allied Chemical, Johns Manville, Case Threshing and Atlantic Refining all sold 4 to 6 points above yesterday's final quotations. Nearly a score others, including Packard, Studebaker, Houston Oil, Allied Chemical and International Nickel, sold 3 or more points higher.

Rails were quiet. Jersey Central lost nearly all of yesterday's 11 point gain, and Colorado and Southern sagged 2 points to a new 1928 low at 105. Trading in the rails was restricted by the uncertainty regarding the outcome of the wage dispute on western roads.

ROUND TABLE of BUSINESS

Sheet-Making End of Steel Industry Looking Better—Prices Raised by Youngstown Concern. Discount Rate Changed.

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

HIGHER prices for sheets are adding to the improved outlook for the steel business. Producers are making a concerted effort toward establishing their industry on a profitable basis. Shipments of sheets have been in good volume but prices have been made unreasonably low by severe competition.

THE Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company and the Inland Steel Company have announced an advance of $2 a ton in the price of black, blue annealed and galvanized sheets for fourth quarter delivery. The American Sheet and Tin Plate Company has not made any announcement of prices, but it is expected to follow the advance.

ANOTHER development which will affect a large saving for the sheet and strip makers will be the change in discounts allowed for payment within 10 days. Beginning October 1, the discount will be ½ per cent instead of 2 per cent as at present.

THE American Rolling Mill Company and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company have announced the new discounts. American Sheet and Tin Plate Company and other producers are expected to follow this week.

THE new discounts will save millions of dollars for the sheet industry. It has been estimated that the American Rolling Mill Company alone will save $750,000 a year. Makers of tin plates are expected to place the new discount into effect on January 1, when present contracts will expire. Producers of wire and nails may also use the smaller discount.

LOSING AUTO BUSINESS

FOR several years the strip steel makers have been taking much of the automobile business away from the sheet makers, but there is now a trend back towards sheets. Strips were found cheaper and easier to handle in the production of fenders and similar parts. Several automobile makers have started making the entire fender, including the part running down to the frame of the car and the sill for the hood, from one piece. This saves several welding operations. Material 36 or more inches in width is needed for this, which is beyond the limits of virtually all of the strip mills.

THE operators of wide strip mills still are having difficulties with production. Two years ago these mills threatened to usurp a large part of the sheet business by making it possible to roll strips from 30 inches to 40 inches in width at a low cost. The previous maximum width of strip mills was about 20 inches. The American Rolling Mill Company has spent $2,000,000 in remodeling the Butler plant which was purchased from the Columbia Steel Company. Additional expenditures may be necessary before fully satisfactory production of all gauges can be attained. Trouble of more or less serious nature has been encountered at most of the other mills.

PATENT CONTEST

THE patent situation on wide strip mills still is unsettled. The American Rolling Mill Company, through an arrangement with the United Engineering and Foundry Company, and the outright purchase of the Columbia Steel Company, secured control of all the patent rights. Negotiations have been under way for over a year with users of the mills to establish the justice of American Rolling Mill's claims and to agree upon a royalty.

TO maintain the righ rate of production necessary for economical operation of the wide strip mills, the sale of partially finished wide strips to operators of the old hand mills may be started. Production difficulties have arisen chiefly in the rolling of lighter gauges and the special finishes. Wide strips could be sold for completion into certain types of sheets for a lower cost than the present raw material, sheet bars, is now sold.

THE volume of tin plate business this year promises to be close to the largest in the industry's history if not greater. Crop reports are favorable. Tin plate has been rushed to California to meet a shortage in cans. The salmon pack has been beyond expectations.

THE American Sheet and Tin Plate Company is operating its tin plate mills at capacity and this is also true of most of the independent producers.

PRICE MOVEMENTS NARROW AS SALES VOLUME SHRINKS

Dullness characterized the trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. Prices were practically unchanged during the forenoon session and business was restricted to a few odd-lot transactions in scattered issues.

Early trades in Lone Star Gas were at slight concessions from last night's closing level, but there was only moderate activity in the stock and the traders did not appear inclined to commit themselves to any extent one way or the other so far as Lone Star was concerned. Columbia Gas appeared on the board at 114 in the early market, down a little from the price prevailing in New York.

In the heavy manufacturing division, Blaw Knox was the only stock showing on the board during the forenoon. There has been rather steady accumulation of Blaw Knox around current levels, but the street has heard little news on the company in the past few weeks. A few small transactions in the brewing stock were recorded at unchanged quotations.

Arkansas Gas was in fair supply and receded from the opening on sales of about 1,500 shares, moving down from 2¾ to 2⅝. The other fuels were dull. Citizens Traction at 39½ was in new high ground for the year, but a subsequent sale was recorded at a fraction under that figure. Standard Sanitary was steady at 36⅞.

"An
Keeps
Away"

THE old saying isn't literally true, of course. Nevertheless apples are consumed daily, either for the pleasure of eating them or in the pursuit of health, by millions of people.

Not everyone can have an apple tree in his own back yard. Yet apples are plentiful and available the year round no farther away than the corner grocery store. For the blessing of this convenience we are indebted to the men who grow, pack and ship this popular fruit.

This week, Pittsburgh is singularly honored by the presence of apple growers, shippers and dealers from every state in the Union, and from Canada, England and France. They are here to attend the 33rd Annual Convention of the International Apple Shippers Association.

The Mellon National Bank extends a cordial welcome to the delegates, and invites them to visit the Mellon bank building. Just a half block from their headquarters, they will find it one of the finest bank buildings in the entire country. Uniformed guides will be available to delegates and their families.

Airport Site Selected; Has Many Advantages

Sincere thanks of the public is the least reward that should be accorded to the airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce for the extensive and valuable labors it performed in selecting a site for an airport which has now been recommended to the Board of County Commissioners, Mayor Kline and City Council. The report of the airport committee, unanimously approved by the executive committee of the Chamber, has been forwarded in copy to the officials mentioned.

The site selected, comprising about 400 acres, was chosen from among about 200 others which had been investigated and studied during the many months the airport committee has been at work, so it will be seen that the survey involved consideration of many angles, including accessibility as well as physical adaptability, scope and other factors.

The plot, in Lebanon Church road, a highway leading from the Hays-McKeesport boulevard in the general direction of Castle Shannon, is about eight miles from Pittsburgh. The fact that it is that far distant probably will be the cause of the first public objections to arise, but it is just as well to recognize now as later that an airport at a distance likely will be considered an advantage. It will be like a railroad terminal—something of great convenience but nothing that one would want to have right at the front door.

Considering all matters, the committee's finding as to the site favored is:

> "It has an elevation above 1,250 feet, with no surrounding obstacles, is adjacent to two large gas lines, an electric power line, a six-inch water main a mile away, railroad facilities at the property, electric railway service a mile away, relative freedom from fog and smoke, availability to downtown section without passing through congested traffic areas, ample room for automobile parking and for shops, houses and other operating facilities. Ample space is available adjacent to the site for development of aircraft manufactures."

The committee has done the city of Pittsburgh a distinctly valuable service. Let us all turn to and help it by the support of our opinion and any service we may perform in its behalf.

It is our first real step toward getting on the aerial map.

Mine Operators Have Won; Should Be Fair Victors

A canvass of coal operators results in expression of the majority to decline an invitation to attend a conference asked by President P. T. Fagan, of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, to negotiate a new wage scale. During the long struggle in the coal fields the operators have built up open shop organizations capable of caring for all the output the market demands of their workings, coal mine officials assert. They cannot see any reason for negotiating for the services of men they do not need, according to some who have expressed their sentiments about the proposed conference.

It now seems unlikely that anything will result from the overtures for peace made by the Union, and that is unfortunate. Their abandonment of the Jacksonville wage scale is virtually an unconditional surrender. More gracious victors might be satisfied with what advantage they have obtained in the conflict and let bygones be bygones, but it appears that is not to be. Which means that whatever is valuable as a result of a costly experiment (costly on both sides) appears likely to be lost eventually.

The men have learned their lesson, without doubt, but the masters have learned but little. They mistake the surface for the whole depth and are unable to see that economic factors, such as market conditions, availability of unemployed labor, and the curtailment of production that would have been necessary under any circumstances, made this, their hour of seeming triumph, possible. Reverse the conditions, and the mine operators will find themselves in trouble again.

The mine workers are in a position now where reasonable treatment on the part of their former employers would be an indication of a policy of fairness, which may be abandoned for a time, but which abandonment probably cannot be successfully maintained indefinitely. For their own good in the future, coal company officials ought to attend the conference to which they have been invited. Any fair man ought to be willing at least to listen to the proposal of another.

Against Birth Control

What Mothers Would Say.

The laws of heredity—proved, not guesswork—show that every time a child is born, it is like picking something out of a grab bag filled with thousands of ancestors on both sides.

For that reason, in a family of 20 children, one genius may appear, the others all mediocre.

That is the strongest argument against birth control. You may miss your chance, unless you have as many children as possible. In his book, "Night-Hours, or the Case Against Birth Control," Anthony M. Ludovici gives interesting facts.

The spinning jenny, invented by Thomas Arkwright, has been worth billions in money and untold labor saving. If Arkwright's mother had had only 12 children, it would have been bad for the world. Thomas was number THIRTEEN.

John Wesley was a FIFTEENTH child, Bach was number eight, greatest musician of all, according to Beethoven, who really WAS the greatest. Sir Walter Scott was a ninth child, Benjamin Franklin arrived number ten.

To all the statistics women may well answer that the sufferings and hardships of millions of mothers are NOT made good by the occasional arrival of a genius.

The MOTHERS, not the gatherers of statistics, should regulate families. And they do in the class able to hire good doctors and get the necessary instructions.

As Well Dead

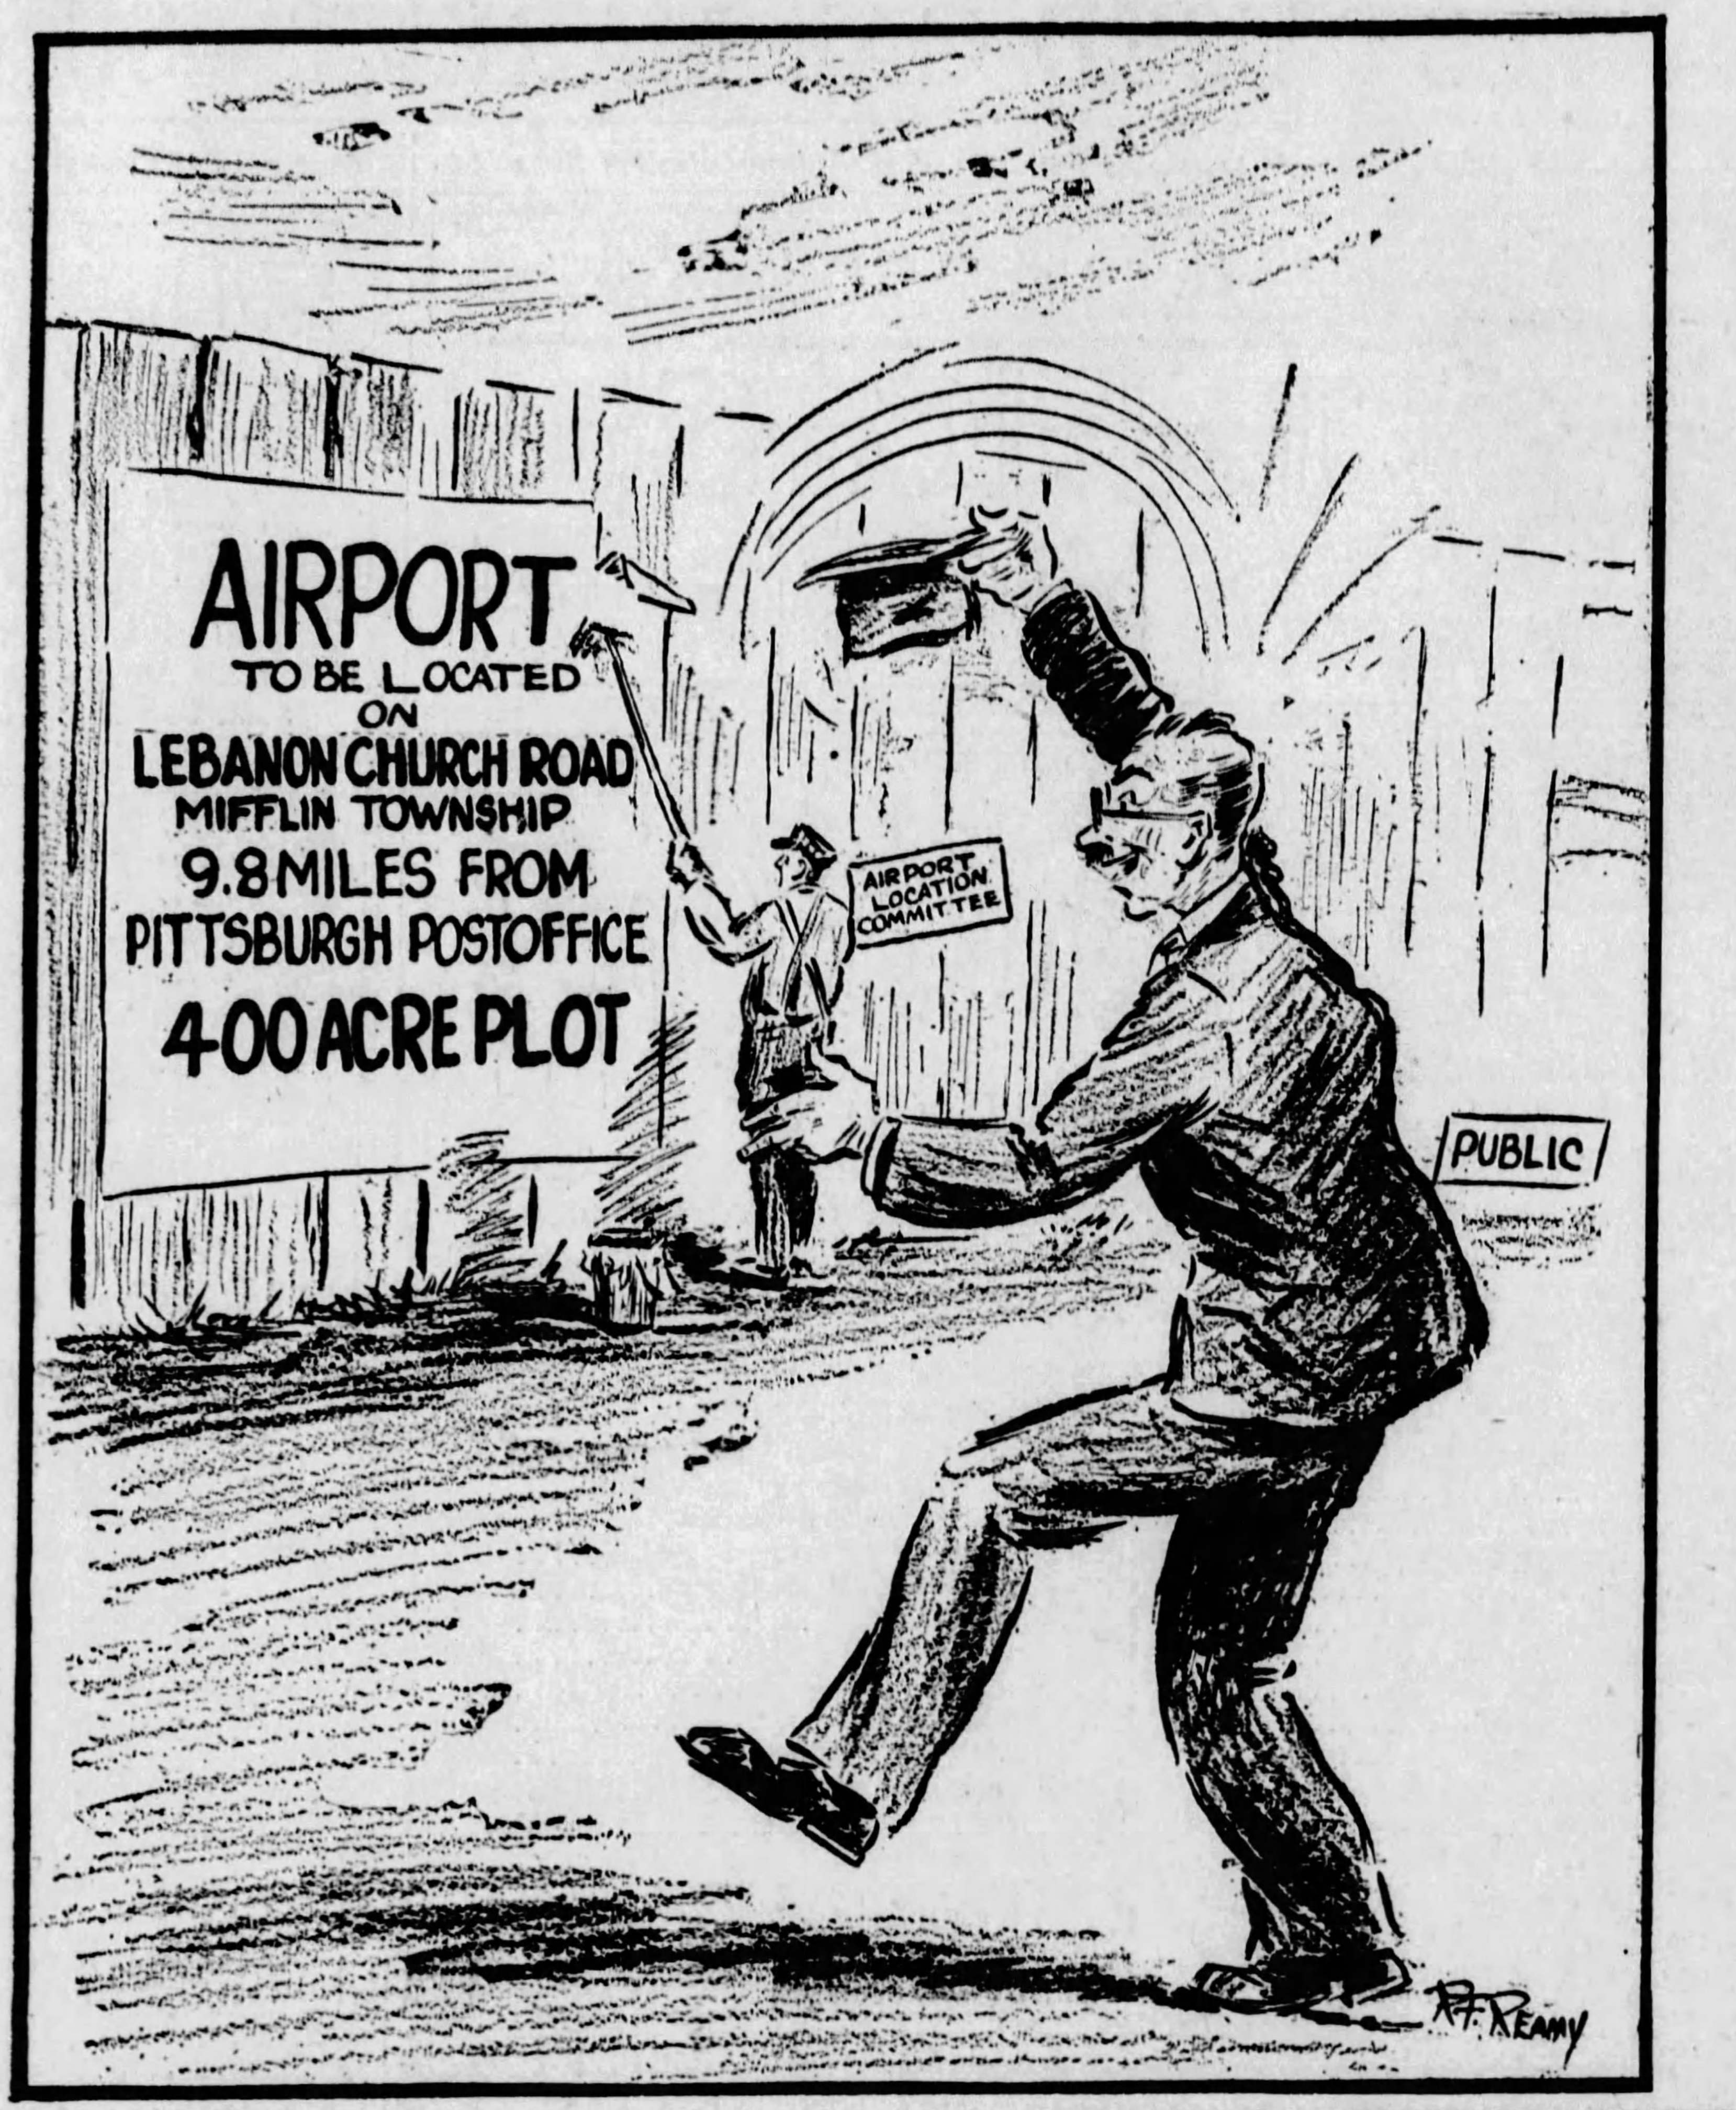
Cowardice Plus Cruelty.

Natchan Desatnick was put to death in Massachusetts for murdering his illegitimate child, Governor Fuller having refused the appeal of seven rabbis asking a commutation of sentence.

All present at the execution kept their hats on at the request of the Jewish chaplain. At an ordinary execution, removal of hats is considered a sign of respect.

The crime for which the man was executed was unusually cowardly. He had written, "I had been ashamed of my illegitimate child." That was not a good enough reason for killing the child.

AT LAST!



Garrett P. Serviss Says:

Deafness.

Is deafness becoming more common? Many think that it is. Doctors may or may not have statistics to show what the fact is; but whatever it may be, there is no doubt about the immense loss that thousands of deaf persons suffer, both in human intercourse and in communion with surrounding nature. And those who are not deaf have a much greater share than they are aware of in this loss. It is to no man's advantage in normal circumstances, that his neighbor should lack any of the already too restricted means of communication by the aid of which mankind advances its knowledge of the world amidst which its lot is cast.

This is the era of great benefactions to humanity through the establishment of gigantic institutions for the eradication of diseases, the correction of defects, the maintenance of research and the extension of the range of human control over the undeveloped forces of nature. The necessity of specialization in these things has been demonstrated over and over. It would seem that the time is at hand when a great concentration of efforts should be made to deal more systematically and more effectively than has yet been done with the problem of the prevention and cure, or alleviation of deafness.

It is hardly necessary to point out the esthetic value of the sense of hearing, not only for the individual but for the community. The development of the taste for and appreciation of good music is of the highest importance in civilization; anything that tends to turn the attention of a considerable proportion of the population away from the development of the musical arts is a matter for public regret. Some think that the vibrations of musical sounds have a beneficial effect upon dulled ears.

Every orator ought to urge a campaign against deafness—although some kinds of oratory are said to encourage that defect. An orator reduced to a mere agitated shadow on a movie screen would be a pathetic reminder of the glories of Demosthenes and Daniel Webster. The pulpit must feel the effects of the increase of deafness, if there really is such increase. Society suffers from it; the stump loses listeners, and so, perhaps, voters; the good story-tellers and the fishermen must notice a diminution in their circles—in short, there cannot but be universal sympathy with the cause of the deaf, and a great "foundation" for their relief would be everywhere popular.

Some interesting investigations have recently been made by Messrs. Knudsen and Jones on a phenomenon of deafness which is frequently noticed. This is the alleged increase of hearing power experienced by partially deaf persons in railroad trains and other places where external noises prevail. The investigators combat the generally received opinion that there is an actual increase of auditory acuity in such cases. They regard the phenomenon as simply an example of relative advantage due to the fact that most disturbing noises are of low pitch and therefore not so readily heard by impaired ears. But the person of normal hearing perceiving these sounds raises his voice to override them, while the deaf person not being aware of the background of noise, speaks in his ordinary tones and thus becomes proportionately inaudible to his acute-eared neighbor.

The necessity for a wider attack upon the subject of deafness is shown by the experience of those who try the many mechanical devices that have of late come upon the market. If they have done nothing else they have proved the great variability of the conditions of impaired hearing among the different victims of it. Those whose hearing has always been perfect have no conception of the marvelous qualities of the physical instrument that has served them so well.

Don't Neglect Your Arches

PERSONS who are constantly seeking the aid of physicians and complaining about their arches and pains are annoying to you.

You have little ailments to which you pay very little attention.

Frequent headaches, perhaps.

These message are intended to tell you that something is wrong with your mechanism.

Instead of finding out the cause you take some medicine to dull the ache and say nothing about it.

This is where you make a mistake.

Something needs attention or your head would not ache.

The thing that you are neglecting may be the very thing that will cause your death, and all you are doing about it is silencing the warning.

There are chronic grumblers, persons who allow their imaginations to run away with them, and they imagine they have the symptoms of many diseases.

You may be a person of this kind.

But to learn what is the trouble and having located it, to treat the source, is a matter of wisdom.

Too many deaden the pain and die of the disease.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

The Laborer

HE stumbles early to his toil
  Before night's mists are gone,
And struggles with the stubborn soil
  Till twilight is withdrawn.

So, weary, worn and bent he goes,
  Less man, perhaps, than clod;
Yet through his heavy toil he knows
  The glowing gifts of God.

He rises with the joyous lark
  To greet dawn's palest ray,
He sees the sun's great ship embark
  Upon the deeps of day.

For him, the twilight's crescent swing,
  The whip-poor-wills lament
Unheeded, yet, who knows, these springs
  May feed his deep content?

Based on Reason

THE leader of the hatless crusade in one of our cities has written to Mussolini protesting against his ukase that the youth of Italy must wear straw hats in summer.

Laying aside the question of an American's right to take part in the government of Italy, there is physiological warrant for the straw "lid."

The part of the brain most sensitive to heat is well insulated by straw. A moist cabbage leaf would do—but it is rarely convenient.

Generally behind long established customs of dress there is a reason. The inventor of the straw hat did a great service to perspiring humanity.

Great Passages from the Bible

The Resurrection

(I. Corinthians 15; 35-55)

BUT some man will say, How are the dead raised up? and with what body do they come?

Thou fool, that which thou sowest is not quickened, except it die:

And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be, but bare grain, it may chance of wheat, or of some other grain:

But God giveth it a body as it hath pleased him, and to every seed his own body.

All flesh is not the same flesh: but there is one kind of flesh of men, another flesh of beasts, another of fishes, and another of birds.

There are also celestial bodies, and bodies terrestrial: but the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestrial is another.

There is one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars: for one star differeth from another star in glory.

So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption:

It is sown in dishonour; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power:

It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.

And so it is written, The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a quickening spirit.

Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual.

The first man is of the earth, earthy: the second man is the Lord from heaven.

As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly.

And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly.

Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.

Behold, I shew you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed,

In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.

So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory.

O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?

Tales that are Told

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THEY were having one of these murder trials in Chicago, and the guy that was accused of doing the deed had his wife swear that he come in at three o'clock that morning, so he wasn't at the murder that was done at four.

The lawyer says, "Are you sure your husband came in at three?"

"You bet I am."

"Did you see his face clearly?"

"Nope. Didn't turn on the light."

"How do you know it was your husband then?"

"Well, I know nobody that wasn't married to me would have kept still through what I was sayin' to him for the next hour. And besides, no innocent party was a-going to stand for the rolling pin I hit him on the head with, either."

No Worker

IN London this story is going the rounds: A man called on Rudyard Kipling and said to his maid:

"If Mr. Kipling is at work, please do not disturb him."

"Work!" exclaimed the maid. "He don't do no work; he only sits upstairs and scribbles and scribbles."

New York Day by Day

by O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Midsummer brings freakish electrical storm displays to Manhattan Island and instead of a populace hiding under beds or sitting on feather pillows they stand at windows with an admiring "Ah!" Nobody seems fearful of the flash of lightning and crash of thunder.

As I write, a bright sunny morning was followed by a sudden pall of darkness and streaks of fire began playing tag with the surrounding skyscrapers. The illumination shows a press of faces at every window to watch the heavenly pyrotechnics.

There is something buoyant here about a cyclonic storm that sweeps so suddenly in from sea. It clears the atmosphere as refreshingly as the clean patter of rain that follows. The sun pops out in sudden splendor and the whole island has the headiness of a rare glass of wine.

It has always struck me New York acquires a storm jag. After it is all over, there is a cheerfulness and vivacity. The pedestrian's step is lighter. Teamsters indulge a roguish familiarity. The traffic cop unbends and clerks are more ingratiating.

There are many people who, at the approach of a storm, race in their motors to Inspiration Point, a beautiful upward sweep of Riverside Drive. Across in the Jersey Hills the lightning disports with a levity, revealing flashes of the stately Palisades cowled in misty purple.

Then there is the glint of fire on the craft in the Hudson. Sailboats and canoeists seeking harbor. The river ripples with a joyous activity in a storm and in the stretch of apartment houses along the drive there are thousands of Ajaxes clotted at windows to enjoy the spectacle.

Coogan's Bluff in Harlem also offers a gorgeous view of a storm. In the skyscraper areas it is marvelous how lightning seems to play hide and seek around the topless towers. It has none of the fright of the sudden bolt. Its manner is kittenish.

And with a half dozen student suicides at Eastern colleges it is obvious there is something the matter somewhere. Either our colleges need a new set of professors or a new set of books. It is not natural healthy young men should lose so quickly all interest in life. Yet when one considers the hopeless drivel written by some of our academic gentlemen in the magazines it is little wonder youth is becoming so mentally tangled and discouraged.

For some time many writers, including myself, have been harping the younger generation is not so wild as pictured. Yet this morning in dropping a friend at an upper Park avenue apartment house he insisted I run in a moment. It was 9:30 o'clock, and two girls, not more than 18, and a young man of about 21, were on their second round of cocktails before breakfast. Fun is fun, but young folk should wait until noon. Drinking before breakfast might stunt their growth.

The need for ordinary politeness is great among New York's motorcycle cops. Their attitude is snarling and impudent—another instance of the mistake in giving authority to those not capable of grasping its meaning. And to those who hoot, "What did you get a ticket for?"—I didn't.

Several New York doctors are discussing cradle-rocking pro and con—a great deal I suspect is con. They say the custom is not only unhealthful but in cases dangerous. Some mighty illustrious men and women, however, have survived it. But it does seem a few of us act as though we might have been rocked silly.

The Forestry Research Bill

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

Henry S. Graves, of the Yale school of forestry, says that the passage of the McSweeney-McNary bill is of unusual significance.

Mr. Jackson, the state forester of Kentucky, says that the United States now will have the most comprehensive forestry research legislation ever enacted.

We cannot go on spending vast sums of money running up to the billions of dollars unless we base our actions on facts, instead of guesses and hopes, says Franklin Moon, of the College of Forestry at Syracuse.

The bill referred to is H. R. 6091 to insure adequate supplies of timber, the full use of growing timber and the proper research through the Department of Agriculture of reforestation and similar subjects.

The Secretary of Agriculture is authorized to conduct such investigation as he may think necessary of reforestation, utilizing timber, prevention of erosion and protecting timber from fire, insects, etc. He may co-operate with institutions and private agencies in this and other countries. To accomplish this he is to be paid from the treasury not more than $250,000.

For investigations of forest insects, for forest experiment stations, etc., he is to be paid $250,000.

For determining the histories and habits of wild life he is to get $150,000.

For determining the influence of forests upon the weather he is to get $50,000.

For improving methods of management of water sheds and forest ranges, etc., he is to have $275,000.

For finding out the best way to preserve wood and for tests of wood for pulp and paper making and the like he is to have about a million dollars.

The government is to co-operate with the various states and private agencies in making a comprehensive survey of all forestry business.

The government is not only interested in conserving the forests, but in properly utilizing them.

Until we tie up forestry somehow with the profitable utilization of wood products, and until we make forestation and the proper use of timber economically go hand in hand our projects will not get us anywhere.

The government is properly taking measures to prevent this from being a denuded country.

In addition to their influence upon the weather, and to the prevention of erosion and the control of the water supply forests are valuable for many other products for use in our civilized life. How many comfortable and necessary things in everyday life come directly or indirectly from wood.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

SHE was a handsome woman and sat in the hall before the elevators. It was a somewhat gorgeous hall decorated with antique furniture. The desk in front of her was very old, a bit worm eaten, and worth a lot of money.

A man stepped out of the elevator and told the handsome woman he wished to see Mr. Blaa. She told him to wait. As he sat in one of the very old and very expensive chairs, and saw that everything seemed to be taken quite seriously, he said:

"That's a pretty desk, but it's a little bit worn or worm eaten there at the bottom."

The lady looked him over contemptuously. With her eyebrows raised considerably she told him: "Sir, that is intended to be that way. It is an antique."

The man has traveled all over the world where anybody else has traveled and to places in Cambodia where no one else has been. What he could have told Mrs. Whosis about antiques would have blown her hat in the river.

A very straight laced lady, with glasses, long skirts, long hair, and very little earthly experience, if I am any judge, walked into a cafe the other night where I was having dinner. She stood waiting to be led to a seat. Her lips were tightly compressed. Her hair was long and her skirts were long. Her backbone was a ram rod. I don't believe it ever curved. Her sleeves were long and her collar was high.

She carried a book under her arm. The old rascal was reading "The Naked Truth," and she had neglected to put a cover on it.

Peggy Joyce reads movie magazines and the Bill Board. She hasn't time for much more. She has her nails and her hair done every day. She is skinny, but the men who fall in love with her, say you don't think of curves with Peggy, you think only of hair and hands and eyes.

Fair enough.

The freshest thing that summer offers in New York is found in drug stores and its soda fountain clerks. Do they get familiar with the customers!

They greet a dignified girl with: "Good morning, Missy, you bet I'll give you the best we got. A little more? Why certainly, and how do you stand the heat?"

And this: "Certainly girlie, I'll give you two if you want 'em."

And the wonder of it is, that after that impulse to get mad, there is an amused smile that turns into a laugh of hearty approval.

The answer must be that you can't get too much good nature. Especially in hot weather.
